

Brains vs. Tears

MULTITUDE of MOTHERS exclaim with one voice. Give me Mr. Jane Hopkin's Boy-Proof Clothes

A big commission is never paid by the Golden Rule Store to some foreigner to come in and run our business for us. We have nothing but sympathy and tears for those who by nature lack the capacity to manage their own affairs. It is their misfortune—they can't help it.

We believe there is but one thing that will draw and hold trade, i. e. r. l. bargains. On these we rely. It makes no difference what others may advertise. We will save you money on every purchase.

Jacob Hart, a legless Chicago man, pleaded guilty to shooting and killing his wife. Hart claimed she was too intimate with other men. There was little proof to back a charge of murder, but Hart "wanted to have it off his mind," and preferred the penitentiary anyhow.

REAL ESTATE.

We have more property listed for sale than we can handle, and consequently are compelled to refuse to list property unless the price is right. We get the seller's very lowest price, as if buying for ourselves, and frequently have absolutely refused to list property at prices other firms formerly had it listed.

We have been in the county for 20 years, and moreover, have bought and sold approximately $700,000 worth of city and country property and claim to know values.

We have good wheat lands and stock ranches, but we make a specialty of city property and can, for four hours fast driving with horse and buggy, show you city property for sale.

We select our own list and sell what we choose. If you are thinking of investing you cannot afford to do so before seeing us, and whether you buy of us or not is immaterial. We will be glad to see you, and show you samples.

We are members of the Interstate Investors' Association, composed of the leading real estate firms chosen, one from each of six hundred counties throughout Western United States and Canada. We can handle property for you in these counties as well as if we were there.

STRAIN TOO GREAT.

Hundreds of Pendleton People Find It So.

The hustle and worry of business men.

The hard work and stooping of workmen.

The woman's household cares.

Are too great a strain on the kidneys.

Backache, headache, sideache, Kidney troubles, urinary troubles follow.

A Pendleton citizen tells you how to cure them all.

Charles W. Beale, expressman, living at 300 West Tustin street, corner of Aura street, and well known to every resident of Pendleton, says:

"For years past I have been troubled with kidney disorders, caused, I think by heavy lifting required by my occupation. The strain was such that I was unable to stoop or rise again without pain and effort. The kidney secretions were irregular, especially at night and caused me much annoyance. When I first heard of Doan's Kidney Pills I decided to try them and got a box at Brock & McComas' drug store. They have relieved me to a very great extent, both as to the backache and the urinary trouble, and I have the greatest confidence in them."

ORIENT BECKONS

VAST TRADE POSSIBILITIES NOW BEFORE AMERICA.

Great Seacoast of the Pacific Makes it Possible for This Country to Dominate the Entire Trade of the Orient—American Manufacturers Should Awaken to the Opportunities Before Them.

Three thousand millions of dollars! That is the arithmetical measure of the commerce of the orient says a special dispatch from Washington. Thus it is summed up by the official statistician of the government's department of statistics.

And that commerce is said to be "yet small" as compared with the world's commerce.

The population of Asia and Oceania is 850,000,000, while that of all other parts of the world combined is only about 750,000,000. Its land area is 18,000,000 square miles, while that of other parts of the world 24,000,000; yet the commerce of the orient is but a paltry $3,000,000,000, while that of other parts of the world is $19,000,000,000.

So it is seen that the average per capita commerce in the orient is $3 a year, while the average per capita for the rest of the world is $27 a year. The trouble has been lack of railroads. This lack is soon to be supplied—is being supplied.

The orient has less than one-tenth of the world's railways, though it has more than one-half the world's population and a third of its area.

It is interesting to note that the two countries in this orient which have most railways—Japan and India—have the largest increase of trade. India has about 28,000 miles of railway. Japan has about 4500 miles of railway.

The foreign commerce of China, with 400,000,000 industrious people (but no railways), has grown but $100,000,000 since 1870; that of India with 300,000,000 people, and a system of railways, has grown $258,000,000; and that of Japan, with only 45,000,000 and a system of railways, has grown $215,000,000.

And how does the United States stand to share in this commercial prize of the orient?

All the countries and islands of Asia and Oceania now import—buy from the rest of the world—about as much as the United States exports annually. Our share in that market at present is about 8 per cent.

But the United States is better situated than any other country to share in, and increase that trade.

At present the United States sells to the Orient about $100,000,000 worth of goods a year, while Europe sells $600,000,000. But the records of the past 10 years show that we are gaining much more rapidly in this trade than any other nation.

The imports from China, Japan and Australia from all European countries combined showed an increase in 1903 of but $45,000,000 as compared with 1900, while the increase in importations by those countries from the United States alone in the same period was $49,000,000, thus showing that our gain in their import trade was actually greater than the gain of all Europe combined.

Our purchases, too, from the orient have grown since 1870 from less than $32,000,000 to $190,000,000 in 1904. We take from them large quantities of raw silk, tea, hemp, jute, tin, goat skins, etc., and we send them raw and manufactured iron and steel, flour, meats and rice.

No country has the natural advantages which are possessed by the United States for securing this oriental trade, in the command which American merchants have of the Pacific ocean. Our national frontiers on the Pacific is 12,500 nautical miles, while that of the United Kingdom is 10,000, of Russia 6900, Japan 5000 and China about 3000.

In addition to this we are about beginning the construction of the isthmian canal, which, when completed, will furnish direct water communication between the orient and our producing manufacturing sections in the east and south. Cotton, iron and breadstuffs will go by this route to the orient, touching at the ports of Seattle, San Francisco and Tacoma.

By this means alone the United States would increase her oriental exports from $100,000,000 to $500,000,000 per annum.
