SPokane won game

SCORE STOOD SIX TO THREE AGAINST THE YELLOW KIDS.

Excellent Game, Witnessed by Nearly a Thousand People—Errors in Outfield Lost the Game, Which Was Otherwise Equal—Not a Score Was Recorded Until the Fourth Inning—The W. & C. R. Brought an Excursion and the Spokane Team.
Spokane, 6; Athens, 3.

Nearly a thousand people were at the Matlock grounds yesterday to see the Yellow Kids play the Spokane team in the best ball game that has been seen here since the palmy days when Pendleton herself was in the baseball swim.

It was a good game, and the crowd got its money's worth, though it would have liked it better had the Yellow Kids won. But in holding Spokane to the score of 6 to 3 they did well. That they did not win was due more to the errors in the outfield than anything else, for otherwise the playing was equal. Ike Butler, who pitched for the Yellow Kids, was the equal of Rush, Spokane's twirler, though the latter's work looked better because of superior support.

It was a scoreless game until the fourth inning, when Spokane made two runs. But in the sixth by several hits and some fortunate bunts, the Yellow Kids brought in three, thus giving them the lead. It was then the crowd showed its feelings. However, in the seventh inning Spokane took the lead again by making two more runs, and in the eighth they did the same. In the last half of the ninth hope again rose in Athens breasts when Butler reached second and another player made third. But the game ended with those bases filled.

The following was the game in detail:

BUILD A MODEL TOWN.

Potlatch, Idaho, to Be Clean, Temperate and Well Built.

A special from Spokane to the Oregon Daily Journal says: There is activity at Potlatch, Idaho, where hundreds of men are employed building the new town to be owned by the Weyerhaeuser company. The place is located 19 miles east of Palouse and about the same distance from Garfield.

BABY'S VOICE

Is the joy of the household, for without it no happiness can be complete. How sweet the picture of mother and babe! Angels smile at and commend the thoughts and aspirations of the mother bending over the cradle. The ordeal through which the expectant mother must pass, however, is so full of danger and suffering that she looks forward to the hour when she shall feel the exquisite thrill of motherhood with indescribable dread and fear. Every woman should know that the danger, pain and horror of childbirth can be entirely avoided by the use of Mother's Friend, a scientific liniment for external use only, which toughens and renders pliable all the parts, and assists nature in its sublime work. By its aid thousands of women have passed this great crisis in perfect safety and without pain.

Sold at $1.00 per bottle by druggists. Our book of priceless value to all women sent free. Address BRADFIELD REGULATOR CO., Atlanta, Ga.

Montana railroad is completed from Palouse at Potlatch, states one report. There are 500 men employed there erecting buildings, and already 60 dwellings have been built this spring.

The company does not intend to sell any town lots, but will own everything and will endeavor to make this an ideal town. There will be no liquor sold in the town.

The company will build and own all the residences and rent them to the workmen at a small rental per month.

Outside of the town enterprising liquor men have begun building the new town of Onaway, where saloons will flourish.

Potlatch will be patterned somewhat after the town of Pullman, Ill., owned by the Pullman Palace Car company. It will be the headquarters for all the company's business and $1,000,000 a year will be paid out for operating the mill to the 3000 men employed.

SHOT DURING QUARREL.

Victim Ordered Other Man Off Place as a Trespasser.

The Lewiston Teller gives the following version of a perhaps fatal shooting near Grangeville: A quarrel over property rights which has been brewing for some time ended yesterday in Grover Davis of Ranch creek on the Salmon river shooting and wounding perhaps fatally a man by the name of Hahl.

Both parties have claimed title to a piece of land there for some time, and the matter has been aired in the courts. Davis considered he had a right to go ahead and improve the place, and several times had made an effort to do work there. Several times he says he was ordered off of the place, and his life was threatened by Hahl.

Yesterday he went determined to complete the work he had in mind. He was promptly met by Hahl and ordered off the place. Hahl, says Davis, made a movement to draw a revolver from his pocket. Davis did not wait further but shot Hahl before he could move. Davis immediately gave himself up to the authorities and is released upon his own recognizance.

Reports from Hahl this morning indicate that the wounded man is still in a critical condition.

Dwelling Burned.

The residence of A. M. Gaston on his ranch near Lostine, was burned last week. He had been burning some rubbish near the building, and it is supposed that the wind blew some sparks in the direction of the building, starting the fire. Mr. Gaston had been taking an afternoon nap and when he awoke he found the entire structure enveloped in flames. He succeeded in saving some of his household effects.—Lostine Democrat.

Usage Establishes Highway.

Five years' use of a road or highway in Idaho constitutes a public highway regardless of the ownership of the land. This is a provision of the revised statutes and has just been confirmed in the supreme court of the state in the decision in the case of the town of Juliaetta vs. H. M. Smith, an appeal from Latah county.—Lewiston Teller.

