BIGAMY IS CHARGED

TRAVELING MAN UNDER ARREST IN WALLOWA.

A. M. Thompson, erstwhile Implementation Drummer Is in Jail Charged With Taking a Wallowa Wife While the Husband of a Unadilla County Woman—Thompson Seems to Be Wholly Unreliable and Unscrupulous.

A. M. Thompson, who is now in the county jail at Enterprise, Wallowa county, for bigamy, is one who loved not wisely, but too many. Concerning his case the last issue of the Wallowa Democrat said:

"A. M. Thompson, a recent arrival in this county from Pendleton, was placed in the county jail yesterday in default of $1000 bonds on the charge of bigamy. About two months since, so the story runs, Thompson came to Wallowa representing a machinery firm and became acquainted with Miss Nora Holmes, of Wallowa, made love to her, and on the 9th day of May married her at the home of her brother-in-law, claiming to be a single man. But at that time he had a wife in Baker county whom he married at Pendleton in September, 1933, and who learning of his second marriage, commenced proceedings for his arrest. He was given a hearing at Wallowa on Thursday before Justice Miller, waived examination, and his bonds placed at $1000, which he has not yet given. His defense, we understand is that he believed his first wife had procured a divorce, from whom he had been separated for some months."

Thompson's first wife is a daughter of George Warburton, of Cold Springs, and the marriage is said to have taken place two years ago. At that time Thompson was canvassing among the farmers of this county in the interest of a threshing machine house, and as a spinner of fairy tales he is said to be unequalled. At the home of his subsequent wife he is said to have represented himself to be the son of the principal stockholder in the threshing company, one that is incorporated for millions, and said he was merely touring the country for the benefit of his health, but would casually take an order for a machine when offered him.

From all accounts Thompson was as unreliable as a salesman in the matrimonial line, and finally all connections were severed with him by "his father's company." Since that time Thompson has been traveling ever eastern Oregon working various schemes, and during that time he has been the cause of considerable annoyance to A. Kunkel, the implement dealer of this city, whom Thompson has claimed on numerous occasions to represent, whereas he has had no association with that gentleman, and has several times been threatened with arrest if he did not cease his misrepresentations.

On being arrested Thompson claimed to have secured a divorce from his wife here, but an investigation by the authorities failed to show any such proceeding, and he was accordingly arrested and is now being held for the coming term of circuit court in Wallowa county.

FIVE GENERATIONS LIVING.

Unusual Family Record of the Latourelles.

Henry Latourelle, of Montreal, Canada, a brother-in-law of George Darveau, owner of the Hotel St. George, arrived yesterday for a few months' visit with his relative here. The trip was planned by the two men while they were at the St. Louis fair last year. While out here for the first time, Mr. Latourelle will visit the Portland and other places of interest. At Montreal he has been manager of a department in a manufacturing plant for many years.

Mr. Latourelle enjoys the distinction of being a member of a family in which five generations are now living. They are as follows: Mrs. Henry Latourelle, aged 75 years; Mrs. Joseph L'Esperance, Sr., aged 57 years; Mrs. Louis Fleury, aged 40 years; Mrs. Julius Rock, Jr., aged 23 years; Miss Laura M. Rock, aged 2 years.

Mrs. Latourelle is the mother of 11 children, grandmother of 48, great grandmother of 28 and great great grandmother of two. The fathers of all families are now living, and a short time ago were photographed in a group.

MANY DRUNKEN INDIANS.

"Bars Are Down" Since Supreme Court Decision.

The police department report the arrest of 15 drunken Indians as the result of their first visit to the city since the decision of the supreme court has legalized the sale of liquor to the Indian holding land in his own name. The police also report that the Indians were generally drinking in the city Saturday, and a large number were ordered from the streets that were not in such a condition as to warrant their arrest.

