A. C. RUBY BRINGS SHIPMENT OF BLOODED HORSES

France is the Greatest Horse Raising Country on Earth — Government Encourages the Breeding of Fine Horses and the French Railroads Will Give Cheaper Rates to Pure-bred Stock—Thirty-five Percherons Now at Mr. Ruby's Stables in This City.

From Nogent, France, the center of the greatest horse district in the world and the home of the far-famed Percheron, 35 head of selected horses and mares, several of them prize winners there, have been brought to Pendleton by A. C. Ruby.

Mr. Ruby arrived home a few days ago after seven weeks of busy traveling on the continent, most of which time was spent at Nogent and in England, little time being given to sight-seeing. When he arrived here from New York one carload of his horses had already been here a whole day, having been shipped here from New York in three days and 17 hours, faster than the ordinary passenger time.

For those who are interested in horses and the scientific raising of such the following interview with Mr. Ruby concerning the methods and conditions found in France will certainly be of great interest.

According to Mr. Ruby horse raising is one of the greatest industries of the French nation and every means is employed to keep it such. The city of Nogent is the center of the horse district and from there fine animals are shipped all over the world. It is the boast of the French that their horses are sent to every civilized country on the globe.

From Cherbourg, the seaport, at which he landed, Mr. Ruby, who was accompanied on the trip by his brother from Nebraska, proceeded to Nogent, passing through Paris on the way and at that city an interpreter was secured, trading being greatly facilitated by having such. The method of purchasing horses there is said to differ greatly from the usual "horse swap" in America. There it is said to be purely a matter of figuring, the buyer and seller sitting at a table until an understanding is reached, the price always being expressed in francs instead of dollars.

The Government Helps.
"Why do American buyers go to France for fine horses and what advantages do they have there over others?" Mr. Ruby was asked.

His answer was that because they have been bred there longer than in any other country and greater care is taken to improve the stock than elsewhere. In France the horse industry is regarded as so important that the government has taken hold of it and in order to hold the reputation now established everything possible is done. For the present year it is said that 700,000 francs, or $140,000 has been devoted by the French government to the work. The plan is for the government to purchase a score or more of the very finest horses each year and these are then used for breeding purposes. As a result the main object has become the improvement of the breed and not money making.

Every colt sired by a government horse is rigidly graded and if found equal to the requirements is branded on the left side of the neck under the mane with a dollar mark. Also the requirements for the registration of pure blood animals are much more thorough in that country than in America and it is said to be impossible to have anything but a pure-bred registered.

Railroads Are Interested.
Assistance is also given by the transportation companies to breeders of fine horses in France. According to Mr. Ruby, lower rates are allowed on fine horses than on common stock in order to encourage the industry, whereas he states that one and a half fare is charged for their shipment in this country. According to him, the favors shown by the railroads there are valuable to the industry and are in making it the greatest of its kind in the world.

Aside from the 35 Percherons purchased by Mr. Ruby in France he also secured 12 others, 10 of which were English shires bought at London. Of this number one, which is now here, had just taken the second prize in the stock show. A number of the animals have been left in Nebraska for a time. From these that are here it is Mr. Ruby's intention to send a carload to Portland to be on exhibit at the fair as soon as they have recovered from the effects of their trip.

Purchased Nolf Store.
W. S. Perry, who for several years past has been employed in the Rader furniture store, and H. E. Cook, the contractor, have purchased the stationery and notion store of Frederick Nolf. The deal was agreed upon yesterday afternoon and the store is now closed while an inventory of the stock is being taken. Mr. Nolf was compelled to retire from his business owing to poor health, having suffered a serious break-down a short time ago, from which he has never fully recovered.

Returning From the Fair.
Over 50 Union and Wallowa county people returned home this morning from the Lewis and Clark exposition. They all praise the fair very highly and were delighted with the treatment they received from the fair management.

HAILEY IS CLERK

SPECIAL MEETING OF SCHOOL BOARD HELD.

Charges of Dishonesty Made Against Prof. Traver Found to Be Utterly Unfounded and Started by Enemies —New City Superintendent Will Arrive About August 1—Work of Making New Buildings Ready Will Be Rushed.

At a meeting of the school board held last evening a clerk for the ensuing year was elected, the work on the new buildings ordered hastened, and other matters attended to.

For clerk, John Hailey, Jr., who has held that position for several terms past, was re-elected, and the matter of looking up the work on the buildings was left with him. He was instructed to have the contractors rush their work so as to have the buildings all completed by August 20, so that the board may have the time between then and the opening of school in which to fit the new rooms with furniture and otherwise prepare the buildings for occupancy. It is said that but little new furniture will have to be purchased by the board, as they already have nearly enough seats for the new buildings.

All of the teachers who were employed by the board for the coming year have now signed their contracts and it is expected all will be here for the opening day.

Regarding the charges that have been circulated regarding Superintendent-elect Traver the board has made a careful examination and members state that they found the charges of dishonesty, etc., to be without foundation and were started by personal enemies of the professor. They are confident that he is an educator of great ability and in fact say that even his personal enemies admit that much. He is expected to arrive here about August 1 and will then take charge of the preparations for the opening of school and assist the board in the assigning of grades and such matters.

BUYS AURORA CRUSHER.

City Council Indorsed Action of Special Committee Last Evening.

At the adjourned meeting of the city council yesterday afternoon the purchase of an Aurora No. 2 rock crusher of Beall & Co. of Portland, was authorized by ordinance and the special committee given power to contract with that firm for the delivery of the same. The machine is to cost the sum of $1590 f. o. b. Pendleton, and is to be delivered here in August.

