ARE REASSURED.

Relatives and Friends of Walla Do Not Fear Foul Play or Suicide.

The whereabouts of Frank Wall on last Tuesday has been learned, and although it is not known where the missing man is now, his brother is no longer greatly worried for his safety. This morning it was learned that Wall was in Milton nearly all day Tuesday, and as a result it is no longer feared that he suicided, or has met with foul play. On the day mentioned he was seen at the depot in Milton by A. L. Knight, the wheat broker, and it is now believed that he went from that place into the Palouse country to work during the fall. According to Mr. Knight the young man was apparently greatly cast down when he saw him, and was not his usual self. The name of the young man was not then known to Mr. Knight, though the latter had seen him while he was employed on the Muir ranch near here, and while waiting at the depot at Milton he talked with him for a moment.

Last night, after having read in the East Oregonian of the mystery concerning the disappearance of Wall Mr. Knight came to the conclusion that the missing man was the fellow he had seen at Milton. Consequently, he sought Charles Wall this morning and learned that the man he had seen at the depot tallied exactly with the missing brother. On receiving the news from Mr. Knight the brother here was greatly relieved and no longer feared for the safety of his brother.

How Frank Wall came to leave here without any notice to his friends and relatives and how he came to leave his suit case at Havana, has not yet been explained.

Fine Bull.

T. G. Hatley today received a fine full blood Jersey bull for his Alfalfa farm. The animal is King Coffee's Count Jr., a 3-year-old registered Jersey No. 66121, and is a descendant of Coomassie, a Jersey cow which ranked as the finest animal of that breed in the world. The bull was purchased by Mr. Hatley of Dr. A. S. Nichols of Portland, and arrived here today.

OREGON WOOLGROWERS.

Two Pendleton Men Elected as Officers of the Association.

At the meeting of the Oregon Woolgrowers association in Portland, Douglas Belts, who has served as president very ably for the past two terms, retired, and Robert Keys, of Mitchell, was elected. K. G. Warner, of this city, was elected vice president, and J. E. Smith, also of this city, was elected a member of the executive board. The next meeting will be held in Condon. The new officers are Robert Keys, president; K. G. Warner, Pendleton, vice president; H. C. Hooper, Antelope, secretary; T. R. Hynd, Heppner; J. H. Dobbins, Joseph; J. E. Smith, Pendleton, and W. G. Ayre, Turke, members of the executive board.

After discussing the forest reserve question, the following resolution was passed:

"The Oregon Woolgrowers' association, while agreeing that the sheep-raisers should in equity pay for grazing privileges on reserves, thinks the charges for the same should be reasonable and at all events lower than the pecuniary benefit to be derived that they may be permitted to realize an immediate profit on business risks. And whereas many persons who pay for the use of more than two months benefit of little more than two months in the summer, we believe that the principle should be recognized that the charge made should be adjusted in proportion to the benefit to be derived."

Robert Keys, the newly elected president, made the following statement:

"Sheepmen of eastern Oregon lost $250,000 by not waiting for sales days this season. The Oregon Woolgrowers' association will stand by the sales day system to the last ditch. It believes in it, knows the woolgrowers will get higher and more uniform prices by waiting until bids are opened on the official days, and again exhorts all raisers to support the system, which, if followed out as intended, would have made Oregon sheepmen worth hundreds of thousands of dollars more than they are now. We hope that before many more seasons growers will be educated to the degree of patience and imbued with the amount of nerve that will enable them to stand together."

The British steamer Tottenham sailed September 14 from Portland for China, with 3,780,000 feet of Oregon pine.
