WATER SITUATION IS NOW SERIOUS

SCARCITY HAS BECOME A DAILY AND LIVE ISSUE

Not Enough Water for Irrigation and Fire Protection, and the Strictest Economy Has Become Imperatively Necessary—The People Believe Pumping Facilities Should be Increased and the Reservoir Kept Full: Danger from Fire Demands It

The water situation in this city is now more serious than it has ever been and there is a general demand from owners of business property and homes in all parts of the city that something be done to remedy the matter.

Never before in Pendleton has water been as scarce as now, and while it is not the desire of the people or the press to advertise the matter, yet it is evident that something must be done to bring the water commission to realize and appreciate the situation.

There was but two feet of water in the city reservoir this morning at 8 o'clock when there should have been at least seven or eight feet to furnish an adequate supply for irrigation and fire protection. The pressure in all parts of the city has been very low for the past week, and in the higher residence districts on either hill it has been impossible to irrigate owing to the low pressure.

Lawns are actually suffering for water and the only way in which many residents secure water for irrigating purposes at all is to get up at 2 and 3 o'clock in the morning and irrigate while the town is asleep. This is a most unsatisfactory condition and residents in all parts of the city are complaining.

The sentiment of the people is that the pumping facilities should be increased and the reservoir kept full at all times. This is due the city not only for irrigating purposes, but for fire protection. The pressure from the reservoir is not sufficient to form adequate fire protection and there is a general demand from property owners in the business section that conditions be improved, even though it be at considerable expense.

The people on the north side of the river have experienced more difficulty this season in securing water than ever before and for many days at a time have been unable to irrigate at all, while water for kitchen use has been scarce at times. Many valuable homes and much city property are thus exposed to danger from fire needlessly and some decisive action will be demanded soon if conditions are not improved.

No Water in River.

The water in the Umatilla river is very low and it is doubtful that a sufficient supply could be secured even with more pumping facilities. The pipe line from which the city supply is drawn will be extended several hundred feet further up the river bed in hopes of securing an additional water supply, but even this is a temporary relief and will answer for only a few weeks when the situation will be as bad as at present.

The Hyera mill race is full of water but that does not belong to the people of Pendleton and is not available for city uses it seems except upon an extreme emergency.

A canvass of public opinion on the subject this morning shows that business men and home owners favor the construction of a gravity system of water from the mountains, no matter what the cost.

WASHINGTON FRUIT.

Evergreen State Has 3,722,105 Grow-Apple Trees.

The fifth biennial report of the state commissioner of horticulture, F. A. Huntley, is now being distributed, says a Walla Walla paper. It makes a pamphlet of 24 pages, with tabulated statements of fruit products in various counties, a list of licensed nurserymen and agents, and other facts pertaining to the horticulture of the state.

Yakima county led in fruit shipments during 1906 with 427,089 boxes of apples, 38,682 boxes of pears, 319,068 boxes of peaches, 42,500 boxes of cherries, 18,399 boxes of plums and prunes, and 22,000 crates of berries.

Chelan county had 198,544 boxes of apples, 16,980 of pears, 152,400 of peaches, 20,400 of cherries.

Pierce shipped 23,630 boxes of apples, 13,504 of pears, 5,060 of cherries, 14,680 of plums and prunes, and 65,885 crates of berries.

In the orchards of the state there were growing last year 3,722,105 apple trees, 500,663 pears, 6988 quince, 746,956 peach, 243,459 cherry, 949,399 plums and prunes, 30,689 apricot, 15,185 almond and 23,862 English walnut.

Mr. Huntley reports that the inspection service in a few counties has been highly efficient. Public sentiment generally favors cleaner orchards, healthier nursery stock, and a more rigid inspection service to attain such ends.

RAILROAD MEN ARE ORGANIZING

EMPLOYEES TIRED OF PROMISES IN WASHINGTON

Failure of Fellow Servant Law the Cause of Solid Anti-Railroad Organization of Employees—Railroad Politicians and Officials Have Killed the Favorite Measure of the Employees in Five Consecutive Sessions of the Legislature.

Political organizers are working among the railroad employees of this state to line them up in a solid voting machine and to use them in opposition to the railroad program, says a Seattle dispatch to the Oregonian. The movement started in Tacoma, but the story of the program has been spread among trainmen in most parts of the state by that time.

The railroad employees only asked for two pieces of legislation from the last session. They secured the passage of the 15-hour bill, but the senate defeated the fellow-servant measure, which the railroad men wanted.

