FAIR CLOSSES THIS EVENING

nouncement that Mr. Fred Tallafero, manager of the Zinn Travesty company, and Miss Grace Gordon, of that troop, would be wedded. It was explained that the young people intended being married in Seattle upon their arrival there, but that the handsome furniture set offered here had induced them to marry at the fair. The wedding party was then announced at the pavilion entrance.

Promptly at the moment when they got ready, De Caprio's band struck up the wedding march and the bridal party emerged from the ticket office. The bride was accompanied by Roy Raley and C. J. Ferguson, the maids of honor, one carrying the lady's handkerchief and the other her purse. (Raley had the purse.) The ushers were W. F. Matlock, Leon Cohen, J. H. Raley, Lee Teutsch and C. E. Roosevelt. Justice of the Peace Joe H. Parkes followed the groom to see that he didn't make a dash for liberty through the crowd.

The couple were stopt on the platform directly in front of De Caprio and then Justice of the Peace Parkes, his voice shaking with emotion, proceeded to tie the knot. The bride looked beautiful in her clothes, but it was noticed she seemed to be nervous about something and kept her eyes on her purse. The groom was required to remove his hat.

Justice Parkes first address the bride: "Do you think Pendleton is a nice place?" he asked. "I do," loudly responded the bride.

"Do you expect to get out of this alive?" he asked to the groom. "I do," came very feebly from the groom.

"Then join hands," commanded the Judge, and slowly and very low he uttered these words: "My advice to you both is to make a run for it just as soon as you get off, this platform." "We will," came from both bride and groom. "Then go."

But before the bride could carry out her instructions from the justice she was grabbed in a grizzly hug by Lee Teutsch and a grizzly kiss was planted on her face. She was then handed along the line to W. F. Matlock, Leon Cohen, Colonel Raley and C. E. Roosevelt, each in turn receiving such a smack as to make them wish once again for the days of their youth and to regret the fair would so

A Valuable Agent.

The glycerine employed in Dr. Pierce's medicines greatly enhances the medicinal properties which it extracts and holds in solution much better than alcohol would. It also possesses medicinal properties of its own, being a valuable demulcent, nutritive, antiseptic and antiferment. It adds greatly to the efficacy of the Black Cherrybark, Golden Seal root, Stone root and Queen's root, contained in "Golden Medical Discovery" in subduing chronic, or lingering coughs, bronchial, throat and lung affections, for all of which these agents are recommended by standard medical authorities. In all cases where there is a wasting away of flesh, loss of appetite, with weak stomach, as in the early stages of consumption, there can be no doubt that glycerine acts as a valuable nutritive and aids the Golden Seal root, Stone root, Queen's root and Black Cherrybark in promoting digestion and building up the flesh and strength, controlling the cough and bringing about a healthy condition of the whole system. Of course, it must not be expected to work miracles. It will not cure consumption except in its earlier stages. It will cure very severe, obstinate, chronic coughs, bronchial and laryngeal troubles, and chronic sore throats with hoarseness. In acute coughs it is not so effective. It is in the lingering coughs, or those of long standing, even when accompanied by bleeding from the lungs, that it has performed its most marvelous cures. Send for and read the little book of extracts, treating of the properties and uses of the several medicinal roots that enter into Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and learn why this medicine has such a wide range of application in the cure of diseases. It is sent free. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y. The "Discovery" contains no alcohol or harmful, habit-forming drug. Ingredients all printed on each bottle wrapper in plain English.

Sick people, especially those suffering from diseases of long standing, are invited to consult Dr. Pierce by letter, free. All correspondence is held as strictly private and sacredly confidential. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Medical Adviser is sent free on receipt of stamps to pay expense of mailing only. Send 21 one-cent stamps for paper-covered, or 31 stamps for cloth-bound copy.

soon be at an end, when all such chances would be forever gone. The maids of honor were both waiting near the steps each for his turn, but by this time the crowd had begun to yell "Coonie" so strong that the bridal couple, fearing to tarry longer, made a dash for the door, followed by the well wishes of the crowd, and the ushers vainly striving to keep the crowd back fearing they would in their enthusiasm demand the same favors that the ushers had pre-empted. The carriage was waiting and the bridal party tumbled in and were driven to the opera house, where a reception was held and congratulations showered on the couple by the members of the company. Tonight they will occupy a box, and a public reception will be held after each act. Ralph Coon, of the Alexander grocery department, played the role of bridegroom while the bride was a member of the show troupe.

Miss Woolery Was Chosen.

At the close of the fair program last evening the ballots cast for queen of the mardi gras carnival were counted and the result showed that Miss Audrey Woolery of Ione had been selected for that honor. She will be known during the remainder of the fair as Queen Audrey I, and all within the boundaries of the city will be subject to her will until 12 o'clock tonight.

By the selection of Miss Woolery as queen another compliment was paid to Umatilla's sister county, which has shared generously in the honors of the fair although the citizens of that county were somewhat loath in participating in the fair.

Fair a Financial Success.

While it is yet too early for the fair commissioners to tell exactly how they have fared financially, it is now known that there will be no deficit and a surplus is possible. This is largely due to the fact that the attendance has been unusually good, and 50 per cent greater than anticipated.

A. L. Knight, treasurer of the commission, estimates that the total paid admissions to the fair will reach 15,000 by tonight. Up to today the paid attendance has been close to 12,000, and it is believed 3000 will pay the entrance fee today.

A $10,000 Fair.

According to Mr. Knight the total expense of the fair will approximate $10,000, and of this amount $4000 has been raised by local subscriptions $1500 from the state, $1000 by the county court, $2000 from paid admissions and the remainder from the concessions granted at the pavilion and the vicinity.

Morrow County Premiums.

