

FIFTEEN YEARS OF ECZEMA

Affected Hands, Arms and Legs—Endured Terrible Itching and was Unable to Sleep—Would Tear the Bandages to Scratch the Skin—In less than One Week

CURED BY THE CUTICURA REMEDIES

"I had eczema nearly fifteen years. The affected parts were my hands, arms and legs. They were the worst in the winter time and were always itchy, and I could not keep from scratching them. I had to keep both hands bandaged all the time, and at night I would have to scratch through the bandages as the itching was so severe, and at times I would have to tear everything off my hands to scratch the skin. I could not rest or sleep. I had several physicians treat me but they could not give me a permanent cure, nor even could they stop the itching. After using the Cuticura Soap, one box Cuticura Ointment and two bottles Cuticura Resolvent for about six days the itching had ceased, and now the sores have disappeared, and I never felt better in my life than I do now. Edward Worell, Band 80th, U. S. Infantry, Fort Crook, Nebraska.

BLOW TO IDAHO SHEEP AND WOOL

WAS THE DECISION WHICH SUSTAINED TWO-MILE LAW.

Widespread Regrets Throughout That State at the Judgment of the United States Supreme Court—Idaho Supreme Court Had Previously Taken the Same Stand—Tendency Will Be to More Strictly Enforce the Law, Which Has Heretofore Been Honored More in the Breach Than the Observance.

The decision from the United States supreme court, published yesterday, upholding the constitutionality of the state two-mile limit law, is believed by the sheepmen of the state to be a crushing blow to the sheep industry of Idaho, says the Statesman of Boise. Inquiry among the sheep owners now in the city shows that they regard the decision as a great financial loss to themselves. The Idaho supreme court declared the law constitutional, and the appeal was taken to the United States court. Pending this appeal, the law has been loosely enforced. Sheepmen have come to regard the decision as a great financial loss to themselves. The Idaho supreme court declared the law constitutional, and the appeal was taken to the United States court. Pending this appeal, the law has been loosely enforced. Sheepmen have come to regard the decision as a great financial loss to themselves.

Now that the highest court has spoken, the sheep interests are beginning to wonder why they ever took the case there at all. Even with the state decision against them they had the practical fruits of a victory, so far as the people believed the higher courts would declare the law unconstitutional. Some of the more far-sighted ones tried to fight shy of the court at Washington, urging that they already had—a belief that the law would not hold, while they might lose all in a final decision. However, the suit was brought, and now there is no recourse.

Various estimates are made by the different sheepmen as to what effect this decision will have on the sheep industry. Some of them believe it will affect the values of their flocks as much as a dollar a head, while others are inclined to be more conservative and say that 50 cents would cover the decline. According to the reports of last year's assessment there are 1,145,000 sheep in the state, subject to tax. Even at 50 cents a head, this would mean a depreciation of $572,500 in the value of the flocks of Idaho, through this decision. These figures, even allowing 50 cents a head as too large, are perhaps not far out of the way, inasmuch as the actual number of sheep is doubtless much in excess of the assessed number.

Some active steps are promised in the legislature, in the near future, in the way of state legislation looking to a repeal or at least a modification of the law. It is expected that a bill will be framed very shortly, covering the matter as fully as possible. Under the present law, sheep owners are not allowed to pasture their flocks within two miles of a homestead or possessory claim. The claim in making the law so was that cattle and horses would not graze after sheep, and the sheep, cropping the grass so closely, were a menace to the outlying settlements because destroying the feed for horses and cattle, and making it impossible for the settler to stay there without feeding his stock—which would be impossible.

In the campaign of two years ago, one of the arguments used against Governor Gooding, at least in the cattle country, was that if elected, he would at once see to passing a law to repeal the two-mile limit statute. No

OLD FOLKS TESTIFY.

The Aged and All Sons and Daughters of Aged People in Fall River Should Be Interested.

For some time our local druggists, the Pendleton Drug company have been recommending to all aged people of Pendleton their cod liver preparation, Vinol, to be the best strength creator in the world for old people. To all such the following will be of interest:

Mrs. A. J. Barker of Evansville, Ind., writes: "There is no other medicine in the world equal to Vinol for elderly people. I would not take a thousand dollars for the good it has done me."

