NEW MINING LAWS IN EFFECT.

Synopsis of Measures Passed by the Recent Legislature.

This week the laws entered by the last legislature relative to mining go into effect, reminds the Portland Daily Journal. That affecting the corporation tax is the most important in its bearing on the younger element of the industry. Remitting the corporation tax, or rather fixing an arbitrary license of $10 a year, on all companies owning properties that have not produced $1000 in the preceding year is an immense relief. Several mine owners thought the law exempted them from payment of the tax for the year just closed, but such is not the case. As the original tax has always been regarded unjust to mines not producing—in fact, to all mining property, remittance of the tax for 1904 was asked but the effort to secure any relief involved a heavy struggle, and it was feared that if more was attempted, the entire measure would fail.
The bill providing that the date of manufacture of blasting explosives be labeled on the original package will go into effect this week. Such a measure as this has never been tried in Oregon, but similar ones have been enforced by other mining states, and miners assert that they add materially to the safety of workmen underground.

After this week mining companies may be organized in this state and have a board of directors resident elsewhere. One of the most striking results of this measure has been the bringing of three or four prominent companies here already. They were operating in the state, but incorporated where their directors lived, as it was impracticable for the directors to come to this state annually to hold meetings. Such meetings may be held anywhere now, and before the year closes many companies will no doubt make this state their corporate home.
The amendment to the placer location law will go into effect within a few more days; the effect of this measure is to make placer locations conform more nearly to the law in regard to the lode locations, so far as may be in the nature of things.
These were the only measures enacted by the last legislature affecting the mining interests. None was declared an emergency measure, and all take effect 60 days from date of approval by the governor.

Mrs. E. L. Powers and daughter left this morning for Dayton, Wash., where they will join Mr. Powers, who will open a harness shop in that place. Mr. Powers intended to open a business here, but decided that Dayton was a better location, the competition being less strong than in this city.

W. E. Grace and W. J. Patterson, two well known citizens of Baker City, passed through this morning to Walla Walla. They will return to this city Saturday evening and remain over to attend the Easter services to be held at the Church of the Redeemer by Pendleton commandery, Knights Templar, Sunday afternoon at 2:30.

PORTLAND LEADS THE COAST.

Flour and Wheat Shipments Greater Than Ever Before.

In the month of March Portland exported more wheat than all the ports on the Pacific coast combined. This is shown by statistics compiled by the department of commerce and labor. The cereal sent across the sea from the Willamette river metropolis measured 381,025 bushels, against 48,869 bushels dispatched from Puget Sound and 148,537 from San Francisco.
In regard to flour shipments Portland makes almost as good a showing, is far in advance of all competitors and falls short by only a small margin of exporting more of the foodstuff than all the others combined.

The record is as follows: Portland, 104,620 barrels, valued at $381,599; Seattle and Tacoma, 88,754 barrels, valued at $330,876; and San Francisco, 50,379 barrels, valued at $211,879.
The value of the wheat and flour exported from Portland in March was $778,896; $710,940 represents the value of the same exports from San Francisco, Tacoma and Seattle. As these are the only important commodities shipped from the various ports, this city for the month named, was the shipping center of the Pacific coast.

Portland not only leads its neighbors in the matter of wheat exports, but stood at the head of the column of all the ports in the United States. New Orleans came second with a shipment of 278,240 bushels to her credit. Galveston is third on the list with a shipment of 190,094 bushels. As is usually the case, New York is at the head of the list in flour exports having dispatched 329,933 barrels. Newport News is second, Baltimore third, Philadelphia, fourth, New Orleans fifth and Portland sixth.

STRAIN TOO GREAT.

Hundreds of Pendleton People Find It So.

The hustle and worry of business men,
The hard work and stooping of workmen,
The woman's household cares,
Are too great a strain on the kidneys.
Backache, headache, sideache,
Kidney troubles, urinary troubles follow.
A Pendleton citizen tells you how to cure them all.
Charles W. Beale, expressman, living at 306 West Tustin street, corner of Aura street, and well known to every resident of Pendleton, says: "For years past I have been troubled with kidney disorders, caused, I think by heavy lifting required by my occupation. The strain was such that I was unable to stoop or rise again without pain and effort. The kidney secretions were irregular, especially at night and caused me much annoyance. When I first heard of Doan's Kidney Pills I decided to try them and got a box at Brock & McComas' drug store. They have relieved me to a very great extent, both as to the backache and the urinary trouble, and I have the greatest confidence in them."