On Rice Creek, 20 miles south of Grangeville, G. C. Davis shot Henry Hehl five or six times with a pistol. Little is known of the affair, but at last accounts Hehl was still alive.

SPORTS AT ATHENS

THE MODERN REVIVAL OF ANCIENT RECREATIONS.

Thousands of Visitors From the World Over—Games Will Take Place Before an Audience of 60,000—Contests Begin April 21 and End May 2—The Olympic Games Were Revived in 1896 After a Lapse of Fifteen Centuries—The United States Is Represented by 32 Athletes.

Athens, April 23.—Thousands of visitors from all parts of the globe have invaded the city, the ancient seat of Hellenic culture and prowess, and all of them are looking forward with eagerness to the opening of the great Olympic games, which will take place tomorrow at the Panathenian stadium, reconstructed in white pendelic marble and with strict adherence to the classic style, on the site of the stadium of Herodas Atticus.

Everything is in readiness for the great athletic contest, which will begin tomorrow and will extend over a period of 11 days, ending May 2. The magnificent stadium, which has a seating capacity of more than 60,000, is completed and awaiting the enormous crowds of spectators, which will be present at the opening ceremonies, to be presided over by the king of Greece in person.

Probably never in the history of the world has there been an athletic tournament of similar magnitude, at least not since the days of Attica's grandeur. Every civilized country has sent its best athletes to this gigantic tournament, carefully trained for this supreme test of strength, skill and endurance.

It was a great idea of the Greek government to revive the Olympic games after a lapse of 15 centuries. During the period of Hellenic greatness the Olympic games were held once every four years for nearly 20 centuries. In the fourth century after Christ they were discontinued. Greece had fallen a prey to internal dissension and barbaric invasion and was disorganized and weak. During the classical period, the golden age of Hellas, every Greek was an athlete and the Olympic games were the great national event, which quadrennially assembled thousands of the most famous of the Greek athletes to Athens, to measure their strength and nimbleness against that of thousands of other athletes from all parts of Greece. Great was the fame of the victors in the Olympic games in those days and some of the names of the most famous and victorious athletes have been immortalized by the records of Greek history.

About 10 years ago the plan was suggested to revive the Olympic games on the same site where 2000 years ago the great athletic contests were held. The idea met with general acclamation and the first meet, which was held in Athens in 1896, was a tremendous success. There were more than 400,000 spectators present on that occasion. The American team carried off the greatest number of points. Since that time the interest in the Olympic games has wonderfully increased throughout the world. The completion of the magnificent stadium, which was made possible through the munificence of the late George Averoff, a wealthy Epitrote, cost fully three million francs and furnishes an appropriate setting for this greatest of all athletic tournaments.

Every European nation is represented at this year's games. The United States has sent 32 of its best athletes, prize winners in many national and international contests, and the Stars and Stripes will be carried by the American athletes in all the flat and hurdle races, including the great Marathon race, a 26 1/4 mile run from Marathon to Athens. America will also be represented in nearly all the other track and field events, including the Pentathlon.

No other country has sent as many contestants as the United States and it is expected that they will again, as on former occasions, carry off a large percentage of the honors. Owing to injuries received during the ocean voyage five of the American athletes were to some extent disabled, but there are enough of them left to make a good showing in every one of the events. The list includes: Hahn, Schick, Robertson, Eaton, Moulton, Queyroue, Hillman, Prinsteln, Parsons, Pilgrim, Cohn, Bacon, Bonhag, Sullivan, Valentine, Lightbody, Leavitt, Friand, Frank, Forshaw, Spring, Fowler, Kerrigan, Ewry, Glover, Mitchell, Edgren, Sheldon, Borneman, Daniels, Spencer, Schwartz and Mifflot.

England, which is probably the most dangerous rival of the United States in some of the athletic events, has only sent a team of eight men, but among them is the flower of English athletics. They are particularly strong in the flat races. Ireland will figure in the jumps, Australia and Hungary in the swimming events, Germany, France, Denmark, Norway and Sweden are all well represented by a small number of exceptionally good men, and particularly strong in field events.

WOMEN NOT TRUTHFUL

This Statement Has Been Unjustly Made, Because Modest Women Evade Questions Asked By Male Physicians.

Mrs. J.H. Farmer Mrs. Ella Lee

An eminent physician says that "Women are not truthful; they will lie to their physician." This statement should be qualified; women do tell the truth, but not the whole truth, to a male physician, but this is only in regard to those painful and troublesome disorders peculiar to their sex.

It is a terrible ordeal to a delicate, sensitive, refined woman to be obliged to answer certain questions when those questions are asked even by her family physician. This is especially the case with unmarried women.

Is it any wonder, then, that women continue to suffer and that doctors fail to cure female diseases when they cannot get the proper information to work on?

