ON WRONG SCENT

IDAHO PAPER TAKES A FALL OUT OF HEYBURN.

Accuses Him of Dissipating His Energies by Attacking the Wrong Grievance; by Being Blind to Great Wrongs and Very Sollicitous About Minor Ones—Indirectly He is Accused of Playing into the Hands of the Timber Trust—Oregon's History is Cited.

The Idaho City World, in the course of a very lucid article on Forest Reserves vs. Timber Monopolies, says: One important consideration in connection with the timber land question is not grasped in its immensity by Senator Heyburn. That is the acquisition of all the timber land not included in reserves—non-mineral, mineral and agricultural—by timber companies. He admits that frauds have been perpetrated under the timber and stone act, but does not comprehend the extent of these frauds. He states that timber land in a mineral country, or timber land valuable for agriculture is not subject to location under the said act. They cannot be lawfully located, but they are located just the same.

If Senator Heyburn succeeds in obliterating the forest reserves, or prevents further extensions, he will be the cause of more hardships in the state of Idaho, than has been caused in the history of this commonwealth by all evil agencies combined. He will deal a death blow to the mining industry of the state. It will be as if the Almighty had removed every ounce of the valuable metals and minerals from her timber-clad hills and mountains. So long as the timber and stone act stands, the only protection the people will have will be through extension of the forest reserves to cover every acre of timber land not already acquired by the timber monopolies or by the state of Idaho. The rules and regulations of the forestry bureau may not be just what they should be, but if those rules and regulations were made as bad as would be possible under incompetent or vicious administration, these reserves would be better than an absolute monopoly of all the timber land of the state by timber companies.

If Senator Heyburn would fight the timber and stone act to a successful finish and then turn his attention to the evils of the forest reserve system, he will have the hearty commendation of the people of Idaho. The World believes the senator is honest and sincere in his opposition to extension of reserves, but does not know of the designs of the big timber companies. They acquired all the timber land of Michigan, Wisconsin and other northern states and have not left a tree standing that could be cut into lumber at a commercial profit. They have come into Idaho with the same purpose in view. They will acquire every acre of land—mineral and agricultural—will acquire it by fraud and in violation of law as they have done in

MERCURY DOES NOT CURE BLOOD POISON

While Mercury and Potash may mask the disease in the system and cover up the outward symptoms for awhile, they cannot cure Contagious Blood Poison; when the treatment is left off, the disease will return worse than before. Mercury and Potash eat out the delicate lining of the stomach and bowels, produce chronic dyspepsia, cause the teeth to decay, make spongy, tender gums, affect the bones and nerves, and often cause Mercurial Rheumatism, the most hopeless form of this disease. Thousands have taken the mineral treatment faithfully for years to find, when it was left off, that the disease had only been smoldering in the system, and the old symptoms of ulcerated mouth and throat, falling hair, copper-colored spots, swollen glands, sores and ulcers, etc., would return in all their hideousness, and they were no nearer a cure than when they first commenced the treatment. S. S. S. is the only certain, safe and reliable treatment for Contagious Blood Poison. It is the one medicine that is able to go into the blood and cure the disease permanently, and without injury to any part of the system. S. S. S. does not cover up anything, but so completely removes the poison that no trace of it is ever seen again. This medicine will also remove any bad effects left by previous mineral treatment. S. S. S. is made entirely of roots, herbs and barks; we offer a reward of $1,000 for proof that it contains a particle of mineral in any form. Write for our home treatment book, and if you desire special medical advice, our physicians will be glad to furnish it, as well as the book, free of charge.

THE CHILEAN "YAPPA."

It is Similar to the "Laguappe" of New Orleans.

Residents of New Orleans and northern readers of Cable's stories of the city are familiar with the interesting and gracious custom of small tradesmen of giving laguappe. The word, commonly pronounced "lanyap," refers to the small present which the dealers make to their customers as a sort of inducement to call again. The custom is so firmly established that the people are in the habit of waiting for their little present after they have made their purchases, and children ask for it. Mrs. Hort in her book "The Garden of the Pacific" describes a similar custom in Valparaiso. The Chileans, however, call the gift a "yappa," which one readily sees is kindred to the word used in New Orleans.

"I used to frequent the fruit market, which was well stocked. The fresh figs were the largest and sweetest that I had ever seen or tasted, and I made a point of daily bringing some home for breakfast.

"The first time I selected the number which I wanted the girl placed them between leaves in my basket and then laid another half dozen on the top. I supposed that she wished me to buy an extra quantity and shook my head in the negative. She smilingly explained that it was for a yappa. As I had nothing more to pay, I was agreeably impressed by the custom.

"The Chileans exact the yappa as their due. We were in a confectionery shop one day when a small child came in and held up a centavo (halfpenny) for some sweets. The man handed them to her. She held up her other hand and blipped out, 'Mi yappa,' and got it."—New York Globe.

THE SAIS OF EGYPT.

A Warning Buzzer Who Bellows Like a Bull as He Goes.