Considerable rivalry was encountered by the council when they came to buying the crusher, there being two companies in particular that desired to make the sale—Beall & Co., and the National Drill company. The bidding by the latter was done through A. Kunkel & Co., and a special representative of the factory was present. The latter declared that the matter was not handled in a fair and open way and that he was discriminated against by the committee.

However the suggestions of the committee were finally adopted and the ordinance was carried by a unanimous vote. The city will use its rock crusher in co-operation with the road roller which the county recently purchased of the Buffalo-Pitts Co.

"SACAJAWEA DAY."

Over 3000 Attended the Unveiling of the Monument at Lewis and Clark Fair Yesterday.

Over 3000 people attended the unveiling of the Sacajawea monument on the terrace at the head of the grand stairway at the Lewis and Clark fair yesterday afternoon.

A stand for the speakers and officers of the Sacajawea monument association was erected near the statue, which was draped and completely hidden from view with an American flag. Mrs. Eva Emery Dye acted as chairman and the exercises were highly entertaining.

Rev. Anna Shaw, president of the National Woman's Suffrage association, opened the exercises with a thrilling prayer for the betterment of womankind, after which representatives of the Redmen, Miss Susan B. Anthony, Mrs. Duniway, Mrs. Dye and Mayor Lane spoke appropriate to the occasion. Mrs. George H. Pettinger, of Portland, recited the poem "Sacajawea," by Bert Huffman, in a dramatic manner. Mrs. Snook, of Coos county, drew aside the flag and uncovered the statue and the exercises closed. President Goode said it was the chief special day of the entire exposition.

G. M. Rice to Portland.

G. M. Rice, cashier of the First National bank left this morning for Portland, where he will visit for a short time, and then join his family at the seashore. He will return to Portland in time to attend the meeting of the Washington State Bankers' association, which meets in Portland from July 20 to 22, and in whose a banquet will be given on the evening of July 22, by the Clearing House association of Portland.

INDIAN GRADUATE

ANTONIO APACHE TRAVELS FOR GREAT PAPERS.

Full Blood Apache Indian and Graduate of Cambridge University, England, Spent a Day Here, and Visited Umatilla Reservation in Company With Charles J. Ferguson—Highly Educated Man and Splendid Specimen of Manhood—Left for Portland Last Night.

Antonio Apache, a full blooded Apache Indian, born in Arizona, who was in the city yesterday, is probably one of the most remarkable members of his race in the world. He is a graduate of Cambridge University, England, and is now a traveling correspondent for the London Times and the World's Work.

He has just returned from a trip to the Orient, where he has been in the interest of the above publications, and came here for the purpose of visiting the Indian encampment on the reservation. Yesterday afternoon he drove to the camp ground on the reservation in company with C. J. Ferguson of the Pendleton Woolen mills, and was greatly interested in the Indian there. He gave as his opinion that they are superior both mentally and in their general character to most of the Indians of the West.

On returning to town last evening the Cambridge graduate Indian visited Major Lee Moorhouse and secured some of the latter's pictures to be used to illustrate his articles for the London Times. He then left on the night train for Portland, where he will visit the exposition.

Physically, Antonio Apache is a splendid specimen of his race, being big, broad shouldered and erect, with a fine, intelligent face. Those with whom he conversed while here declare him to be very much of a scholar and well informed on nearly all the subjects of the day.

He is still a young man being apparently not over 30 years of age. He was born in Apache county, Northern Arizona, and during the first part of his life lived on the reservation there, where Geronimo and Apache Kid, two of the most bloodthirsty Indians ever known, held sway, and is certainly a remarkable contrast to most of the men of his famous tribe.

FISHERIES CAR HERE.

Government's Fish Distributing Party Visits Pendleton.

One of the distributing cars of the bureau of fisheries of the department of commerce and labor is now on the side track in the O. R. & N. yard and is a very interesting affair. The car is one of six which are now being run over the United States for the purpose of distributing the fish that are propagated at the various hatcheries run by the government.

The car here is supplied from the hatchery at Clackamas and is carrying brook trout, rainbow trout, black spotted trout and land locked salmon. The fish are being distributed to applicants that have previously filed requests with the department.

None have been given out here, and the car is merely stopping here until tomorrow morning when it will be taken to La Grande and other parts of Union county from which there have been numerous applications.

The propagated fish are kept in galvanized cans with which the car is filled and they are supplied with air by means of rubber tubes, the air being pumped through the car by an engine in one end of the car.

The car is also fitted out with a kitchen and the force eat and sleep in the car. They will be here until tomorrow morning and during the afternoon and evening local sportsmen will have an opportunity to visit the car should they desire to do so.

Tax the Express Companies.

How the Oregon legislature can have overlooked the express companies in Oregon all these years is a mystery, says the Salem Journal.

They have no passes to give out to head of legislation.

They have escaped almost entirely. Business men who are readers of the Atlantic Monthly will be particularly interested in the opening article of the July number. It has to do with the relations of the express companies to the railroads and to the public. Its aim is to set forth the reasons for the widespread demand for greater publicity in the transactions of these companies. The article is written by Frank Haigh Dixon, an expert on transportation problems.

The next legislature should see to it that the pay for the privilege of doing a princely business in Oregon.

But will the people be foolish enough to leave so just and important matter to the altogether too—easily corrupted legislature.

The initiative and referendum is the only weapon by which these tax-gathering machines can be reached.

Owing to the greater height of the new O. R. & N. engines, the water tanks in the yards at La Grande are being raised four feet.
