EDITORS TO PORTLAND.
Sights So Fascinating That Schedule Is Extended.
 Portland, June 26.—Three hundred and more people, making up the National Editorial association party, are now whirling along between San Francisco and Portland. They will arrive here Tuesday morning and immediately the city will be surrendered to them unconditionally.
 Ordinarily they would have reached here this morning, but their itinerary included a number of flourishing California cities, the residents of which proceeded to make their stay in that state so congenial that they overlapped their schedule.
 The exact length of time the editors will devote to Portland is not yet known, but it is believed they will be here at least three days, as they had planned before the delay in their time schedule. They are now en route to their homes in various parts of the country, from the annual convention at Oklahoma, and are making the coast trip especially to see the exposition.

DRAWING TO CLOSE
 NO MORE SENSATIONS FOR CIRCUIT COURT.

Civil Case of Larimer vs. McElroy Being Heard Today—Demurrers of Water Users Against Claims of Peacock Milling Company Overruled—No Further Use for Jury After Today.
 A decidedly different scene has been presented at the circuit court room today from what was shown during all of last week. No longer is the air laden with fierce talk of murder and arson, and the only evidence now left of the bitter struggles that were waged last week is the fact that some of the same jurymen still sit in judgment.
 The case on trial today is that of J. E. Larimer vs. E. F. McElroy, for the recovery of wages. A counterclaim has been made by the defense and about 2500 in all is involved in the suit. Winter & Collier have appeared for the plaintiff while Judge Lowell and Dan P. Smythe have represented the defendant. It is expected that a verdict will be reached this evening.
 Immediately after the convening of court this afternoon the demurrers to the suit by the Peacock Milling company against over 300 defendants of the north end of this county were taken up and submitted to the court without argument by the attorneys. The demurrers were thereupon overruled by Judge Ellis. Attorney Will R. King, who is representing the milling company in the suit, came down this morning from Ontario to appear in the case this afternoon.
 With the Larimer-McElroy case disposed of there will be no further use for a jury this term. In fact, there is but one more case left upon the docket at present, that of the First National Bank of Walla Walla vs. D. McDaniel, and this will probably be decided tomorrow. Then unless something additional should appear the present session, which has been of unusual length, will come to a close.
