PENDLETON THE PLACE.

Purchaser of Harness and Farm Fixtures Finds Pendleton Cheaper Than Portland.
 Ed Campbell, who formerly lived in the Camas Prairie country, but who resides in Portland at present, has just purchased harness and other farm equipment in this city and says that the same quality is much cheaper here than in Portland, and is surprised that such is the case since Portland is a wholesale center.
 However, Pendleton has long enjoyed the reputation of being a better point at which to purchase harness, wagons, implements and other agricultural appliances than either Spokane, Portland or Walla Walla. An enormous amount of these articles are handled in this city and for this reason, aside from there being railroad competition here, it is a choice purchasing point for the entire surrounding country.

The Cork of Mt. Pelee.

Since the fearful eruption of Mont Pelee in 1902, when the city of St. Pierre was destroyed, that remarkable volcano has furnished many extraordinary phenomena for the study of geologists. Its wonderful "spine," or "tower," has now been replaced, in scientific interest, by a vast dome of andesite rock, half a mile in diameter at the base, and about 1200 feet high, which stops the aperture at the bottom of the crater like a huge cork. The Abbe Yvon and Franz Beaufrand recently descended into the crater, and climbed part way up the dome. Avalanches of dust and ashes frequently plunge down the sides of the dome, and from fumaroles about its base issue clouds of smoke and vapors. Incandescent spots occasionally appear near the summit of the dome.

Missouri's eight-hour per day law on all public works, has been sustained by the United States supreme court.

BOOMING HEMP INDUSTRY.

Salem Determined to Grow That Profitable Crop.
 The Philippine hemp crop is a failure, says the Salem Statesman. It was made so by the recent hurricane. Not a pound of hemp will be shipped from that country to the United States this year. There is some hemp grown in Kentucky, but in limited quantities; and it will not be harvested in time to help the situation about to be mentioned. Already the trust and the independent dealers are combining to raise the price of binder twine, made from hemp. Why should not Oregon furnish the binder twine for the farmers of this state and section? It can be made from flax fibre. Eugene Bosse has a patented invention for making this twine from rough, unretted flax fibre. It would be very profitable. A company of local capitalists could take up the matter and push it to large financial success. Why not do it?
 The mill to be built could be guarded without great cost, to prevent its destruction at the hands of incendiaries. That is the way they do at the flax mill over at Chehalis, Wash. The flax industry promises too large profits and too great advantages to the country to allow it to be stifled by the petty hamperings of incendiaries.

USE OUR FLOUR FOR NOODLES.

American Article in Demand in Chinese Factories.
 "Chinese use American flour almost exclusively for making noodles," remarked J. H. Brown, today, when referring to the possibilities of this trade with the orient, says the Oregon Daily Journal.
 "I lived in China a long time and found scarcely any of the natives using our flour for bread. A few in the service of foreigners may do so, but this is rare. In the remote interior they do not know what American flour is. Such imports reach the treaty ports and are thence distributed over a limited area adjacent, but the demand for flour with the celestials is almost exclusively for noodles.

DR. KING'S NEW DISCOVERY

 Cured of Pneumonia After Doctors Failed.
 "I had been ill for some time with Pneumonia," writes J. W. McKinnon of Talladega Springs, Ala., "and was under the care of two doctors, but grew no better until I tried Dr. King's New Discovery. The first dose gave relief, and, by continuing its use, I was perfectly cured."

 This statement introduced the subject of American flour exports to the orient, the possibility of developing the traffic, prospect of the Chinese ultimately manufacturing their own flour and conditions of the trade in general. Mr. Brown is an ardent believer in the future commerce of this country with the orient when it is properly fostered. His estimate that within 25 years China will be thrown open, likin and octroy taxes abolished and the vast empire made accessible to foreign commerce, is based upon rapid changes observed within the last four years.
 He found the Chinese adapting themselves to the inevitable with good grace and leading men quickly inclining toward acceptance of foreign improvements. Railroads have been the entering wedge, treaty ports are converting the fringe of coast inhabitants, and the interior, which is yet dark to occidental influence, is preparing for better things.
 "If we foster trade with China we should do a $2,000,000 business there in time," continued the former resident of the orient. "Our flour trade will grow to much greater proportions, but it is too costly when laid down in Asia to make bread for the masses."
 "Flour is sold there by the bag largely and sometimes by the barrel. A pound is allowed for the bag or sack, on the average there is a loss of about a pound through frequent handling in shipment and the cunning of the orientals enables them to remove enough more from the bag to make it weigh really only about 45 pounds when it goes to the consumer. Yet it is sold as a 50-pound bag.
 I have known of many orders placed by orientals for flour and with it would come a request for a number of extra sacks. These are used for sacking the three or four pounds taken from each bag. The general result is that flour in the orient comes to about 5 cents (Mexican) a pound, which makes it above the reach of the masses and even above a multitude of the middle classes. But despite these facts the demand for flour will grow for a long time."

