DISAGREES WITH LOWELL.

George Melvin Fuller of Eugene on State Politics.

George Melvin Fuller of Eugene, takes issue with Judge S. A. Lowell of this city on Statement No. 1 in a communication to the Portland Oregonian as follows:

Since Judge Lowell of Pendleton, is considered one of the brainiest republicans of the state, his argument contained in a communication to the Oregonian of recent date, in opposition to Statement No. 1 will be given serious consideration by prospective candidates and voters.

There are others who think they are good republicans, who will disagree with Judge Lowell as to the merits of what he terms "a chimera--an excrescence upon the primary law." There are good republicans in this state who believe the republican party should still be still further "purified by fire." These republicans will stand by Statement No. 1 until the last member of the old and corrupt political ring is buried in oblivion.

What matters if this "chimera" does threaten the election of a democrat to the United States senate from Oregon? Let the republican party put up men for office whose records are pure and with unquestioned ability and no such danger will appear. Statement No. 1 was not designed to favor politicians; therefore Judge Lowell or others will not convince the people of its defects by calling it names and appealing for political organization.

I am a republican, I hope, having voted that ticket for 34 years, but I believe the interests of the people should be considered before the welfare of party.

If the use of Statement No. 1 has done no greater harm than disorganizing the republican party in Oregon its merits certainly far outweigh its demerits. It has put Oregon in the lead of a political reform that bids fair to sweep over every state of the union. It has landed an Oregon senator, in the Gridiron club, and in many ways given the state unusual distinction. It was Statement No. 1 and not the primary law that enable our legislature to elect a senator on the first ballot with decency and dispatch.

ELKS' BALL TONIGHT.

Hall Presents Most Inviting Appearance for Happy Gathering.

Tonight the Pendleton Elks will give their long anticipated dancing party and it promises to be the finest fraternal social event that ever occurred in the city. In preparation for the occasion the hall, banquet room and balcony have been appropriately decorated. In the center of the dancing room there will be a big mounted elk surrounded with evergreens, while palms and other plants will adorn other portions of the hall. The orchestra will be screened off with a light curtain bearing in big letters the initials of the order, B. P. O. E.

The banquet room has been made into an evergreen forest, and lighted with Chinese lanterns, will present a pleasant and novel appearance. Small tables will be scattered throughout the forest and at these refreshments will be served during the evening, while music will be dispensed from a stage in one corner. G. M. Carey, manager of the St. George restaurant, will have charge of the room and the service will be by a dining car crew from the Spokane-Pendleton passenger.

In preparing for the big event tonight the Elks have spared neither labor nor expense. The committee having charge of the affair is composed of J. R. Raley, Mark Moorhouse and Paul Sperry, while C. J. Ferguson, exalted ruler, has also been assisting.

Music for the dance will be furnished by Johnson's orchestra of 10 pieces. The affair tonight is exclusively for Elks and their ladies and all members of the antlered herd in the city and surrounding places are preparing to attend.

SMALL BLAZE AT RICE HOME.

Extinguished With Lawn Hose Before Department Locates the Fire.

A blaze that was hard for the fire department to locate occurred this forenoon. It was in the basement of G. M. Rice's home on South Garden street and was extinguished by Mrs. Rice while the two central companies were flying on a "wild goose" chase to Thompson street.

Just how the fire became started is not known, but it is believed the little Rice boy carried a burning stick of wood into the basement. The flames set some paper and excelsior on fire and also charred a few pieces of wood. The blaze was extinguished by Mrs. Rice with the aid of the garden hose.

Through a mistake the location of the fire was 'phoned to the police station as on Thompson street, and both companies hurried in that direction. By the time the real location of the conflagration was discovered the thing was over with.

THEATER IS IMPROVED.

Oregon Has New Curtain--Will Be Made Roof Garden for Summer.

Another valuable improvement to the Oregon theater has been made in the form of a new curtain. It is something that was planned by the Streeter-Bryan people when they first took the house and now that it is duly installed there is little left to remind one of the old Fraser theater. The new curtain is artistically arranged and being clean and new affords a pleasant change from the old one that did service so long.

Other improvements in the playhouse are being planned by the Streeter-Bryan company and one of the biggest things in view is the conversion of the theater into a roof garden for the summer months.
