GREAT SACRIFICES

SELF-POISONING IN THE INTEREST OF HUMANITY

A German Scientist Swallowed Cholera Bacilli to Determine a Mooted Point and Proved That the Alimentary Tract Is Proof Against Them—History of the Discovery of the Anti-Septic Principle, and of the "Yellow Fever Mosquito."

On the 7th day of October, in the year 1892, science witnessed an act of self-devotion which religion and patriotism have indeed often equalled, but which they have never excelled.

There was at that time in Germany a scientist called Max von Pettenkofer. He was one of the founders of the science of hygiene. After a long life given to the study of ventilation, sanitation, and other departments of his specialty, he had become interested in cholera.

The question was whether cholera could be transmitted by its bacilli in the absence of other causes. The only way to settle this question was to perform the experiment. Pettenkofer performed it—on himself.

On the day mentioned, in the presence of witnesses, Pettenkofer swallowed a basophilic liquid containing a large and active "culture" of cholera bacilli. His life, in all probability would have been the penalty which he would have been obliged to pay for the "success" of his experiment. Fortunately, the result was such as to indicate that the little slightly curved organisms of cholera need some assistance in carrying on their work. Pettenkofer survived. He afterward said:

"The cholera liquid tasted like the purest water. Some of my friends were concerned for me, and asked that if I were determined that the experiment should be made that they might be allowed to sacrifice themselves in place of their old teacher. But I wished to act according to the old maxim, Flucto experimentum in corpore vili ('Let experiments be made on bodies that are worthless')."

"I have every right to consider that my body is worthless. I am 74 years old. I have suffered for years from glycosuria. I have not a single tooth left. Even if the experiment took away my life, I should look death calmly in the face. For it would be no thoughtless and cowardly suicide. I should die in the service as a soldier on the field of battle."

"Health and life, as I have often said, are very high earthly gifts, but they are not the highest for man. The man who will stand higher than an animal must be ready to sacrifice even life and health for a higher, ideal good."

Further than Pettenkofer it is, of course, impossible for any one to go. But his spirit is the spirit that Roosevelt seems to be having plenty of trouble to fight off a third term. There is a reason.

Teddy surely is a big factor in national politics. This because of his broad-mindedness and great popularity.

Speaking about popularity, when it comes to men's furnishings and modern clothing—clothing that in style keeps pace with the tick of the clock and is worn by nearly all you meet on the street, then BOND BROS., Pendleton's leading clothiers—the store that does the business—stands side by side with Teddy. There is a reason. Look it up.

GENERAL NEWS.

Secretary Taft refuses to decline to be withdrawn by poor health from the race for the presidency.

Frank E. Wootter, clerk of the municipal and district courts at Milwaukie, Wis., has been found to be short $25,000 in his public accounts.

At Tacoma, W. J. Jones, a book agent, shot Sidney Dundas in the head with a pistol, in the latter's saloon. Dundas will die. Jones then shot himself through the head, dying instantly.

His physicians state that the most critical stage of ex-President Cleveland's illness has passed, although he is a very sick man. His ailment is a combination of stomach and intestinal disorders.

Twenty-seven cars of sheep were brought in from Murphy and shipped to Chicago yesterday. Three cars of horses billed to Turner & Haley of Caldwell, were also brought in and shipped to Atlanta, Georgia.—Nampa Leader.

Street rioting is under way at Lisbon, Portugal, the result of too editorial methods by King Carlos, who has dismissed the parliament because it would not carry out his policies. Troops are out, and rebellion seems to be imminent.

A passenger train on the Baltimore & Ohio Southwestern was cut in two by a falling rock in a tunnel near Mitchell, Ind., June 20, early in the morning. Seventeen persons are reported hurt, four seriously, but there was no loss of life.

At Orlando, Florida, Albert Luebach, a fireman, fell from a 45-foot pole and then rolled down a 10-foot embankment into the road just in time to be run over by a passing automobile, yet he was not seriously hurt by the two accidents.

Roy Thomas, who has received an appointment as ranger in the Mt. Hood district of the Cascades, returned home Saturday to get warmer clothing. He says there is 10 feet of snow yet in the hills where he is stationed.—The Dalles Optimist.

Second Engineer Lane Lewis of Portland, was recently killed by a boiler explosion on the steamer Tanager, on the Yukon. Three other men whose names could not be learned were also killed. James Gilbreath, the chief engineer of the Tanager, was fatally injured, but at last advices was alive.

At Astoria a few days ago, one of the marked salmon that were turned out from the Clackamas river hatchery in 1904, was delivered at the Tallant-Grant Packing company's cannery. It was a chinook and weighed 23 pounds. Two more of the marked fish were caught the day before and reported, but their weight is not known.

Albert Ramm of Crabtree, Lincoln county, shot himself dead with a pistol. He was a farmer 51 years old, and leaves a wife and daughter. Ill-health brought on despondency. Ramm went to Albany and bought a dozen cartridges. He went home, slept well all night, arose and built a fire and then went to a shed and killed himself. When he did not come to breakfast his wife went to look for him and found his body.

At Chicago, James Wardell shot his wife through the head. An hour later he confessed the deed, saying that he and his wife had agreed to a suicide pact and that he supposed she had flunked, when he found her (as he supposed) quietly sleeping.

