

AMONG THE EXCHANGES OF THE INLAND EMPIRE

Probable Identification.
It is now believed that the body floating in Big Eddy a little over a month ago and buried here, was that of Pat Kelly, who came to Antelope from Hartford, Conn., last fall, and had been working for sheepmen of that section. He mysteriously disappeared a few days before the body was found, and his continued absence has led to the belief that he lost his life by drowning in the John Day river between Clarno's ferry and the Farquhar McRae place, and his body was carried down to the Columbia.

Kelly left Antelope on the morning of the 6th of March on the Fossil stage, and went as far as Clarno's ferry on the John Day river. From there he was directed to the ranch of Farquhar McRae, to which he was going, and during the day he left the ferry for that place. He never reached the McRae ranch and since that time no trace of him has been found. The McRae ranch is down the river from the ferry, and it is thought that while on his way down, or in crossing the river, he lost his footing and was drowned.—The Dalles Chronicle.

Drowned in a Spring.
George Gettle, an aged German, yesterday fell into a spring and was drowned before assistance reached him. The facts in the case, as they were detailed to Coroner Henry, are as follows: The Gettles own a place on Rock creek, and also one in Fruitdale; yesterday Mr. Gettle and his son were at the mountain ranch, and the mother was at Hillgard. The old gentleman was at the house and the son was working about the place. The old gentleman needed some water, and taking a bucket went to the spring into which he fell in some manner. About 3 o'clock the son came to the spring for a drink and was horrified to find his father in the water. He drew the body out, and at once notified the neighbors, and the mother.

The funeral will take place at 10 o'clock from the Catholic church, Rev. Father Whyte officiating. The deceased was 72 years of age, and leaves a wife and six children.—La Grande Observer.

Banner Year for Grand Ronde.
Karl Stackland, of the Cove, is in the city today, and it certainly is an inspiration to talk to him. He lives in the hope that this is going to be the banner year for Grand Ronde valley and his reasons substantiate his claims. Being a large fruitgrower he is naturally a close observer, and he states that this year's apple tree planting, which he estimates at 40,000 trees, will bring Union county to the front and give us the reputation

Requisition for Miller.
Aftermath From Failure of Bank of Sumpter.
The affairs of the Bank of Sumpter which closed its doors last June, after operating under the management of Roy H. Miller, as president, for something like four months, are to be ventilated after a lapse of nine months, says the Baker City Herald.

Sheriff Harvey K. Brown left here Sunday morning for Salem, to secure the necessary requisition papers from Governor Chamberlain, and will go from there to Tonapah, where he expects to place Miller under arrest. For six months past Miller has been bookkeeper at Bela Kadish's sampling works at Tonapah.

The steps which are now taken are the outgrowth of indictments found by the recent grand jury of Baker county.

The Bank of Sumpter, a private institution, was established in 1899 by A. P. Goss, who had been in the business in Canyon City. Its capital was an unknown quantity, but Goss had the reputation of being wealthy and his loans and investments indicated this. But the business waned and he was for over a year, prior to last February, looking for a buyer.

Just prior to that time Miller, who was cashier of the First National bank at Sumpter, had returned from an extended trip to various points and went into the latter institution.

It was known that Miller was short in his accounts at the First National and Stoddard, who had been anxious to get in was even more so to get out. He held the whip hand and finally Scriber and others relieved him of his holdings. The odium of freaky finance had attached, however, and there were several runs made upon the First National, but Baker City parties and others came to the rescue and a collapse was avoided.

Miller, in the meantime, was skimming to cover his own shortages, which involved the city of Sumpter, of which he was treasurer. This condition was not generally known, however, until later.

Miller had known that Goss wanted to sell, in fact was becoming more anxious each day, and through the kindly offices of C. H. McCulloch and J. W. Connelley, the deal was put through, Goss taking some paper, a $1000 account, and leaving in the vault $200. Miller said that he was buying the bank for other parties, but by a system of bookkeeping that Expert C. P. Clark of Portland, has declared to be entirely Oriental ledger-keeping, that $4200 got into the First National bank.

About this time Miller disappeared. The cashier, S. H. Durran, went over to the First National and the First National's bookkeeper, Walter E. Swackhammer, was in charge. This condition prevailed for a few days and A. P. Goss was seen to be behind the counter wearing a worried look. He served but two days, and on the Monday morning following, a notice signed by C. H. McCulloch, as trustee, of being famous as the apple producing country in the United States.

He is also enthusiastic over our coming apple crop and predicts that we will have at least 100 carloads more to export than we did last season from the fact that many new orchards will greatly add to the volume of the product and that the trees are all full.—La Grande Observer.

Driving Out the Orientals.
Oriental labor has been driven out of a mill at Salmu, B. C. A party of 22 men, 10 of whom were Chinese and 12 Japanese, were taken from this city to the Kootenay shingle mill at Salmu. It was learned at Salmu that the Japanese and Chinese workmen were coming and a crowd of 200 white men were at the station when the train arrived. The whites refused to allow the Orientals to leave the depot and the newcomers took the next train to Nelson, the nearest station. The company says it requires the Orientals and cannot work without them. Another attempt will be made with the aid of the provincial police, to land the Asiatics in Salmu.—Vancouver Province.

Found a Human Skeleton.
Ted Hayes and his men found the skeleton of a human being last Wednesday while excavating for a reservoir and building a dam on one of his ranches near Lawen.

The position of the bones would indicate that it had been a grave, although no trace could be found of any clothing or a coffin. It also appeared as though the body had been placed with the head toward the east, although the bones had been somewhat disturbed by the plow. Where the skeleton was found it was fully six feet from the surface of the ground.—Burns Times-Herald.

A Very Fine Cow.
John Williamson sold one of his milk cows yesterday which will rank in the class of large cows, having tipped the beam of A. V. Oliver's scales at 1320 pounds. She was as pretty as a picture in a livestock catalogue and was stated to be a cross with the Jersey and Durham, but it is needless to say that she carried all the points of the Durham.—La Grande Observer.

Referendum Vote in Wasco.
We understand that those who have been circulating a petition in Hood River calling for an election in June, when the local option question for Wasco county can be decided, claim to have 280 signatures to their petition, while 300 is all that is necessary to call the election. It therefore looks as if the question would be brought up again.—The Dalles Chronicle.

was posted and the depositors were made aware that they were victims.

There were meetings of depositors in which outsiders and those interested in wool-pulling played a conspicuous part. In the meantime the $8 which was found on the premises, had not grown any, though, through well calculated rumors, those who had a hand in the manipulations, eased the turbulent condition by talks of dollar for dollar and certainly not less than 50 per cent to be realized by not being hasty. That was many months ago and there has been no dividends.

Through threats and cajolery, some of the holdings of Goss and his wife were wiped out, or at least claimed to have been, and it was asserted that the total liabilities would not exceed $24,000, and that the securities and realty would pay better than half of this sum.
