This magnificent obelisk at the site of A.P. Woodward, the noted Indian fighter, is being erected at the mouth of Umatilla river, opposite the town of Pendleton, by O. E. G. Matthews, editor of the Pendleton Morning Star.

It is to be erected in his honor, as a tribute to his memory, by those who knew him and revered his valor. The monument stands on a point overlooking the river, and will be approximately fifteen feet high. It is to be made of granite, and will be inscribed with the following words:

"In memory of A. P. Woodward, Indian fighter and scout."

There is no question as to the memory of A. P. Woodward in the minds of those who knew him and esteemed his qualities. He was a man of great courage and determination, and his valor was proverbial.

The monument will be dedicated on the 25th of May, and will be open to the public at that time. The day is set aside for the purpose of paying tribute to A. P. Woodward, and of remembering his valor and his great service to his country.

The monument will be a lasting memorial to A. P. Woodward, and will serve as a reminder of his valor and his great service to his country.
