250 COWS FOR DAIRY

STATE LINE FARMER TO INSTALL IMMENSE PLANT

Frank Lockwood, who owns a fine farm north of Freewater, will install milking machinery and establish the largest butter and cheese plant in Eastern Oregon or Washington—all cows to be milked by machinery.

To establish the largest dairy in eastern Washington or Oregon with a herd of 250 cows to furnish the nucleus of the raw material to keep a mammoth cheese and butter factory in operation is the plan of Frank Lockwood, the wealthy rancher of the state line district north of Freewater.

Eventually to supply the entire northwest with cheese and other dairy products is Mr. Lockwood's intention and machinery for the big manufacturing plant has been ordered.

For the first time in the history of the state the new milking machine recently patented and now being used with success in the eastern states, will be installed on the Lockwood farm and all the latest improved dairy machinery will be used from the time the cows are milked until the raw material is transformed by a powerful plant into the finished products of commerce.

What the cost of the new enterprise will be is not definitely known, but it will run into the thousands.

Proximity to the electric railway will give the plant the best of facilities for shipping and a lucrative field for trade lies at the very doors of the proposed factory.

If the milking machine comes up to expectations Mr. Lockwood expects to be able to greatly reduce the cost of converting the milk into cheese and he will be able to enter active competition with the large companies at Tillamook and Spokane which are at present supplying the greater part of the demand in the three northwestern states.

The Lockwood company will establish a milk station in Walla Walla after the fashion of other cities and fresh milk will be sent in morning and evening by a special car on the electric line and distributed throughout the city by delivery wagons kept for the purpose. One of the features of the new plan will be absolute cleanliness as practically all of the work will be done by machinery.

SALEM TO PAVE THREE BLOCKS

Contracts Aggregating $23,493 Have Been Let.

Salem will pave, says the Salem Statesman. There is no longer any doubt regarding the inauguration of paving in this city and the movement is destined to grow.

The city council last evening awarded the contract of paving State street with bitulithic pavement to the Warren Construction company.

The improvement is to extend from the east side of Commercial street to the west line of Church street and the work will begin as soon as the contract is signed by the city and the contracting company.

It cannot be ascertained how long a period it will take to terminate the improvement. One of the requirements for fast work is dry weather and when once started the work will be pushed forward with all due dispatch, providing that the weather is propitious.

The contract calls for three blocks of paving at a total cost of $23,493.92. In the three blocks of paving are 8008 square yards, the cost of the paving alone, to be $1.50 per square yard, in addition to the curbs.

Notice to Contractors.

Sealed proposals will be received at the office of T. F. Howard, architect, in the Despain block, up to 12 o'clock noon, of May 2, 1907, for the remodeling of the two-story brick building belonging to Eureka lodge No. 32, I. O. O. F., situated at the northwest corner of Main and Alta streets, in the city of Pendleton, Umatilla county, Oregon.

Plans and specifications for the work will be on exhibition at the office of the architect.

All concrete, cement and stone work will be reserved.

The right is reserved to reject any and all bids for the work.

BABY TORTURED BY ITCHING RASH

Face and Feet Covered—Rest Broken and Would Cry Until Tired Out—"Cradle Cap" Added to Baby's Torture—Tries Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment.

IMMEDIATE RELIEF AND SPEEDY CURE

"My baby was about nine months old when she had rash on her face and feet. Her feet seemed to irritate her most, especially nights. They would cry for to be broken of her rest, and sometimes she would cry until she was tired out. I had always used Cuticura Soap myself, and had heard of so many cures by the Cuticura Remedies that I thought I would give them a trial. The improvement was noticeable in a few hours, and before I had used one box of the Cuticura Ointment her feet were well and have never troubled her since. I also used it to remove what is known as "cradle cap" from her head, and it worked like a charm as it cleansed and healed the scalp at the same time. Now I keep Cuticura Ointment on hand in case of any little rash or insect bites, as it takes out the inflammation at once. Perhaps this may be the means of helping other suffering babies. Mrs. Hattie Currier, Thomas-ton, Mo., June 9, 1906."

Lard has been in existence a long time—so has indigestion

Human nature is hard to solve. People who are most particular about adapting the weight of their wearing apparel to the season and its conditions, who never think of going out in a storm without an umbrella and rubbers, who would not sit in a draft for a farm, will calmly sit at the table and stuff themselves with lard-soaked food and not realize for an instant that it is likely to give them a full-fledged case of indigestion and clog their whole inner machinery.

Lard is produced from hog-fats, sometimes impure, always indigestible, and there's a good day coming when no one will think of using it for cooking. Cottolene is the only rational frying and shortening medium in the world. It is made from refined vegetable oil and choice beef suet—everything about it is digestible and conducive to health.

It is a product of Nature.

It will make pure, palatable, healthful food, and food which anyone can eat and enjoy without the after-pangs of a disordered stomach.

Every good grocer sells Cottolene.

It comes only in sealed white pails with a red label and band. In the center of the label is our trade mark—a steer's head in cotton plant wreath.

Try Cottolene once and you'll nevermore be a friend to lard.

COTTOLENE was granted a GRAND PRIZE (highest possible award) over all other cooking fats at the recent Louisiana Purchase Exposition, and food cooked with COTTOLENE another GRAND PRIZE.

"Home Helps" a book of 300 choice recipes, edited by Mrs. Rorer, is yours for a 2 cent stamp, if you address The N. K. Fairbank Company, Chicago.

A NEW FEATURE—The patent air-tight top on this pail is for the purpose of keeping COTTOLENE clean, fresh and wholesome; it also prevents it from absorbing all disagreeable odors of the grocery, such as fish, oil, etc.
