CAUSE OF COAL FAMINE.

Dealers Failed to Lay in Supply Early in Season.

The Baker City Democrat gives the following reasons for the coal famine now being experienced in eastern Oregon:

The coal famine in the northwest is becoming more serious every day. It owes its existence to one principal cause—the dealers did not lay in storage supplies when they had the opportunity. Today the mines in Utah and Wyoming are running full force day and night and Sundays, when possible, in order to meet the demands.

Yesterday a representative of the Democrat who was in Portland, was shown by the traffic department of the O. R. & N. company, a pile of telegrams almost a foot thick on the coal situation. The managers of the various mines telegraph that they are doing everything in their power to relieve the situation, have plenty of cars, but cannot increase the output of coal without more miners.

They could use a thousand more men today if they had them. The demand locally in Utah and Wyoming cannot be met. The northwest is getting all the coal that can be spared, and every section is receiving its pro rata share. The winter has been unexpectedly long and steady and there has been an increased consumption of coal for domestic purposes.

In order to help the situation the O. R. & N. company reduced its orders for daily coal supply for locomotives by 50 per cent and is not even now receiving that amount from Utah and Wyoming. The company then turned to the north and engaged Roslyn coal. Some of that inferior coal was furnished for a while, but even that has been cut off in the last 48 hours.

The company has only 36 hours' supply of coal on hand in transit and has been obliged to draw on its reserve supply, which is very small. It is the aim of the company to store about 75,000 tons each season. This season they only succeeded in getting about 30,000 tons, and have now not much more than half of that on hands. They have put company coal

SPECTACLE FRAMES

Correctly fitted to the face are as essential as properly fitted lenses are to the eye.

A lens should be mounted so that the center will be exactly opposite the eye. In any other position it will cause strain and have a tendency to produce double sight. The Bridge or Nose Piece should fit so well that wabbling would be impossible, and should bear equally at all points.

THE RIGHT WAY is just as easy as the WRONG.
WE FIT THE FRAMES AS WELL AS THE LENSES.

INDIAN DRUNKARDS

LIST BEING COMPILED BY MARSHAL COFFMAN.

Mayor Fee Will Co-operate With Agent Edwards to Suppress the Liquor Traffic Among the Indians, and No Pains Will Be Spared to See That It is Effectively Done—The State Law's Efficiency is Now Being Tested in the Trial of a Case Brought From Umatilla County.

To prevent the sale of liquor to Indians, as far as such is within the power of the city administration to do so, is the intention of Mayor Fee, and as a result those who have been engaging in that business have need to tremble.

This morning what might be termed the first step toward putting the business under the ban was taken, when, in accordance with the orders of the mayor, Marshal Coffman prepared a list of Indians who are habitual drunkards. This list was delivered to the mayor and will be given by him to Major Edwards, agent at the reservation, so that a close watch may be kept over those named. Any person found selling liquor to those named, or to any other Indian will be arrested by the police and turned over to the state authorities for prosecution.

This morning Mayor Fee said that the city administration will take hold of the matter and seek to stop the sale of liquor to Indians, even though there is no city ordinance forbidding such. Should the council see fit to pass an ordinance making it an offense against the city to sell liquor to Indians, the same will be enforced.

According to the mayor he has consulted with Major Edwards, agent at the reservation, in regard to the matter, and also with others in authority. An effort is being made to learn from what saloons the Indian liquor is secured, and when such is done the saloonman will be prosecuted whether they have sold it directly to Indians or not, for the law does not allow them to do indirectly what they dare not do directly.

At present the state law forbidding the sale of liquor to Indians is being tested before the supreme court, in a case from this county. While it has not been tried yet, it is said that a decision will probably be secured soon after the hearing of the case, and it is the general opinion of attorneys that the law will be upheld.

The following are the Indians reported by Marshal Coffman to be habitual drunkards: Tili-quats, Joe Bennett, Jim Bad Roads, Francis, Isidore, Indian Pete, Ike Parr, Joe Williams (Carlyle graduate), Ed Chapman, Wild Bill, Mrs. Anna Chapman, Willis Crow, Charles Bennett, To wit, Narcisse, She-she-cousse, Wm. Barnhart, David Bartholomew, Allen Paddy-waugh, Jim Stack, George Marshall and Spokane Jim.

SHARP'S LEG WAS FRACTURED.

Turned a Corner Too Quickly and Fell on Slippery Walk.

Jack Sharp, a farm hand, received a broken leg about 9 o'clock last night as the result of a fall upon a slippery sidewalk. The accident occurred at the corner of Webb and Cottonwood streets, as Sharp was turning the corner. Passersby were attracted by the calls of the injured man, and as he was found to be helpless, the police were notified. He was then placed upon a blanket and taken to the hospital by Marshal Coffman and Night Officer Jeff Stephens. City Physician Cole was summoned and dressed the broken leg. It was the right leg, and it was broken squarely about half way between the ankle and knee.