Aside from the premiums taken by O. W. Minor, of Heppner, on his excellent herd of Shorthorn cattle, that county has taken a number of premiums on agricultural and horticultural products. Among those now awarded is the following: Morrow county first on mangel wurtzels.

Relks and Ricker of Irrigon, first on variety of watermelon weighing 55 pounds.

F. C. Dillingham, first on exhibit of winter pears.

Ed Royle, first on sample of blue stem wheat.

John McCarty, first on sample of vorkum.

John Ruyar, first on sample of kaffir corn.

J. A. Woolery, of Ione, first on case of 13 varieties of Morrow county grains.

F. C. Dillingham, first on sample of Rhode Island Greening apples.

Joseph Eskalon, Lexington, second on sweet corn.

Arch Coe, second on exhibit of cabbage.

In addition to these a number of Morrow county people took premiums on poultry, the list having been previously published.

These varieties of products show the diversity of the soil and climate of Morrow county, and while the display from that county is not large, yet the specimens are excellent in size and quality and the people who have exhibited at the fair this year declare they will make elaborate preparations for next year.

The Morrow county exhibit has attracted wide attention at the fair because of the variety of products represented and of the extraordinary size and appearance of the specimens on exhibit.

Sacred Concert Tomorrow.

As announced last evening a sacred concert will be given at the fair pavilion tomorrow evening by the De Caprio band, which has been engaged for the same by the fair commission. The program will commence at 7:30, and the doors of the pavilion will be opened a half hour before that time.

The program for the sacred concert is such that the entertainment will be by far the finest musical treat of the week. In striking contrast to the concerts given during the week there will be no noise of splaners or disturbance from confetti throwing, and consequently the musicians will appear to much better advantage than heretofore.

Carload of Paper Burned.

In another freight car fire which occurred at Foster station this morning, a carload of paper consigned from Portland to the East Oregonian, was completely destroyed. The car was attached to the eastbound freight train No. 22, and the fire is believed to have been started from a spark from the engine. The blaze was discovered while the train was passing Foster, and in hopes of saving the car a fast run was made to Echo. There the fire was extinguished, but not until after the contents had been so badly damaged as to be worthless.

The car contained 40,000 pounds of paper destined for use by the East Oregonian, and the loss to the railroad company from the fire will be $1200.

IDAHO CASE TO WASHINGTON.

Moyer, Haywood and Pettibone Making Hard Fight.

Attorney James H. Hawley, prosecution for the state in the murder charges against Charles H. Moyer, William D. Heywood and George A. Pettibone, late last evening flashed his work on the state's brief on the appeal taken to the United States supreme court by the defendants from the decision of Judge Beatty of the federal courts here denying writs of habeas corpus prayed for by them, says the Boise Statesman. It was because of a decision pending in the United States supreme court on this appeal that it was impossible to go on with the trials of defendants in the Canyon county court.

The supreme court will convene next Tuesday in Washington and Mr. Hawley will leave for there on the same date so as to be on hand to argue his side of the question on October 9, the date set for the hearing. The defense, it is understood, will be represented in the supreme court by Attorneys Clarence S. Darrow, of Chicago, and E. F. Richardson, of Denver.

Cup for De Caprio.

Today a number of local friends and admirers of Signor De Caprio, director of the fair band, have arranged to present a silver cup to that gentleman this evening in appreciation of his part in the fair's success. Among those who have been prominent in the movement are members of the Pendleton serie of Eagles, for the leader and some of his players played last night after the close of the concert at the pavilion.

One of the most spectacular features of the week was the illuminated parade last evening by the Eagles, the same being formed at the head of Main street about 8 o'clock. With the Eagles uniformed band in the lead the procession moved down Main street and up Court to the Eagles hall where an informal reception was given the members of the order during the evening.

Baker Studies Road Making.

County Judge J. Bruce Messick left this morning for Pendleton, where he will inspect the government road building scheme which will be in operation there this week. Judge Messick, who has charge of the county roads and is having troubles of his own in that line, expects to learn from his visit to Pendleton, some things which may be of value in the construction of roads in Baker county. Also during his stay there he will attend the Knight Templar convocation, and the Umatilla county fair.

Shaw-Gilbaugh.

At the Presbyterian parsonage in this city, the Rev. W. L. Van Nuy officiating at 3:30 o'clock, in the presence of a few immediate friends, Mrs. Mollie Shaw, until recently matron at the Baker City sanitarium, and J. A. Gilbaugh of Portland. The bride is well and favorably known to a host of friends in Baker and Union counties, and the groom is a business man of good standing. The couple will make their home in Astoria after a few weeks. Friends who attended the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. John John Shaw, of Walla Walla, and Miss Lulu Lorenz of Pendleton.

Menziez Has Appendicitis.

Conductor Gordon Menziez, the veteran conductor of the Walla Walla-Pendleton branch run on the O. R. & N. will be operated on Monday morning for appendicitis at the Walla Walla hospital. He has been suffering from the disease for some time and it has been decided that an operation is the only permanent relief for him. Conductor Charles Snider, of Walla Walla, is on the run during Mr. Menziez's absence.

Delegates to Hood River.

County Judge Gilliland has appointed the following gentlemen as representatives of this county to the state irrigation congress, which is to be held at Hood River in October: Henry Carpenter of Pendleton, Dan Kirk of Freewater, Frank Sherman of Pilot Rock, Dora Bowman of Echo, and W. W. Harrah.

Recovering From Tyfold.

Charley, the young son of August Fuhrman, the Main street grocer, has been very ill the past few weeks with tyfold fever, but is now convalescing finely. He has been attended by Dr. McFaul.

The flouring mill at Toledo, Wash., owned by W. D. Kimbrough and William Gray, burned. Loss, $15,000; insurance small.