HOOD RIVER FRUIT IS HIGH PRICED

APPLES ARE NOW SELLING AT $2 AND $3 PER BOX.
 Land Back in the Valley Four Miles From Town is Worth $400 Per Acre—Greatest Care is Exercised in the Packing of Fruit and Not a Single Wormy Apple is Shipped Out—New Railroad is Being Rushed Through the Valley Toward Mt. Hood.
 Justice of the Peace O. G. Chamberlain of Athens, who has been in Hood River for some time, passed through the city this morning to his home.
 The immense apple crop of the Hood River district is now being marketed and Mr. Chamberlain says that the strings of four-horse teams bringing the apples from the valley resembles the scenes in harvest time in Umatilla county when wheat is coming to the warehouses.
 The crop was excellent this year and good prices are being received for the output, the prices ranging from $2 to $3 per box, according to quality.
 The Apple Growers' association employs packers and is responsible for every box of fruit that is sent out from there and in this way the Hood River apples that are sent out are absolutely free from worms.
 The packers employed are disinterested people and are expert at their business and so every apple with a flaw, speck or discoloration upon it is thrown out and nothing but first-class fruit shipped out. In this way the big exporters have gained confidence in the Hood River fruit and guaranteed it in every market in the world.
 Land is very high in the fruit belt. Mr. Chamberlain mentioning one tract four miles from Hood River which was only partially cleared of timber which was recently sold for $400 per acre. It was not all planted to fruit trees at the time of the sale.
 The Hood River railroad which will reach to the vicinity of Mt. Hood is being rapidly rushed to completion and will give the producers in the upper valley more cheap transportation to markets.
 The country around Hood River is rapidly settling up and many new people are coming in. Some of the most beautiful and prosperous settlements

HEAVY RIVER TRAFFIC.

Large Quantities of Supplies to be Needed for New Railroad.
 In anticipation of heavy river traffic on the Columbia during the building of the north bank railroad, steamboat men are preparing for the boom that they say will surely come and are chartering every steamer and barge available to handle the immense amount of material and stores that will be distributed along the route from Kennewick and the Portage railway.
 Powder, rails, ties, lumber and hardware will comprise a big portion of the freight which the railroad company will procure in Portland. With five or six barges and all of the steamers which are now plying between Portland and the upper river in commission, it is thought no delay will be experienced in getting the material promptly on the ground.
 Two or three steamers and barges also will be needed to operate between Kennewick and Celilo, and so far as known the company has made no arrangements for securing them. The Mountain Gem and Columbia are the only craft not owned by or under charter to the O. R. & N., and it is supposed the new line will press them into service.
 The bulk of the grain crop remains to be moved from points on the upper river to tidewater, while the regular traffic has to be looked after, and consequently the steam-boat men say that times are going to be more lively for them this season than they have ever experienced.
 Despain's Cash Store Open.
 J. B. Despain has opened his new store on Court street, opposite the Golden Rule hotel, where he is ready to serve the public, and his business will be known as Despain's Cash Store.
 Mr. Despain carries a line of clothing, overcoats, underwear, shoes, hats, furnishings and notions, and invites his friends to call and see him.
 To Visit Umatilla Brethren.
 Tu-la-let-s-la, a Columbia Indian, accompanied by his family, arrived from his home at Celilo this morning and this afternoon went to the Umatilla reservation to visit his old friend, Charley Alfalfa, for a few days.
