Sow, and look onward, upward,
Where the starry light appears—
Where, in spite of the coward's doubting
Or your own heart's trembling fears,
You shall reap in joy the harvest
You have sown today in tears.

NOT A YOSING GAME.

The Baker City Maverick reviews the municipal campaign in Pendleton, and says that the campaign for law and order has been a losing campaign here and has about fallen through. The authority quoted by Maverick is "a travelling salesman," presumably a whiskey drummer.

What more can be expected than what has already been accomplished here with mayor, councilmen and police force opposed to the law and order forces?

Public and open gambling is entirely suppressed. Sunday closing of saloons is enforced practically to the limit, few complaints having been made of clandestine Sunday opening, and rowdism in saloons and profanity and vulgarity on the streets have been reduced to a minimum, by the activity of the Law Enforcement league.

A registration of nearly 1000 voters has been occasioned by the movement, and citizens who have not registered for a city election before are now on the books. All this is worth much as wholesome results of the agitation.

The campaign for better morals has not fallen through. On the other hand, it is stronger among business men today than ever before, for they see now that the city will live and flourish without gambling and will thrive with a regulation of the saloons.

It is something for the East Oregonian to achieve this much in a year in a city that for 35 years has been completely dominated by the saloons. The campaign has made men think, and whenever sensible and honest men begin to think seriously there need be no fear for the results.

DEFENDING THE MONOPOLY.

One thousand feet of gas in 1000 feet of gas, whether measured out of a power valve or out of a parlor jet. The proposed franchise says that gas for lighting shall be charged for at the rate of $2.50 per 1000 feet and for power at the rate of $2 per 1000 feet. The quantity of gas in 1000 feet is exactly the same whether measured for power or lighting, and no amount of juggling facts and technical terms as attempted by the Tribune will change the actual fact.

The illustration of different freight rates on commodities hauled in the same car attempted by the Tribune falls flat. A mowing machine is a mowing machine and the company charges the same freight rate on all mowing machines; the gas company does not do this with gas; it says that consumers of gas for lighting shall pay $2.50 per 1000 feet while consumers of gas for power shall pay but $2 per 1000 feet.

The railroad company does not charge one rate on a mowing machine intended for use in cutting alfalfa, and another rate on a machine to cut timothy hay. The Tribune is mixed in its illustrations, just as it is mixed on every other proposition it defends.

The East Oregonian wishes to see a gas plant in Pendleton. It would be one of the very first applicants for gas for use in its incense burners, for it does not want to see a monopoly fastened upon the people as the Tribune is trying to do.

"The Tribune is no self-appointed champion of the Northwestern Gas & Electric company," it says. If it is anything in the world, this is exactly what it is, for it has championed this monopoly ever since the gas franchise was proposed, against the solid judgment of every business man who has expressed himself on the subject, outside of members of the city council, whom the Tribune hopes to shield in granting this monopolistic franchise.

The East Oregonian has given expressions from leading business men and every one is opposed to the features of the franchise as now formulated. It is a monopoly pure and simple, and will bar out any other gas company for the reason that there is not room for two in a city of this size.

The council will do the city an irreparable injury if it grants this franchise in its present form. It fixes a monopoly upon the residents of this city that will retard its growth and advancement more than any other action it could take.

The charges for lighting and fuel are vital things as they come into every home with telling effect. If they are high and there is no chance for them to be reduced, it will prevent and delay home building and home improvement, and there should be some regulation of these charges by the city, in every franchise granted.

People want gas but they want it under proper conditions. They do not want a monopoly. They do not want to be throttled beyond any hope of relief, no matter who represents or backs the company. The Tribune is working against the vital interests of the city in advocating and defending this monopolistic franchise, and the people will remember it.

There is a world of capital that would gladly establish a plant here. It is not necessary to give a monopoly to any one company in order to get gas. These things should be closely studied and more closely guarded.

HISTORIC GROUND.

Every hill, valley and stream in Umatilla county is historic.

We have become accustomed to these points of interest and the stories connected with them, but the world will yet make pilgrimages to the Umatilla to look upon the spot where were enacted some of the greatest chapters in western history.

The townsite of Pendleton and the banks of the Umatilla river from its mouth to its headwaters teem with historical interest. Here it was that the Cayuse chiefs connected with the Whitman massacre had their residence and plotted the destruction of the mission.

