IMPRESISTIBLE and Gossard CORSETS

They Lace In Front
The single fact that they lace in front makes them superior to all other corsets. The principle of construction is right—right for grace—right for health—right for style.

"They Lace In Front"

Never has an artistic innovation in dress received a warmer, more cordial welcome from well-gowned women, than has these Corsets. Said one of our best known society women: "I must have one of those. It gives one a really queenly presence."

"A queenly presence!" What woman does not aspire to that state of being—for it is a state of being, not mere stature or proportion of physique! The aspiration is achieved by the wearer of the "Gossard" Corset, for it gives the consciousness of appearing at one's best; it gives the perfect poise of figure, the feeling of security, the unruffled composure and the happy peace of mind which, radiating to encompass all beholders, marks the serene, the queenly presence.

"Clothes do not make the man." May be not. But assuredly "Figure makes the woman," and the "Gossard" Corset makes the figure. Beauty of face counts but little if combined with an ill-proportioned figure and awkward carriage.

The best dressmakers concede this by refusing to fit a dress over any other corset.

We claim, without fear of dispute, for the "Gossard" Corset that it gives the "sculptured back," reduces and molds abnormal hips; raises and supports the abdomen; reduces the waist measure; gives length to the waist line; leaves the stomach free and beautifully rounds the bust and "It laces in front." It means beauty, health, comfort to the woman who wears it.

They Lace In Front
These corsets sell at the reasonable price of $5 and up. Economical women will find that one Gossard corset at $5 is actually cheaper than 5 ordinary corsets at $2 each.

WHAT IT COSTS TO RUN SEATTLE.

Engineering Department Wants $2,748,480 for 1908.

The estimates of the cost of running the city engineering department for the year 1908 were filed with Comptroller Carroll this morning says the Seattle Star. The total is $2,748,484.90. The department was allowed only $883,000 for 1907.

The increased cost estimated by Engineer Thomson is due to the fact that the department contemplates the expenditure of $1,179,532 on the extension of the water system alone, during the coming year. The extension of the lighting system and the improvement of streets in the newly annexed suburbs will make the running expenses greater than those of this year.

The following are some of the items of expense in the estimates: Salaries, $367,000; expenses and supplies for the department, $30,800; franchise department, $8550; building inspection, $19,225; maintenance of city buildings and wharves, $38,760; maintenance of refuse destructor, $17,540; construction of city stables, $153,500; completion of municipal building, $275,000; erection and maintenance of asphalt plant, $101,250; street extension, $194,100; water department, $1,179,532.

With the filing of Engineer Thomson's estimate, all the estimates of city departments are ready for the finance committee, which will tomorrow begin work of apportioning the allowance for each department and fixing the tax levy for the coming year.

When a Spokane school girl was required to write an essay of 250 words about an automobile, she submitted the following: My uncle bought an automobile. He was riding out in the country when it busted going up a hill. I guess this is about 50 words. The other 200 are what my uncle when he was walking back to town but they are not fit for publication.—Ex.

THIRD OPENING OF LOLO TRAIL

HISTORIC HIGHWAY OVER THE BITTER ROOTS

General O. O. Howard Opened Up and Widened the Lolo Trail at a Cost of $62,000—Forest Service Is Now Engaged in Further Improving and Widening the Old Trail.

The forest reserve force that have been engaged during the summer in the work of clearing out the old Lolo trail and widening it to its original width of 20 feet have returned from the field for the winter, says the Lewiston Tribune. The force will go out again in the spring and it is believed the work can be entirely completed by next fall.

When this work is finished it will be the third time the trail has been cleared out and widened. There is a general impression that the only time the trail has been worked was upon the occasion of General Howard's chase after Chief Joseph, who retreated over the trail into Montana during the Nez Perce war.

Howard at that time improved the trail for the accommodation of his forces, but the trail was first given attention in the way of improvement in 1866 when the government made an appropriation of $80,000 for the work.

The work was placed under control of Lieutenant Nichols of the U. S. army, and cost $62,000. The balance of the funds, $18,000, was returned to the treasury and this fact at the time caused expressions of general surprise throughout the country for in those days it was not the custom to return any money to Uncle Sam that had been set aside for western contracts.

The original starting point of the historic trail was at Kamiah and it followed the high ridges through the Bitter Root mountain country to Montana, the Montana end being at the mouth of Lolo creek in the Bitter Root valley. The divide was crossed at what is known as Lolo pass.

In the early days of the placer stampede the trail was the highway for the thousands of miners who were then exploring this section of the west. Lieutenant Nichols placed the trail on an easy grade by avoiding the steep climbs that had been taken by the Indians and the forest reserve people are following out the same plan.

With the work now receiving attention completed, it is very probable that the trail will prove attractive for the hundreds of people of this section who annually go into the mountains for a summer outing. It will afford convenient access to one of the wildest and most picturesque regions in all the west.

Following the higher mountain ranges from the trail grand views are afforded, while it traverses a big game country and hundreds of trout streams. The trail is over one hundred miles in length. About 50 miles were cleared out by the forest reserve men; the summer just closed.

GOLD ON TRAIL CREEK.

Pilot Rock Men Relocate an Old Prospect.

The Granite Gem says of the relocation of the Trail creek gold prospects, recently, by Pilot Rock people:

A number of years ago very rich float was found on Trail creek north of Granite, and since that time many prospectors have labored hard hunting for the ledge which threw off the float.

The hunt for the ledge had about been given up as a losing proposition till this summer. W. A. Gilliam, Wm. Glenn and H. G. Casteel of Pilot Rock tried their luck in the search and seem to have been quite successful.

Of course, it is yet too early to determine the full value of their discovery, but there is every indication that it will prove a rich one. They have located three claims on their find which they have named the Three Links group, and are now on the ground opening the ledge.

So far very rich ore has been encountered, some of which can be seen in the Gem's cabinet. Assays have been made from the ore as high as $1300 to the ton, but the usual values obtained are from $60 to $80 per ton.

If the owners are successful in their endeavor to open a sufficient body of the ore to justify, the Three Links group may soon become a producer shipping to the Sumpter smelter.

It is a base ore running about $20 gold to the ton and the remainder silver. It also carries a percentage of lead and copper.