This is the first time the Indians have generally visited the city since the decision of the supreme court has been made public. The circus was the attraction for the red men and early Saturday morning the Indians from the reservation were coming in to the city in large numbers. In the past, a few of the Indians have succeeded in securing liquor in the city, but more arrests were made by the police Saturday and yesterday than during the past year under the former conditions.—Lewiston Tribunes.

MASONS IN PORTLAND.

A Week Filled With Important Fraternal Events.

Each day of this week will be eventful in Masonry. Today the grand chapter Royal Arch Masons, and the Ancient and Accepted Scottish Rite of the southern jurisdiction are in session. Wednesday the grand lodge, A. F. & A. M., will convene for three days, says the Oregon Daily Journal.

The Scottish Rite reunion is in the cathedral at Fifteenth and Morrison streets, and the grand chapter in the Masonic temple at Thira and Alder streets.

The grand lodge, which convenes Wednesday, is made up of the delegates from the blue lodges of the state and the past grand masters. It will convene in Masonic temple, and Thursday evening, June 15, at 8 p. m., the tragedy, "The Widow's Son," with full scenery and costumes, will be given on the elaborate stage of the Scottish Rite temple.

Monday morning at 9 o'clock in the cathedral the reception to visiting brethren and candidates was held by the Scottish Rite order. Promptly thereafter the program of the twelfth semi-annual reunion began, which is to continue two days. During this period the Ineffable and Sublime degrees of Scottish Rite Masonry will be conferred on a large class of candidates, the number of which is close to half a hundred.

Barney Crowner Critically Ill—Stolen Horses Heard From.

North McKay, June 12—Joe Snyder starts today for the mountains with some of his blooded mares and colts.

The Boulevard road, from the city limits down the river, is being put in first-class condition by the application of another coating of broken stone and gravel.

Road Supervisor Yates has a gang of men widening the roadbed over the rocky point below the Oliver ranch.

The wheat in this region, with the exception of some spots in the winter sown, is looking remarkably fine and promises to be a bumper crop.

Barney Crowner's condition continues to be very critical and an operation is being delayed on that account. He is still at his father's home in Pendleton.

The best information in regard to Mr. Markeson's stolen horses is that the officers wear chase on the trail near Baker county, and were hopeful of the capture of both horses and the thieves.

Mrs. N. W. Mumford and children, who have been visiting in this vicinity the past week have returned to their home in Milton.

Fully 5000 commercial travelers were in Portland June 10—commercial travelers' day.

THE PHOTOGRAPH GRAFT.

Injustice Practiced Upon the Public by the Fair.

As a sample of the injustice of the "official photographer" at the Lewis and Clark fair, the following from the Oregon Daily Journal is a fair sample:

When Miss Mary Porter went to the fair yesterday she took with her a tripod, and with the tripod was a camera. She encountered trouble as soon as she entered the gate. A guard demanded what right she had to carry the instrument. She thought him very rude and started to hurry on, and ignore his question. He refused to be ignored, however, and stopped her.

The tripod was taken from her and left with a gate-keeper who released it when she was ready to leave the grounds. It was explained to her that the reasons for the apparent discourtesy were the orders from headquarters to prevent the introduction of cameras above a certain size.

Cameras 4 by 5 1-2 inches in dimensions will be permitted inside the grounds. Miss Porter was the first woman to be stopped by the guards and to have her camera interned.

Lewiston Will Do Things.

The Commercial club committee appointed Friday evening to provide fruits for the Idaho exhibit at the Lewis and Clark fair at Portland, met yesterday and arranged for regular shipments to be made commencing Monday morning. The first shipments will consist of Bing cherries and other fruits will be sent as the season advances.

Reports received show the peach crop in sections of the upper Snake river and on the highlands tributary to the Clearwater river, was not injured by the cold weather of the past winter and it is believed that an excellent exhibit of peaches and kindred fruits can be kept on display during the season.

The committee will also collect vegetables and other products during the summer to send to Portland.—Lewiston Tribune.