Stecas, Peupumoxmox, Taloukaikt, Five Crows and the other leaders of the Cayuse and Walla Walla tribes lived where the wheat fields of Umatilla county now greet the eye of the tourist.

Over these very fields Whitman hurried to and fro on his missions of mercy, while his enemies, white and red, were planning his murder.

Many a midnight trip did he make across the rolling hills between the Walla Walla river and the Umatilla to administer to the sick and dying Indians, and many a fervent prayer did this honest and devoted missionary offer for the salvation of the Indians, kneeling by the lodge fires on the Umatilla river.

Every spot is consecrated ground, in the light of history. Every field and stream is hallowed by his faithful and fearless life. He started the savages right, but his own race, the whites, have been the chief despoilers of both the morals and the wealth of the Indians.

We have taught our children the stories of King Phillip, Powhatan, Ocoila, Red Jacket and other of the great chiefs and tribes of the New England and southern coasts, but the story of Five Crows, Peupumoxmox, Taloukaikt, equal in historic interest to those of the eastern settlements, will yet be read with fascination and human interest by more and more people as the story of the west becomes known to the east.

Umatilla county will grow in historical interest as literature places its tragedies and its sacred dramas before the world.

To Burbank.

The seedless orange makes us glad,
The stoneless cherry's pleasing, too;
The grape that's all juice isn't bad.
Eut, Luther, listen, kindly do;
One long-felt want you've yet to fill,
For never may man's fondest wish
Be sweetly realized until
You triumph with the boneless fish.

Why monkey with the rose's thorn
Or bother o'er the seedless date?
Or seek to give us hussler corn?
For such small blessings we can wait!

Your greatest work must yet be done,
Since never may man's fondest wish
Be sweetly filled till you have won
Fame's laurels with a boneless fish.

All Rights Are Equal.

There is no such thing as man's rights and woman's rights separate and distinct from each other. Woman's rights are simply human rights. The sexes belong to each other; what benefits one helps the other; what elevates either uplifts both. Man is the outdoor and woman the indoor partner in the firm of humanity.—Yakima Daily Republic.

At Memphis Dan Patch paced one mile in 1:59 1-4, duplicating the world's record made some years ago by Star Pointer. The two records exactly tie.

WHAT JOY THEY BRING TO EVERY HOME

as with joyous hearts and smiling faces they romp and play—when in health—and how conducive to health the games in which they indulge, the outdoor life they enjoy, the cleanly, regular habits they should be taught to form and the wholesome diet of which they should partake. How tenderly their health should be preserved, not by constant medication, but by careful avoidance of every medicine of an injurious or objectionable nature and if at any time a remedial agent is required, to assist nature, only those of known excellence should be used; remedies which are pure and wholesome and truly beneficial in effect, like the pleasant laxative remedy, Syrup of Figs, manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. Syrup of Figs has come into general favor in many millions of well informed families, whose estimate of its quality and excellence is based upon personal knowledge and use.

Syrup of Figs has also met with the approval of physicians generally, because they know it is wholesome, simple and gentle in its action. We inform all reputable physicians as to the medicinal principles of Syrup of Figs, obtained by an original method, from certain plants known to them to act most beneficially and presented in an agreeable syrup in which the wholesome Californian blue figs are used to promote the pleasant taste; therefore it is not a secret remedy and hence we are free to refer to all well informed physicians, who do not approve of patent medicines and never favor indiscriminate self-medication.

Please to remember and teach your children also that the genuine Syrup of Figs always has the full name of the Company—California Fig Syrup Co.—plainly printed on the front of every package and that it is for sale in bottles of one size only. If any dealer offers any other than the regular Fifty cent size, or having printed thereon the name of any other company, do not accept it. If you fail to get the genuine you will not get its beneficial effects. Every family should always have a bottle on hand, as it is equally beneficial for the parents and the children, whenever a laxative remedy is required.

WHY WASHINGTON LEADS.

One reason why Washington surpasses Oregon in growth and development is the care and interest taken in the public schools, says the Coast Magazine of Seattle. At the last meeting of the Oregon legislature $100,000 was appropriated for state educational purposes and then tied up by a set of fellows who objected that it was too much money to spend on schools.

Washington spends over half a million dollars each year on normal schools alone, and today stands as the leading state in the Pacific west in the matter of maintenance and grade of educational institutions. Settlers always look first for good lands and then good homes. No good homes can be had without good schools. All things being equal as to land, the man who makes the country produce will go where he finds the good schools.