Mrs. Sarah J. Windrom of Chicago, Ill., writes: "Vinol is a godsend to old people. I am 75 years old but I feel active and well today, thanks to the vitalizing effects of Vinol."

Mr. Joseph Banks, Decatur, Ill., writes: "I am in my 75th year, and owing to the cod liver oil preparation, Vinol, I feel better and stronger than I have for years."

Vinol is not a patent medicine, but is a real cod liver preparation from which the useless, indigestible oil has been eliminated and tonic iron, a needful constituent for the blood, added.

Vinol tones up the digestive organs, makes rich, red blood, healthy body material, and sound, steady nerves. In this way it repairs worn tissues, checks the natural decline of the aged, builds up the run down, tired and debilitated, and never fails to replace weakness with strength.

If it falls we return to the purchaser every dollar paid for it. The Pendleton Drug company. Note—While we are sole agents for Vinol in Pendleton, it is now for sale at the leading drug store in nearly every town and city in the country. Look for the Vinol agency in your town.

such bill came up, however, and the newly-made governor let it be understood that he should then veto such a measure, if it were passed. The law was not mentioned in the past campaign, so is not now at all an issue. This fact, and the added one that the sheep industry is on the boom, because of high prices, while the cattle industry has not been so profitable for the past four or five years as it once was, might give the law a better chance at this time.

New Railroad for Chill.
Santiago, Chill, Feb. 8.—The bill providing for the construction of the proposed longitudinal railroad, which will cost $37,500,000, was finally passed by congress today. The government guaranteed 5 per cent interest on the capital. Before the bill became law the representatives of the German and English syndicates offered to bid for the whole of the amount. The president has got authority from the senate to enter into contracts for construction of the road.

NEW YORK LETTER

New York, Feb. 8.—The tax board has just issued its report dealing with the assessment valuation of the land of New York city, and so astounding are the figures they almost take one's breath away. The valuation of the city now reaches the enormous sum of $5,800,000,000. It is equal to all the wealth of continental Australia, of Belgium, or of scattered Canada, which spreads, as the Canadians proudly boast, from the Atlantic to the Pacific. It is 25 per cent more than the entire wealth of Holland, or of Spain, or of Sweden and Norway combined, and double that of Switzerland, or is one-third that of Italy, one-fourth that of Austro-Hungary, one-fifth that of Russia, one and one-tenth that of Great Britain and Ireland, one-seventh that of Germany. Wonderful city; and improving.

Will Sell His Flesh and Blood.

Alois Hoffman, a baker, who lives in a cellar in east 88th street, having traveled all over the city looking for work, and being unsuccessful, could not see his wife and children starve before his eyes. At his wits end to get them food he put the following advertisement in a New York paper.

"Starving family wish any work to do for winter; clothing and shoes wanted; landlord will put them on the street; I will give my skin and blood before they go homeless. Jantress, 112 East 88th street."

He declares that as a last resort he will sell his skin for grafting purposes, and his life's blood for the purpose of experiment, for money to keep his wife and children alive. Surely such sacrifice deserves success.

Some Effects of Polley Gambling.

During the trial of a police captain for failing to suppress policy and handbook gambling, some remarkable evidence was given in Jersey City a few days ago, showing the evils of gambling among the poorer classes.

For the defense of the captain a grocer was called and swore that very few bets were made in the district charged, because he had very few bad debts during the year. Questioned by the prosecuting attorney as to what bad debts had to do with gambling, the witness said: "Why, I guess none of my customers played the races, so they had money to spend."

A pawnbroker for the defense, made the following statement: "I can tell by the falling off of my business that there is no betting. When there is gambling on horses in the neighborhood, business is good. When there isn't people don't pawn so many things and business is bad."

$5,000 to 100,000 Dope Fiefs.

The campaign against cocaine and other pernicious drugs has not commenced one minute too soon, for it is calculated that there are no less than $5,000 to 100,000 "fiefs" in this city. The new law providing penalties in cases where the drug is sold by any person without the prescription of a physician is not in the least drastic, for the traffic in the drug is so profitable, and such an enormous quantity of it is sold, that the average druggist who deals in it is perfectly willing to be fined a small sum occasionally.

