O. R. & N. BRIDGES ORDERED.

Excellent Improvements Will Be Made on the System.

Contracts have just been let by the Oregon Railroad & Navigation company to McCreary & Willard, Spokane contractors, for the erection of a number of steel bridges on the main line of the O. R. & N. between Portland and Huntington. Work on these structures will be begun soon, and it is hoped to complete the work by the end of the year.

This contract is in line with the heavy construction work now being done with a view to bringing the road up to first-class condition, and will involve additional large expenditures. When this contract is completed, there will be no wooden bridges across any stream of importance on the main line of the O. R. & N.

The contract includes a steel bridge 710 feet long across the Sandy river near Troutdale, a steel bridge across Hood river near the town of that name, a steel bridge 420 feet long across the Umatilla river at Umatilla, a 200-foot structure of the same material across the Des Chutes river at Des Chutes, a steel bridge across the Walla Walla river 175 feet in length at Wallula, and a 100-foot steel bridge across Burnt river near Huntington.

Apricots at Wenatchee.

Talk about apricots from down south, if you could see what can be grown in the shape of this fruit in the Wenatchee valley, Washington, you would say that no other country was in it in this respect, says the Pacific Homestead. The Homestead knows that the Wenatchee land is most suitable for apricots for a sample of the fruit was left at its office recently by Mrs. T. C. Davidson, who has a small orchard near the town of that name. The apricots were large and of delicious flavor and rich color. While on the apricot subject we quote the following from the California Fruit-grower of recent date: "Apricots are so very scarce this year and selling at such high prices that the price of pits is booming. Thirty dollars and up to $35 a ton has been paid for apricot pits. There will be but very few cars of kernels to be had this year, one dealer estimating a product of from seven to eight cars, with present values in the neighborhood of 12 1/2 cents per pound and liable to go higher."

LABOR PROBLEMS OF YAKIMA.

All Industries Are Confronted With Shortage of Help.

Laboring men are wanted badly to complete the grading on the North Yakima & Valley railway, says the Yakima Republic. The work will be completed in two weeks if help can be secured, but with the coming on of the wheat harvest, the fruit season and the haying season, it looks as if it will be more than two weeks before the grading will be completed. Only 14 men are now reported to be working there and the wages paid are the highest in the history of the northwest for that class of labor. The men are receiving $2.50 per day and are charged $4.50 per week for board.

At the present time all classes of industry are feeling the need of labor in the Yakima valley. Farm help is wanted more than any other kind, still men can find work at almost anything they are looking for. Farm hands are paid from $35 to $40 per month and board. This fact is what "stumps" the eastern farmer when he first comes to Yakima to make his home. He was not used to such wages in the eastern states and it is some time before he can see the necessity of paying them here.

The beginning of the wheat harvest in eastern Washington has taken all the surplus floating population there for the time being. High wages have been paid, but it is reported that there is such an influx of wage-earners to the wheat fields this season that wages have been reduced. This will probably bring some of the men to the Yakima valley. Just now they are badly needed in the hayfields, where they are paid $2 a day and board. All the available men who want to work are picked up on the streets of the city and hustled off to the farms as fast as they come in. Some of the farmers have been delayed considerably by the scarcity of white help and have been using Japs, but the latter are scarce at present.

With the near approach of the hopping season it is feared that there will be a shortage of help that may interfere seriously with the harvesting of the crop. With the establishment of the canning plant here many people who used to go into the harvest fields will find work at home. The cannery, it is said, will probably employ several hundred young people during August and September and will draw mostly from the class that formerly went into the hopyards. The Indians are gradually dwindling in numbers each year, so far as hopping is concerned. With all these things to be considered, the outlook for help in the fields and orchards in the Yakima valley this fall is not very encouraging.

Often The Kidneys Are Weakened by Over-Work.

Unhealthy Kidneys Make Impure Blood. It used to be considered that only urinary and bladder troubles were to be traced to the kidneys, but now modern science proves that nearly all diseases have their beginning in the disorder of these most important organs.

The kidneys filter and purify the blood—that is their work. Therefore, when your kidneys are weak or out of order, you can understand how quickly your entire body is affected and how every organ seems to fail to do its duty.