British Columbia and Idaho are working along educational lines for excellence, and they are reaping the benefit in growing population and increasing wealth. It is hoped that Oregon will remedy her error at the first opportunity and spend more for schools than ever before.

If Oregon would only support her schools as well as she does her other industries, it would keep Washington hustling to stay ahead of her.

FOR ALASKAN FAIR.

Godfrey Chealander, promoter in chief of the proposed Alaska-Yukon exposition to be held in Seattle in 1907, this afternoon wrote a letter to President McGraw of the chamber of commerce asking the chamber to appoint 12 of its members as representatives of the body on the board of directors for the exposition, says the Seattle News. The communication was presented to the chamber at its regular weekly meeting this afternoon.

The board of directors for the exposition will consist of 74 members, of which 50 will be from Alaska and the Yukon territory. Twelve members of the board will represent the Alaska club and the other 12 the chamber of commerce.

The board will hold its first meeting at the rooms of the Alaska club in this city on November 10. Already about 40 of the commissioners, representing the different districts of Alaska, have arrived in Seattle and others are expected to reach here between now and the time for the meeting.

Heavy Customs Duties.

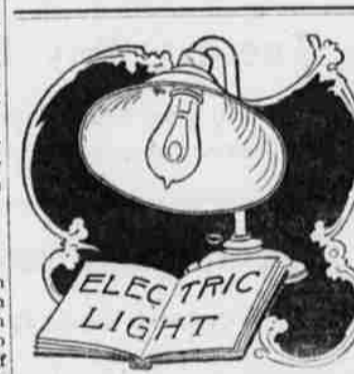

Package customs collections on the steamship Siberia, which arrived from the orient last Monday, aggregated something more than $4300, which breaks the record for federal revenue for personal effects on vessels arriving from the orient, says the San Francisco Call. Of this sum E. H. Harriman paid $2000 and Robert Goeltz, Jr., $74. The belongings of Miss Alice Roosevelt and her suite were forwarded in bond to the customs collector at Washington, D. C., so that the amount due for duty on her personal effects is not known at the San Francisco custom house.

Lesson in Physiology.

The Kansas papers tell how a school teacher was giving his pupils a lesson regarding the circulation of the blood. "If I stand on my head, by way of illustration, the blood rushes to my head doesn't it?" Nobody contradicted him. "Now," he continued, "when I stand on my feet, why doesn't the blood rush to my feet?" "Cause your feet ain't empty," answered a daring youngster.

The city of Butte is advertising a bond issue of $400,000, to carry 4 per cent.

IT DRAWS HARD

On a woman's vitality to do work for which she is unfitted, and she wonders how some of the women of our land live through a single season of pleasure or distraction.

They will say with tears in their eyes, when they mention the subject at all, "It is a hard pull," that with pain, weakness and weariness they are "almost dragged through it." Many, in this condition, resort to alcoholic stimulants and "invigorants," the after effects of which are very injurious.

Dr. R. V. Pierce, forty years ago found that women were being mistreated through ignorance or carelessness and determined to devote his life and energies to their relief.

Having found the cause of their suffering, he next sought for the means of relief, and found in Nature's laboratory—the earth, certain roots which had remarkable and valuable medicinal virtues for the cure of these ailments.

Using chemically pure glycerine, of proper strength instead of alcohol, he prepared extracts of these, and the result was so satisfactory that the combination became his "Favorite Prescription." The roots used are: Lady's Slipper root, Black Cohosh root, Unicorn root, Blue Cohosh root and Golden Seal root. The world knows it as Dr. PIERCE'S FAVORITE PRESCRIPTION, which has the wonderful and unparalleled record of a half-million of cures in the last forty years.

Write to Dr. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y., for advice, given without charge.

"I am glad to be able to testify as to the merits of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription for the many ills that women suffer with," writes Miss Gertrude Mitchell, President Young Ladies' Christian Endeavor Society, 43 Columbia Street, E. Detroit, Mich. "After many years of suffering and pain, I took your medicine, and in a short time began to feel stronger, became more regular, and didn't have the bearing-down pains which had been my lot for so long. Shall never cease to be very grateful that it was brought to my notice. I have no pains, and feel much stronger generally."