The saï is a rumber who keeps in front of a carriage and warns common people out of the way and who beats them with a stick if they do not hurry up about it.

It is obvious that to do this he must run quickly. Most men when they run bend their bodies forward and keep their mouths closed in order to save their wind. The saï runs with his shoulders thrown back and trumpeting like an enraged elephant. He holds his long wand at his side like a musket and not trailing in his hand like a walking stick, and he wears a soft shirt of white stuff and a sleeveless coat buried in his loincloth.

He is a perfect ideal of color and movement, and as he runs he bellows like a bull or roars as you have heard a lion roar at feeding times in a menagerie.

There are sometimes two of them running abreast, dressed exactly alike and with the upper part of their bodies as rigid as the wand pressed against their sides and with the ends of their scarf and the long tassel streaming out behind.

As they yell and bellow donkeys and carriages and people scramble out of their way until the carriage they precede has rolled rapidly by. Only princesses of the royal harem and consuls general and the heads of the army of occupation and the Egyptian army are permitted two saï; other people may have one.

When Thackeray Struck.

A letter written by Thackeray to the proprietor of Fraser's Magazine is quoted under the head of "When Thackeray Went on Strike." As a matter of fact, Thackeray, so far from acting on the principle of unionism, acted on precisely the opposite principle and asserted his right to individual preference. "Well," he says, "I dare say you will be very indignant and swear I am the most mercenary of individuals. Not so. But I am a better workman than most of your crew and desire a better price." He ends amiably. "You must not, I repeat, be angry or, because we differ as tradesmen, break off our connection as friends."—London News.

A Barbarous Policy.

After the Dutch had taken the Moluccas from the Portuguese they introduced the cultivation of the clove into their own possessions, cut down all the clove trees of the Moluccas and pronounced death on any one who would plant a single clove bush or gather or sell a pound of the product. Expeditions were sent from their other eastern possessions every year to cut down any bushes that might have accidentally started in the Molucca islands. This barbarous policy made the islands a desert, for, deprived of their forests, the volcanic soil was washed away, and the population starved or was deported.

His Fair Share.

The Chinese always have understood the great art of making the punishment fit the crime. Man or joss, if he offends, gets exactly his deserts. Viceroy Shum, who was anxious to see the end of the heavy rainfalls, was very angry with the guardian joss of Canton, who remained deaf to all prayers to bring about a little sunshine. A Welyuen was dispatched to the temple with orders to uncover the roof over the joss' head and let him have his fair share of the rain.

Logical.

She—I think we should be able to live nicely on $3,000 a year. He—But my salary is only $2,000. She—I know it, dear, but my clothes come to $1,000 a year, and I have enough now to last for the first twelve months.

Woman's Love.

"Which of the two do you think you will love the longest, Peter or Paul?" "The one who will forget me the quickest."—Paris Figaro.

If you see it in the East Oregonian, it's so.

STOMACH TROUBLE CURED WITHOUT DRUGS

Letter Published by Request of Our Well Known Druggists, The Pendleton Drug Co.

To the Editor: Believing that the people of Pendleton will be interested in cures by such a simple remedy, we ask you to publish the following for the good it may do others:

Mr. Thomas G. Wallace, of Detroit, Mich., writes: "After having suffered with a severe stomach trouble for years and trying medicines and doctors without any benefit, I commenced to take Vinol, and I am pleased to state that it has entirely cured me, given me a hearty appetite, and I am stronger and in better health than I have been for years."

A member of the Pendleton Drug Co., in referring to Vinol said: "You see Vinol contains all of the healing and strength creating elements of cod liver oil, but without a drop of the useless oil to upset the stomach and retard its work, and tonic oil added."

"Very few people who suffer with stomach trouble can take other forms of cod liver oil and emulsions or sickening drugs, but Vinol strengthens and tones up the weakened nerves of the digestive organs and enables the sufferer to digest with ease the very foods that once caused distress."

"We ask every person in Pendleton suffering from stomach trouble to try Vinol on our guarantee." The Pendleton Drug Co.

Note.—While we are sole agents for Vinol in Pendleton, it is now for sale at the leading drug store in nearly every town and city in the country. Look for the Vinol agency in your town.

Dissolution Notice.

The firm of Patimont & Dodd, proprietors of the Imperial restaurant of this city, have dissolved partnership, E. L. Dodd continuing the business, will collect all bills and pay all accounts standing against the firm.

"In 1897 I had a stomach disease. Some physicians said Dyspepsia, some Consumption. One said I would not live until spring. For four years I existed on boiled milk, soda biscuits, and doctors' prescriptions. I could not digest anything I ate; then I picked up one of your almanacs, and it happened to be my life-saver. I bought a 50 cent bottle of KODOL and the benefit I received from that bottle all the gold in Georgia could not buy. In two months I went back to my work, as a machinist, and in three months I was well and hearty. May you live long and prosper."—C. N. Cornell, Roding, Ga., 1906. The above is only a sample of the great good that is daily done everywhere by Kodol for Dyspepsia. It is sold here by Tallman & Co.