Organized labor has rallied to the aid of the fight against the drug and 75,000 laboring men have endorsed the bill and will have a delegation at Albany on Thursday next when a bill will come before the house. There is no doubt but the druggists who sell cocaine and morphine to young persons are more vicious than the worst type of criminal, but the question is, has the habit taken too deep a hold?

Suffering of Fallen Horses.

Under the eyes of the policemen in this city some of the most revolting cases of cruelty to horses are daily witnessed on the street. During the present immensely cold weather, when the roads are in a very slippery condition it is no uncommon sight to see in all, 12 down in the space of 200 yards. There is no compassion for them whatever and the moment they fall they are unmercifully beaten until they get on their feet again. It is plain that very few of the drivers know their business for if they did they would never start on their journey without some loose straw, or better still, some cinders on their bricks. Then when the horse goes down nothing is simpler than to spread some of the straw or cinders under his forelegs and he will rise with alacrity. But to belabor the unfortunate animal for no fault of his own should not for one moment be tolerated by the police, or the agents of the S. P. C. A., who look on unconcernedly.

Refrigerator Car Service.

Effective at once the O. R. & N. company will inaugurate a weekly refrigerator car service from Portland. The refrigerator cars will leave Portland every Tuesday and will handle perishable stuff for all points east of Umatilla. A similar service will be operated on the Washington division.

Lard is no respecter of stomachs

No one on this green earth can eat lard-soaked food day after day and not feel its ill effects eventually. You may have one of those iron-clad stomachs which will prove unsusceptible for a time, but the hog-fat and its accompanying indigestibility will do its work sooner or later. It is an absolute fact that lard—simply hog-fat—is indigestible, and that it is not fit for the human stomach.

Cottolene, on the other hand, is made from pure, refined cotton seed oil—a product of nature which is thoroughly palatable, digestible and healthful. No other shortening contains the digestible, nourishing and healthful qualities of Cottolene. Even pie, that nightmare of dyspeptics, becomes easily digestible when made with Cottolene. How many people can eat lard-laden pie?

Ask your regular grocer for a pail of Cottolene and start tomorrow on the way to "lardless cookery." It will insure both for yourself and your family better food, better digestion and better health.

Cottolene shortens your food and lengthens your life.

Try it according to directions for a few weeks and you'll never go back to lard.

COTTOLENE was granted a GRAND PRIZE (highest possible award) over all other cooking fats at the recent Louisiana Purchase Exposition, and food cooked with COTTOLENE another GRAND PRIZE.

"Home Helps" a book of 300 choice recipes, edited by Mrs. Rorer, is yours for a 2 cent stamp, if you address The N. K. Fairbank Company, Chicago.

A NEW FEATURE—The patent air-tight top on this pail is for the purpose of keeping COTTOLENE clean, fresh and wholesome; it also prevents it from absorbing all disagreeable odors of the grocery, such as fish, oil, etc.

Nature's Gift from the Sunny South

Opening the W. & C. R.

General Superintendent J. G. Cutler, of the W. & C. R., returned yesterday from Pendleton, where he had been inspecting the damage done to the company's road by the recent floods. Mr. Cutler left Hunt's Junction Thursday on a work train, but it was necessary for him to walk about 17 miles and drive 20 before he could reach the Oregon end of the line.

A message was received by the superintendent from the foreman in charge of the work crews on the Oregon branch stating that the line would be open today and it is expected that a train will leave Walla Walla for Pendleton this evening over the W. & C. R.

"An Immense Volume of Water"

came down the Yancycle canyon," said Mr. Cutler. "There was more damage done by the debris piled on the track than by washouts. The water came out of the canyon very suddenly and the section men were obliged to take to the hills. One crew got away just in time, but the members of the other crew were not so fortunate. They were compelled to wade to higher ground through muddy water waist deep.

"We are experiencing no trouble with our other lines beyond the inconvenience of the heavy snow, and are making regular connections with the Northern Pacific, which road is running trains practically on schedule time."—Walla Walla Union.
