New York, Aug. 21.—The Union Pacific and Southern Pacific railroads' bull movement is now in full swing on the stock market. While both fell off from the high levels, it is apparent the Harriman interests are absorbing all the profits, taking all sales, to resume the upward movement later.

Union Pacific opened at 183, fell to 182 3-8, and again went slowly upward. There is much buying on the prediction it will reach 200. Southern Pacific fluctuated within narrow margins. Everybody left Southern Pacific alone until the source of the Union movement could be learned. It is said Harriman is still long on both, which will be marketed.

NEW LEVEE REPAIRS WILL TOTAL A COST OF $52,000

If the Levee is Built on the New Location on Section No. 1, the Cost Will Be $12,500 More.

This is According to a Report Submitted to the City Council Last Night—Messrs. Young and Kelsay, Engineers, Met With Members of Council in Regard to the Work—A Resolution Ordering the Telephone and Electric Companies to Remove Their Poles From the Gutters on Main and Court Streets and Place Them Inside the Sidewalk Limit Was Read and Passed—Levee Report in Detail.

In order to repair the levee as it should be done in the judgment of Messrs. Young & Kelsay, engineers, and to extend the bulwark as far down as the lower O. R. & N. bridge, will require a total estimated expense of $65,000. This is according to the report submitted to the city council last night and which is given in full below. After being read and discussed at some length the report was referred to the levee committee consisting of Councilman Murphy, Hinkle and Swearingen.

Aside from the levee report two other matters of importance came before the council last evening. A resolution ordering the telephone and electric companies to remove their poles from the gutters on Main and Court streets and place them inside the sidewalk limit, was read and passed by unanimous vote.

In behalf of the fair commission C. E. Roosevelt asked that the commission be allowed the use of Railroad street from Main to Johnson, during the fair, for the purpose of displaying the livestock placed on exhibit. Also the commission wished to secure control of the Main street privileges during the fair week so as to prevent other attractions from securing the same, and finally permission was asked to erect the fair pavilion on the property adjoining the Kunkel implement store.

As there are several problems to be worked out in reference to the commission's requests the mayor referred the entire matter to a committee composed of Councilman Thompson, Murphy and Eli. They were directed to report at the regular meeting Wednesday evening.

Levee Report in Detail. Portland, Ore., Aug. 18, '06. To the Honorable Mayor and Common Council, Pendleton, Oregon.

Gentlemen: The following is a report on the proposed levee improvement for the city of Pendleton, together with estimates of costs and maps and profile of the proposed work. I have made a survey to locate the present levee and the proposed new location from that point to the railroad bridge below the city. The profile shows the top of the present levee, the proposed grade to which the levee should be raised, a profile of the surface of the town just outside the toe of the levee, the depth to bedrock and the elevations at different points of the high water of 1906.

Old Levee Not Right. The original levee as constructed is a bank of earth and gravel about 12 feet wide on top. The outside slope on the upper part of the levee is about two and one-half horizontal to one vertical and on the lower part of the levee about one and one-half horizontal to one vertical. At the Main street bridge the slope is very steep. The outer slope of the levee is covered with riprap of small rock placed with fairly uniform surface. The stone used for this purpose is too small. The riprap was started on the surface of the ground and was not carried down to bedrock, and in many places the river has cut under it and washed out the toe of the levee. The trees growing along

From station 71 to station 75 the riprap is very steep, but the current does not strike it and the toe is fairly well protected by trees and the riprap has stood fairly well.

Levee Turn Was Bad. From station 82 the old levee made a sharp turn out into the river so that the current struck directly against it, which was one of the reasons for the levee washing out.

Divided Into Five Sections. For convenience in contracting and to enable the city to decide on the amount of work to be done this year, I have divided the work into sections and have given the cost of doing the work on each section. The sections are as follows:

Section 1, station 6x75 to station 18, from head of levee to N. P. railroad.

Section 2, station 18 to station 53-20, from N. P. railroad to Lee street bridge.

Section 3, station 53-20 to station 77-70, from Lee street bridge to Main street bridge.

Section 4, station 77-70 to station 105, from Main street bridge to lower end of old levee.

Section 5, station 105 to station 131-83, proposed extension from the lower end of old levee to O. R. & N. bridge.

The Work Now Needed. The work recommended by me is as follows:

Put in a wing wall at the head of the mill race to divert the water at this point.

Raise and widen the levee on section 1 and protect the toe of the levee from station 19 to the railroad.

Put in a wall on bedrock with an average height of about three feet along the toe of the levee from station 21 to the lower end. This wall can be made of concrete or stone masonry laid with cement mortar.

Fill in with riprap from the top of this wall to the toe of the present levee.

Where the wall of the present levee

The state expects to show the ice trust and "independents" conspire to keep up prices, and create a shortage.
