This is a topsy-turvy world. One man is struggling for justice and another is fleeing from it. One man is saving to build a house and another is trying to sell his for less than cost. One man is spending all he can make in taking a girl to an entertainment and flowers in the hope eventually of making her his wife, while his neighbor is spending all the gold he has to get a divorce. One man escapes all the diseases flesh is heir to and gets killed on the railway. Another goes everywhere without being hurt and finally dies with the whooping cough. Such is life.—Kansas City Independent.

SHAME THAT WON'T RUB OFF.

One of the largest manufacturers of road and street machinery has actually called in its traveling salesmen and will hereafter sell machinery only by direct order, owing to the disgusting grafting methods practiced by city councils and other public bodies in purchasing supplies of this kind.

For the last three or four years, this manufacturer declares, it has been necessary to add from $200 to $500 to the list of prices of his machinery to cover illegitimate "commissions" exacted by street committees and others making purchases.

It has come to be a contest among the big manufacturers, he further says, to see who will offer the biggest "rake-off" and so he withdraws from the field in disgust and shame for the American citizens who pose as honest and respectable business men, yet who are the most disgusting parasites in society.

No other practice known to civilization is so disgusting and demoralizing as this. It causes brother to rob brother, partner to rob partner, official to rob the public and starts hundreds of decent men downward.

It is a burning disgrace on the name of the country to have it said that manufacturers of supplies for public corporations must maintain a regular "graft fund."

It is a burning disgrace on manhood for public officials who walk the streets before their fellows as honest citizens, to make a studied profession of demanding a graft for performing the public duties confided to them by their fellow citizens.

If there is one crime which demands the serious consideration of every town, city, hamlet and state, it is this disgusting crime of grafting.

A few wholesome examples should be made of polished rascals who pose as good citizens. It would have a beneficial effect.

ENCOURAGE HOME INDUSTRY.

In cities where prices are as low as in Chicago or New York, the pernicious mail order habit is nearly dead. But it exists in some Oregon cities and towns. For their benefit these timely words from the Missoulian of Missoula, Mont., are quoted:

"We confidently predict that the trade of mail order houses from the Western states will fall off at least one-half before the close of 1905.

"Sending money away for supplies that can be secured at home weakens a community, inasmuch as it decreases the money supply, and as a consequence lowers the wage reservoir, and if continued will drain it dry. The wage earner has the inherent right to spend his earnings wherever he desires, but in patronizing merchants in a distant city he does not display a great amount of wisdom.

"He is seated on the limb of a tree, ax in hand, hacking away at his natural support, from which he will eventually succeed in detaching himself.

"Help your neighbor and help yourself. Keep all the money at home you can. The more money the more enterprises, the more enterprises the more employment, the more employment the more wages, the more wages the better times, the better times the more homes and the more home owners.

"If you have a dollar to spend, spend it at home, and there will be more chances for you to get another dollar. Shut out the mail order houses, patronize the home institution and boost yourself while boosting others."

CAUSE OF POSTAL DEFICIT.

The deficit of $12,000,000 in the postal department for the fiscal year calls renewed attention to the outrageous manner in which the government is held up by the railroads in the matter of charges for the transportation of the mails, says Bryan's Commoner.

It is well known that the general public has to pay unfair prices, but the general shipping public escapes comparatively easy by the side of the government. The government pays about eight times as much, pound for pound, as the express companies pay on the same trains, and the government pays rent for the postal cars while the express companies pay nothing for the express cars. But every effort to secure fair transportation rates for the mail is effectually blocked by the railroads.

When it is remembered that the government pays the railroads upwards of $35,000,000 a year for transporting the mails the public may have a better idea of why the railroad managers take so much interest in electing congressmen and senators, and securing pliable officials in the various departments of the postal service.

The following hard-hitting editorial from the Boise Capital News strikes home in Pendleton: Boise, a city of 15,000 people, with an assurance of 50,000 when we get that trans-continental line, does not own a foot of ground for park purposes. Real estate values are constantly increasing, yet no provision has even been made to secure a plot of ground for park purposes now, while it might be done without involving great expense. If a suitable tract can not be purchased at a fair price, condemnation proceedings should be resorted to. With our mild climate, a park could be made a great attraction not only for our own people, but for visitors as well, by the growth of many trees and plants that cannot be grown at this latitude farther east.

THE WORK OF SACAJAWEA.

Richard Lloyd Jones concludes his article on "Our North Coast Empire" in Collier's for June 17 by saying: The Lewis and Clark expedition at Portland is great because of all it signifies. Let us not forget that 100 years ago Briton and Frenchman and Spaniard were hammering at our gates. In our abundance and luxury let us recount those rugged days when Indians beleaguered our wooden castles and wolves paved our cabin doors.

OSTEOPATHY.

This subject was brought into prominence recently by the crusade by the medical doctors of Kansas City against the use of headache powders. They are coal tar products, whose results are gotten through depressing the heart's action, so as to decrease the blood to the head. This frequent depression finally results in incurable heart disease, and frequently in sudden death. Medical texts assert their inability to cure, which is abundantly confirmed by experience.

MUNICIPAL CHILDREARING.

The town of Huddersfield, England, which stands in the front rank of the cities that have adopted the plan of public utilities owned and controlled by the municipal authorities, has recently taken a further step and provided for child-rearing under official direction. Realizing that a large part of the death rate among the poor was of infants under one year of age, owing to insufficient or unintelligent care and nourishment the mayor of the city offered a bonus of $4 to every child born in one of the districts that should attain the age of 12 months. This offer, which is to hold good during the term of the incumbent's mayoralty, led the local health authorities to consider whether steps could not be taken toward saving the lives of infants.

Accordingly they decided to offer a reward of one shilling to the first person who should inform the medical officer of the birth of a child within 48 hours of its occurrence. The mother is then to be visited by physicians and women health visitors, who will instruct her as to the best methods of feeding, washing and clothing the child, while in addition detailed instructions are to be prepared and printed for general distribution.

The health officers will also examine the homes of the mothers and factories and other places where women are employed, and cases where deaths of children under one year have occurred will be investigated. Furthermore, a year's experiment will be undertaken with a day nursery, where children will be cared for, and sterilized milk will be supplied for the babies.

Huddersfield is a manufacturing town, and the authorities consider that its present strength can best be preserved through maintaining its native labor. They therefore believe that if the infant mortality is reduced to a minimum a large majority of the children would grow to manhood and womanhood. The experiment is interesting.—Harper's Weekly.

At Olympia, L. L. Lusher, who assaulted and also robbed Mrs. Charlotte Northercraft near Tenino, was found guilty and sentenced to life imprisonment.