This is the reason why thousands and thousands of women are now corresponding with Mrs. Pinkham. To her they can and do give every symptom, so that she really knows more about the true condition of her patients, through her correspondence with them, than the physician who personally questions them.

If you suffer from any form of trouble peculiar to women, write at once to Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass., and she will advise you free of charge.

The fact that this great boon, which is extended freely to women by Mrs. Pinkham, is appreciated, the thousands of letters received by her prove. Many such grateful letters as the following are constantly pouring in.

Ask Mrs. Pinkham's Advice—A Woman Best Understands a Woman's Ills.

Mrs. Ella Lee, Frankford, Ind., writes:

"I want to thank you for what your medicine has done for me. Three years ago I had a serious female trouble. I was under the doctor's care for about three months, and the only time I was not in pain was when under the influence of morphine. The doctor finally said I never would be better, and would be an invalid the rest of my life. I had given up in despair, but one evening I came across one of your advertisements and decided to write you for advice. I did so and commenced to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I began to improve at once, and to-day I am a well woman, and I know it is all due to your advice and medicine."

Mrs. J. H. Farmer, of 2809 Elliott Avenue, St. Louis, Mo., writes:

"I cannot thank you enough for what your advice and medicines have done for me. They have done me more good than all the doctors I ever had. For the last eight years I have suffered with female troubles; was very weak; had nervous prostration, and could not do my work; but I am happy to say Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has made a different woman of me. I am in perfect health and have gained in weight from 98 to 122 pounds."

No other medicine in the world has received such widespread and unqualified endorsement. Mrs. Pinkham invites all sick women to write her for advice. She has guided thousands to health. Address, Lynn, Mass. She is the daughter-in-law of Lydia E. Pinkham, her assistant for many years before her decease, and for twenty-five years since her advice has been freely given to sick women.

BOAT FOR UPPER RIVER.

Open River Association Will Build Elegant Vessel for Lewiston-Celilo Run.

In a few days the Open River association will begin building a new steamer for operation on the upper Columbia between Celilo and Lewiston, says the Oregon Daily Journal. Her dimensions will be 160 feet long, 34 feet wide and six feet depth of hold, capable of carrying 350 tons of freight. Her cabins will entitle her to a passenger list of 200 people.

For elegance, speed and carrying capacity she will be the peer of any steamer on the upper reaches of the Columbia and Snake rivers. The building committee is composed of D. C. O'Reilly, T. D. Honeyman and H. Wittenberg.

Fifty years ago the Columbia was the chief artery of trade for an immense territory in eastern Oregon, Washington and Idaho. During the fall of 1905 the steamer Mountain Gem was placed on the run by the Open River Transportation company, and has been in active service since. It has already been the means of saving to the shippers, especially in the grain districts, many thousands of dollars. The new steamer will be rapidly pushed to completion in order to assist the Mountain Gem in moving the season's wheat crop. She will be built and launched at Celilo at a point convenient to the portage.

The public is invited to select a suitable name for the new vessel. Nearly every foot of the river is teeming with some legend or incident of historical importance and a suitable one might be found in that way. Communications with reference to names for the new boat should be sent to E. J. Smith, traffic manager O. R. T. Co., 314 Worcester building, Portland.

Homesteader Cut His Throat.

Loyal G. Katz, a homesteader living about nine miles northwest of Rupert, committed suicide last Saturday morning by cutting his throat with a razor. He was stopping at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Flemming, nearby. He was about 35 years old, and unmarried. His home was in Pennsylvania. The rash act was believed to have been caused by temporary insanity superinduced by illness. Over $150 was found in the man's clothes.—Boise Capital News.

SORES-ULCERS THE BLOOD DISEASED -SYSTEM DISORDERED

When a Sore or Ulcer is slow in healing it is the best evidence of a diseased condition of the blood and a disordered system. They show that the bodily impurities, which should pass off through the natural channels of nature, are being retained in the system from some cause. The blood absorbing the waste matters becomes steeped in poison which finds an outlet through the Sore or Ulcer, keeping it inflamed, painful and festering. As the blood constantly discharges its poison into these places, they eat deeper into the surrounding flesh and tissues, growing larger and more offensive in spite of all the sufferer can do, until the entire health is affected. Washes, salves, powders and such treatment are desirable for the reason that they are cleansing and also help to relieve the pain, but they are in no way curative. The blood is filled with poison, and until it is removed the sore cannot heal. S. S. S. is the only cure for these evidences of impure blood. It goes down to the root of the trouble and cleanses the circulation of all poisons and impurities. S. S. S. enriches the blood and reinvigorates the different members of the body so that the impurities and waste matters can pass off as nature intended. Then the discharge ceases, the sores scabs over, new flesh is formed, and the place heals permanently. ok on Sores and Ulcers and any medical advice you need without charge