As a matter of fact the bill was beaten by the lumbermill and manufacturing interests, but as the railroads are not paying much attention to other remedial legislation the employees have obtained in the past the men are being urged to organize against the lines to handle their own political fight next time, and to take revenge for their long series of defeats.

As long ago as 1898 the railroads promised the employees a fellow-servant bill. Five legislative sessions have passed without the bill, and the employees are "sore." It is declared in addition that the railroads are not obeying the laws intended to protect the life and health of their men. The reports of Track and Equipment Inspector Perley to the state railroad commission tend to confirm this claim.

In the past, the railroad employees have always voted solidly with roads and against any plan that threatened to injure their employers. The men have taken the position that their interests were closely allied with the roads themselves, and have been a dependable quantity. The failure of the railroads to reciprocate in obeying the new protective statutes is claimed to be responsible for the new political organization.

SECOND DAY AT SEASIDE CAMP

DEVOTED TO DRILLS WITH PARADE IN THE EVENING

Camp Duties and Close Order Drill the Principal Lines of Instruction—Social Features are of Growing Importance—Camp Is Still "Open" With Few Restrictions Imposed—Militia Fought Fire in Seaside—Pendleton Company Won at Baseball With Portland.

Seaside, Ore., July 10.—With dry, though cloudy, weather the second day of the Oregon national guard has passed very pleasantly. Lake yesterday the day has been devoted to company and battalion drill, mostly in close order, with regimental parade in the evening. Adjutant General W. E. Finzer acted as reviewing officer today. It is now understood that most of the encampment will be devoted to instruction in camp duties and close order drill, of which the guard has had but little during the years of the maneuvers at American Lake.

Tomorrow afternoon and evening the officers, both regular and guard, stationed at Fort Henry, will be the guests of the officers of the Third regiment at the camp here. Captain Kern of Company L was named by the colonel as one of a committee of five to prepare for the entertainment of the visiting officers. On Friday afternoon the Third regiment officers will return the call, visiting Fort Stevens during the afternoon. All officers of the regiment have been invited to attend a banquet to be tendered Vice President Fairbanks at Seaside on his arrival here.

Owing to the excellent behavior of the men the camp is still open, all being allowed to leave at will, though required to be present for all drills and formations.

First Lieut. Smythe of Company L, is the commander of the guard today.

Last evening a fire broke out in the Seaside laundry and a group of Company L men acted as volunteer firemen and taking out a hose cart extinguished the blaze before the arrival of the fire department.

This afternoon Company L again won honors by defeating Company E of Portland, in a ball game on the Seaside diamond. The game was an easy one for the Pendleton team, the score being 11 to 3 for a seven inning game. The following was the lineup of the Pendleton team: Baker, c; Lorimer, p; Hoover, 1b; Marsh, 2b; Greiner, 3b; Drake, ss; Turner, lf; Sturgis, cf, and Shaw, rf.

Among the members of the company, as well as the entire regiment, there is a general feeling of satisfaction over the encampment and the outing is being thoroughly enjoyed. With the daily drills the company is rapidly getting into proper shape, and aside from being the largest company here has also been complimented by the officers of the regiment upon the good personnel of the men.

Under N. P. Schedule.

The train and engine crews of the W. & C. R. are now under the regular main line wage and service schedule of the Northern Pacific and are delighted with the change. They formerly worked without a schedule with the W. & C. R. and at the time of the transfer of that line to the Northern Pacific were considering the matter of asking for a schedule and perhaps a raise in wages, but the transfer to the Northern Pacific obviated this.

Will Rinehart Here.

Will Rinehart, formerly employed in the First National bank, is in the city for a few days from his home in San Francisco. He will go to Lehigh springs for a few days, after which he expects to visit Tacoma before returning to his home. He left here two years ago after a number of years' residence.

SCIENCE PREVENTS BALDNESS.

The Fatal Germ and Its Remedy Now Facts of Science.

It is the rarest thing in the world for a man to be necessarily bald. No man whose hair is not dead at the roots, need be bald if he will use Newbro's Herpicide, the new scalp antiseptic. Herpicide destroys the germ that cuts the hair off at the root; and cleans the scalp of dandruff and leaves it in a perfectly healthy condition. Mr. Mannett, in the Maryland Block, Butte, Mont., was entirely bald. In less than a month Herpicide had removed the enemies of hair growth, and nature did its work by covering his head with thick hair an inch long, and in six weeks he had a normal suit of hair. Sold by leading druggists. Send 30c in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich. Two sizes—50 cents and $1.00. A. C. Koeppen & Bros.