He owned that his own courage utterly failed him to carry out the agreement to kill himself, and hoped that he would be hung for killing his wife. The most singular development of the affair is that the autopsy disclosed that Mrs. Wardell was unquestionably dead before being shot, as the result of poison which she took to carry out the agreement. Now the problem is, What can be done with Wardell, since he did not murder of his wife?

WOULD HIRE ONLY OLD MEN.

Surgeons Says Minimum Age of Railroad Employees Should be 40.

An Omaha dispatch says: Prevention of wrecks was the principal theme at a meeting today of the operating officials of the Union Pacific railway, who are holding their second annual gathering in this city. Nearly 200 superintendents, assistant superintendents, trainmasters, train dispatchers, road masters and minor officials listened to Dr. A. F. Jonas, chief surgeon, on what was required to secure proper caution to prevent wrecks.

"Brains," said Dr. Jonas, "is what is required. The development of the service through the employment of men with good intellects as well as fixing a high standard of morals will do more to prevent wrecks than any other one thing. I would go Dr. Oiler one better, so far as concerns the railway service, and say that the minimum age at the time of employment should be 40 years."

General Superintendent Park presided at the meeting. The matter of preventing wrecks received a thorough airing. "One of the results of the meeting," said Vice President Mohler, "will be to improve the general make-up of the Union Pacific personnel from the section men up. Our road has always kept its standard very high in this regard, and will continue to improve it along intellectual, physical and moral lines."

Professor William Hull of Chicago University, addressed the railroad officials tonight on the "Education of Railroad Men."

Colic Killed the Horse. The old gray horse driven so long by B. S. Waffle died last night from spasmodic colic, and the old gentleman is intending to replace the animal with a team.

If you see it in the East Oregonian, it's so.

"Stomach Trouble"

Is responsible for more human suffering than all other diseases combined. If people would only guard their stomachs as they do their pocket books Doctors would go out of business"

This is a quotation from L. T. Cooper, the man who has probably met more ailing people than any body else on earth. He has talked with thousands upon thousands of sick folks in almost every large city in the United States, and he ought to know.

MR. THOMAS HAW.

STOP AND THINK

Have you sort of lost ambition? Does your work seem too hard? Are you nervous and out of sorts? Is the sunshine not so bright and the sky not so blue as it used to be? Do you feel tired, tired, tired all the time? In other words, are you just generally run down?

ITS YOUR STOMACH, NOTHING ELSE.

People may tell you otherwise, you may believe you have Kidney or Lung trouble, Liver complaint or many other diseases. You have—because every organ of your body, your entire system is generally "out of whack" when your stomach goes back on you.

YOU CAN PROVE THESE STATEMENTS.

Get a bottle of Cooper's New Discovery. It will cost you a dollar and that dollar will bring you more satisfaction and happiness than any you have spent for many a long day.

HERE IS A LETTER FROM MR. THOMAS HAW, OF GREENFIELD, INDIANA, AFTER TRYING THIS PLAN

The Cooper Medicine Co.,

Gentlemen: "I want to thank you for the great change your famous New Discovery has wrought in my condition during the past few weeks. I had been troubled with awful pains in the region of my stomach. I had good appetite but could not eat much on account of my poor digestion, from which I suffered dreadfully. After eating I felt as if some heavy load was crushing down on my stomach. I lost all ambition and became drowsy and melancholy. I read of the excellent results that were being accomplished with famous Cooper medicines and began a treatment. Now, thanks to its health giving properties every symptom of my trouble has disappeared, I have a good appetite, eat heartily and never suffer any more from indigestion. Your medicines are a God-send to all afflicted with stomach trouble and I wish you success in the good work you are doing.

Thomas Haw, Greenfield, Indiana.

The Biggest Kind of a Change that Ever Happened to Any Magazine Has Happened This Month to

THE SCRAP BOOK

THE SCRAP BOOK for July is issued in two sections—two complete magazines, each with its own cover and its own table of contents. One of these sections is an ALL-ILLUSTRATED magazine; the other is an ALL-FICTION magazine. Each is a mammoth magazine in itself. The one presents an overwhelming array of human interest articles and illustrations; the other an enormous tonnage of fiction—160 pages of absorbing stories.

Ten years ago I created a new type of magazine—the ALL-FICTION magazine. Now I am creating another distinct type—the ALL-ILLUSTRATED magazine. This is the age of specialization. The conventional magazine, with its smattering of illustrations and its smattering of special articles, doesn't contain enough of any one thing to make it satisfying. The ALL-FICTION magazine and the ALL-ILLUSTRATED magazine, joined together as a unit, strengthen each other, and make something really big and forceful and convincing.

The Only Way to Know a Thing is to Try It

The two-section magazine idea is brand-new to the world. It is not quite new with me, however, as I have given it, at odd times, four or five years of thought. It first came into my mind in response to a desire to couple, in some way, the strength of the all-fiction magazine with the illustrated features of the conventional magazine. It has been a difficult problem to work out. Now that the idea is perfected, I wish to see what there is in it. It looks to me to be very good, but the only way to know a thing is to try it.

Two Magazines for a Quarter—Easy Money

The price of this two-part magazine is twenty-five cents, which is equal to twelve and one-half cents a magazine. Most magazines which were selling at ten cents have been advanced to fifteen cents. THE SCRAP BOOK in two parts means two magazines for twenty-five cents against thirty cents for two fifteen cent magazines.
