TIM DAVENPORT UPHOLDS PRIMARY LAW

T. W. Davenport, of Silverton, father of the cartoonist, Homer Davenport, and a keen and far-seeing politician, writes as follows of the old methods of nominating candidates for office. Following is a portion of an excellent article in the last week's Silverton Appeal:

It is asserted by persons opposed to the direct primary law, that it costs the people $50,000 more than the old way.

This I must consider a baseless assumption, for although the cost of the direct primary is pretty well determined, the cost to the commonwealth of the old system was never known or could be known; then how can it be shown that there is a difference of $50,000?

Now, notwithstanding the fact that one can be estimated in dollars and cents, and the other is incomputable in like denominations, I think there is no difficulty in comparing the two systems and arriving at an undoubted conclusion that the old system is far more expensive than the new one.

And to begin, the loss of time to the people in the work of the direct primary is no greater than the other; so that is even. Then comes the county and state conventions which are supplanted by the new method, and their cost eliminated.

There are 32 counties in the state and the cost of holding that many conventions and a state convention, composed of not less than 100 delegates each, in all probably as many as 5000 persons, paying board, traveling expenses and other incidentals, aggregating—how much less than $50,000? which somebody has to pay and the question is, who pays the bill? The political party? No, verily! The delegates pay it at the time, but how do they get even?

Or are they self-sacrificing parties working to establish their principles for the common good? Not on your life. They are aspirants to office or working for those who are, and expect remuneration in some way at some time not far ahead. They constitute a prospective army of invasion, upon the commonwealth, as everybody knows.

That such an army has been sustained at public expense for the last 50 years is as evident as any other human fact, for armies without pay or the prospect of pay, soon disband. If American politics had not paid its votaries it would not have required any direct primary or other law to end it.

Politics, as foreigners truthfully describe it, is the great American industry.

But to proceed; the candidates for office have been selected, and now the work of assessment begins. Members of the lower house of the legislature are assessed $20 apiece; senators $40. To pay convention expenses? No; the money goes into the party fund to be spent by the managers, who never explain how or what or to whom it is disbursed—a wholly unnecessary proceeding, as they are all honorable men.

The members of the legislature receive a per diem of $3 for 40 days—$120—and out of this come their board and wash bills, so that their assessment amounts to nearly half the remainder.

As they cannot avoid the assessment and be partisans, the question arises, is this system conducive to the practice of economy in their legislative career?

Does it incline them to refuse a railroad pass, get along without abundance of clerks, refuse newspapers, codes, court reports, or any other convenient thing they have the power to get by a vote. Men of common sense know how to give correct answers to all such questions.

And when there is a U. S. senatorial election pending there is an eminent opportunity to recoup themselves for past expenses in partisan service, and does average human nature stand modestly back from grasping it by the handle, and coming out with a "qui pro quo," either for himself or some member of his family? Experienced men can answer this too.

I asked a certain state senator from Linn county this question: "Captain, for whom are you going to vote for U. S. senator?" He instantly replied, "for the man who will do the most for Humphrey." This was in 1882, and as he voted for Mitchell, I inferred that candidate made the highest bid.

No Use to Die.

"I have found out that there is no use to die of lung trouble as long as you can get Dr. King's New Discovery," says Mrs. J. P. White, of Rushboro, Pa. "I would not be alive today only for that wonderful medicine. It loosens up a cough quicker than anything else, and cures lung diseases." This most reliable remedy for coughs and colds, la grippe, asthma, bronchitis and hoarseness, is sold under guarantee at Tallman & Co.'s drug store, 50c and $1.00. Trial bottle free.

Yakima Valley Flockmasters Prepare for Spring Work.

Active preparations for the spring work in sheep shearing are being made at various places down the valley by the larger stockmen and the work of removing the fleeces will begin in a very short time now, says the Yakima Republic.