If you are sick or "feel badly," begin taking the great kidney remedy, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, because as soon as your kidneys are well they will help all the other organs to health. A trial will convince anyone.

If you are sick you can make no mistake by first doctoring your kidneys. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy, is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases, and is sold on its merits by all druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles. You may have a sample bottle sent to you by mail free, also a pamphlet telling you how to find out if you have kidney or bladder trouble. Mention this paper when writing to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

PAN-AMERICAN CONGRESS MET

MATTERS OF MUTUAL CONCERN DISCUSSED.

Only South American or Central American Government Not Represented Is Venezuela—Will Discuss Uniformity of Patent Laws, International Railroad, Commercial Intercourse, the "Drugo Doctrine" and Other Problems.

Rio de Janeiro, July 21.—The third Pan-American congress was opened here today without flourish or elaborate ceremonies, but with simple dignity, as becomes a gathering of representatives of a number of republics. William I. Buchanan, of New York, the head of the United States delegation, and as such representing the state department in Washington, D. C., called the congress to order and delivered a brief address in which he gave a history of the first two Pan-American congresses and of the results accomplished by them. Senor Don Joaquin Nabuco, ambassador extraordinary and plenipotentiary of Brazil, who heads the Brazilian delegation, also delivered an address, welcoming the foreign delegates from the sister republics to Rio de Janeiro.

The opening session was brief and was mainly devoted to the arrangement of the preliminaries of the congress. The question of the time of the session, the order of business and other details came up for consideration and were referred to committees, which will report to the congress at the next session. After the preliminaries are definitely settled, the program of the subjects to be considered by the congress will be taken up. The consideration of the scope and limitation of the subjects will probably consume the entire time of several sessions.

Besides the United States all the South and Central American republics represented at the second Pan-American congress are represented at the present congress, excepting Venezuela, which has sent no delegates. Various reasons are given for the failure of Venezuela to send delegates. According to one statement, President Castro refused to appoint delegates because he suspected the United States of designs upon the independence of the other American republics and feared that the congress had been arranged merely in the interest of the plans of the United States. Another version is that the real reason for President Castro's attitude is merely his disappointment that Rio de Janeiro and not Caracas was selected as the place for holding the congress.

The delegation of the United States consists of William I. Buchanan, of New York, formerly minister to Argentina and first American minister to Panama, who was also one of the American delegates to the second Pan-American congress, held in Mexico in 1892; Edmund J. James, president of the University of Illinois; Leo S. Rowe, professor of political economy, University of Pennsylvania; Tullio Larina, civil engineer of Porto Rico; James S. Harlan, of Illinois, son of Associate Justice John M. Harlan, of the United States supreme court; Charles Ray Dean, of Illinois, now chief of the bureau of appointments of the department of state, is secretary of the delegation, and Frank L. Joannini, official translator of the bureau of insular affairs, war department, is official interpreter.

Among the delegates of the other American republics are Senor Walker-Martinez, the Chilean minister to the United States, representing Chile at the congress; Soldero Baborano and Pouso Davila, representing Honduras; Manuel Delgado and Francisco Antonio Reyes, representing Salvador; Dr. Cassius, representing Mexico. Secretary of State Root will arrive here next Wednesday and will remain here 12 days, before he will proceed on his way south. He will attend some of the sessions of the congress, but not as regular delegate of the United States.

The program of the congress, which has been practically agreed upon at the preliminary meeting in Washington in March, will include sanitary and quarantine regulations, uniformity of patent laws, international recognition of diplomas and of practitioners of the learned professions, questions affecting commercial intercourse, and an international railroad. It is also expected that the so-called Drugo doctrine, which is opposed to the forcible collection of private debts by one nation from another, will come up for consideration in some form.

Monster Engines for U. P.
An engine of the 200-class, new to the mountain division of the Union Pacific, was received by the company and will be tested in hill climbing between Cheyenne and Laramie, says the Cheyenne Tribune. The engine is of the simple type with cylinders 28 x 26, a somewhat longer stroke than those of the 1600 and 1900 classes. It is claimed the engine can handle 200 tons more than the compounds and the experiments will be watched with interest.