Sharp has been employed on Switzer Island, and also in the Juniper country. He has been in the country for a number of years, and has been about town considerably. He is a large man, weighing about 150 pounds, and it is doubtless to this that he owes his broken leg. Apparently he slipped while turning the corner and fell in such a manner as to suddenly throw the entire weight upon his right leg, thus snapping the bone.

While no other accidents have been reported from last night, there were many narrow escapes from falls upon the slippery walks, for owing to the sleet and slippery snow the walks all over the city were made rather perilous for travel.

VISITED PRIVATE SCHOOLS.

County Superintendent Frank K. Welles Inspects Work of Pendleton Business College and Academy.

County Superintendent Frank K. Welles visited Pendleton Business college and Pendleton academy this morning and inspected the work being done by the schools.

There are now about 80 students in the business college which is now located in its new quarters in the Hendricks' building at the corner of Main and Webb and about 60 students are in attendance at the academy. The work in both institutions was found to be along the most progressive and practical lines.

NEW MANAGING EDITOR.

R. A. Watson Succeeds E. P. Dodd on the Pendleton Morning Tribune.

Ralph A. Watson, formerly reporter on the East Oregonian, and for the past 18 months occupying a similar position on the Portland Oregonian, comes to this city on January 29 to become managing editor of the Pendleton Tribune, in place of E. P. Dodd, who has occupied that position for the past five years.

Mr. Dodd will devote his time to the business department of the paper, feeling himself better adapted to that part of the work than to the editorial department.

Mr. Watson is a genial, wholesome, sociable young man and will be warmly welcomed to the circle of Pendleton journalism. While on the Oregonian he has done some very good reportorial work. Being troubled with asthma in the wet climate of the coast he comes to Pendleton to recuperate.

FARMERS ARE NOT INCLUDED.

Proposed Peddlers' License Would Not Impose Tax Upon Them. Through a misunderstanding yesterday it was reported that the petition being circulated by Frank O'Gara asking for the licensing of peddlers also include farmers who sell the produce of their farms or gardens. In the petition now being prepared for presentation to the council such parties are specifically excluded from the list, as will be seen from the full text of the petition, which is printed below.

According to Mr. O'Gara and other merchants, there is no objection to farmers selling their produce, but it is desired to prevent the sale of fruits and vegetables by parties who buy up the refuse products from farmers in the north end of the county and peddle the same within the city. The following shows the exact wording of the petition:

The Exact Wording.

Peddlers shall be rated and classified as follows: When traveling with more than two horses, the first class. When traveling with two horses, the second class. When traveling with one animal, the third class. When traveling on foot, the fourth class.

Peddlers of the first class shall pay a weekly license of $50. Peddlers of the second class shall pay a weekly license of $40. Peddlers of the third class shall pay a weekly license of $30. Peddlers of the fourth class shall pay a weekly license of $25.

Any person, except persons peddling newspapers, Bibles, or other religious tracts, and farmers peddling the products of their own farms, gardens or ranches, who offer for sale, at wholesale or retail any goods, wares or merchandise or other commodities, as they travel from place to place or from house to house in the city of Pendleton, shall be deemed a peddler under this ordinance.

F. B. HOLBROOK RESIGNS.

F. B. Holbrook, who has been superintendent of the Oregon Land & Water company's irrigation scheme at Irrigon for the past three years, has resigned his position and will return to his home in Portland, where he lived previous to coming to Irrigon. Mr. Holbrook was councilman from the Ninth ward in Portland before coming to eastern Oregon.

Union Meeting at Echo.

Rev. Levi Johnson, Presbyterian Sunday school missionary for this district, left this morning for Echo, where he will assist in a union meeting which will be held by the Presbyterians and the Methodists at that place for the next two weeks. Rev. E. T. Allen, who is in charge of the Presbyterian churches at Irrigon and Echo will also assist in the work.

Hearing Set for January 20.

In the matter of the application of the committee appointed by the stockmen for a successor to John Bean, stock inspector, it has been decided to take the matter up with the stockmen on next Saturday if possible, and settle it at that time.

The entire party of Chinese nobles which arrived at San Francisco last week, spent Sunday last at Lincoln, Neb., the guests of Governor Miscoy and the State University authorities.

FOUND DEAD ON HAY STACK.

J. H. Riggs of Baker County, Meets Death While at Work.

Found dead on the top of a haystack in a field on the lower Baldock ranch about 10 o'clock yesterday was the body of J. H. Riggs, guarded by his faithful dogs from the attacks of vultures, says the Baker City Democrat. The discovery was made by Camp Tender Fox and at the bottom of the haystack was the team of horses which had been standing there since 7 o'clock the morning before, when Riggs started out on his regular feeding trip.

Riggs was in the employ of the rancher and it was his daily custom to feed the stock. He had not been seen at the home farm since last Sunday.

The furniture of the Presbyterian church was moved today into the chapel room of Pendleton academy building, where the morning church services will be held hereafter until the improvements to the church are completed.