At Kiona, Fryor & Son have a hand shearing outfit on the ground which will operate on some 6000 or 8000 sheep. At Prosser the Wright company has another outfit which will shear 6000 or more. At Outlook a machine shearing outfit is being set up which will remove the wool from various bands of mutton sheep, probably starting in right away with some 1500 head for the Fryor-Bruhn company of Seattle. Mr. Blatchley will have the Outlook plant and will operate it on bands of his own and of other owners as well.

Flock Increases Large.

Coffin Bros., that is, the Wenner Sheep company, has 6000 ewes at Kennewick which have been lambing on hay and grain. The season has been an extraordinary one in every respect and Stanley Coffin reports an exceptionally good lambing. They marked up from 110 to 130 per cent, averaging 120 per cent increase, and as the lambs are all February born and from Lincoln bucks they are an exceptionally good, early and strong stock.

At Kiona 2500 ewes, the property of James Butler, have also just passed through a successful lambing period with a better than average increase. Coffin Bros. will shear 6000 sheep at Kennewick April 1.

P. H. S. STUDENTS LOYAL TO U. OF O.

ADOPT RESOLUTIONS ENDORSING APPROPRIATION

Student Body in Meeting Yesterday Unanimously Pass Resolutions Favoring Appropriation to Be Voted on—Work of University Continuation of Secondary Schools—Needs Hearty Support to Compete With Other Institutions.

That the students of the Pendleton high school are loyal to the University of Oregon was shown yesterday afternoon when a stirring resolution endorsing the university appropriation was passed by the student body. The following is the resolution in full:

Whereas, The work of the U. of O. is but a continuation of that prescribed for the high schools of the state, and believing that it should be given the same or even greater support than the secondary schools are now receiving, and knowing that it has always been customary for the majority of the members of the graduating classes of the high schools to attend the U. of O. in preference to other institutions of the state, and

Whereas, The earnest support of the U. of O. is needed to encourage more students to seek and enjoy higher education, and believing that in order to compete with the educational institutions of other states of the west and northwest, which are now receiving appropriations varying from $200,000 to $600,000 annually, and

Whereas, The status and progress of a state is measured largely by the standard of its educational institutions and the support given thereto, and knowing that if the appropriation made by the last session of the legislature for the operation and maintenance is rejected by the voters of the state at the coming June election that the work of the U. of O. will have to be discontinued, be it

Resolved, That we, the associated students of the Pendleton high school, take a firm stand for the U. of O. and deplore any attempt to hold up or limit the appropriation and that we exert such power and influence as we may have to encourage the voters of the state to give the university their hearty support and that we solicit the co-operation and support of the other high schools throughout the state in our endeavor to uphold the standard of the U. of O., and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be spread upon the minutes, a copy be published in the Hakawain, and a copy be forwarded the president of the associated students of the University of Oregon.

Wiley Advises Use of Whiskey. "Old Borax" Wiley may find himself boomed for president by the whiskeyites. In a recent speech he said: "While alcohol is bad for the human system, whiskey is exceedingly good for the alimentary secretions, the constituent matters that go to make up the product overcoming the bad effect of the alcohol in it. A man should be allowed to take a drink when so disposed." In these prohibition times that's surely saying gone.—Eugene Guard.

NO MORE CATARRH.

Tallman & Co. Will Not Allow It to Exist in Pendleton.

"There will be no more catarrh in Pendleton," say Tallman & Co., "unless people fail to follow the low of common sense."

Tallman & Co. make this statement because of the great success that has followed the use of Hyomel in the treatment of catarrhal troubles. So positive is this treatment in quick relief and permanent cure that they sell it under an absolute guarantee to refund the money if it does not do all that is claimed for it.

It follows nature's plan in curing diseases of the throat and lungs by bringing healing medication right to the very spot where the disease germs exist. With this treatment, health-giving oils and balms are breathed through a neat pocket inhaler that comes with every outfit, so that every breath you take while using Hyomel is a breath of healing air. It kills all catarrhal germs and prevents their growth, so that the cure is thorough and permanent.

Remember that Hyomel is sold under a guarantee to cost nothing unless it cures. If you have any catarrhal trouble, you should take advantage of Tallman & Co.'s liberal offer.
