Lard Laden Stomachs

"Necessity" is the mother of invention. Lard is the father of indigestion.

More than half the indigestion in the country to-day is directly attributable to greasy, indigestible food prepared with lard.

Cottolene is the original anti-lard product. It was the first, and it is the best. It is purer, more healthful, and will give better results than any other shortening medium.

Just as the original is always better than the imitation, Cottolene is superior to its imitators. Ask your grocer for Cottolene, and see that our trade-mark, a steer's head in a cotton-plant wreath, appears on the pail.

Cottolene is never sold in bulk; therefore, is a cleanly product, absolutely protected from all the odors and dust to which lard is usually exposed in the ordinary grocery store.

Nature's Gift from the Sunny South

EUROPE NEEDS AMERICAN GRAIN

FOREIGN PURCHASES HAVE DOUBLED IN 20 YEARS

Annual Requirement of Wheat in Europe Is 475,000,000 Bushels—United States and Canada Furnished 193,260,000 Bushels of This Amount—All Prices Have Advanced.

According to special reports to the bureau of statistics of the department of agriculture, Europe has increased its average purchases of foreign wheat during the last 20 years more than 100,000,000 bushels, or about 80 per cent and has doubled its annual purchases of corn.

The annual requirement of wheat from foreign sources are now 190,000,000 bushels a year more than they were 20 years ago, this mostly in northwestern Europe. For the year ending July 31, 1907, all Europe purchased 475,000,000 bushels of foreign wheat and flour (reduced to wheat) of which the United States and Canada furnished 193,264,000 bushels.

To meet foreign buyers on a parity with other producing nations, the grain producers, dealers and exporters of the United States have now the same "futures" system as other continents.

The practical workings of this system was explained to a prominent member of congress from Illinois thus: A Glasgow miller buys 100,000 bushels of wheat in San Francisco, say at $1 per bushel. To protect, or in popular phrase, "t hedge" his San Francisco purchase during the time the wheat is in transit to the port of Glasgow, he sells the same quantity of wheat in the Chicago or other leading market at relatively the same price which he paid for the 100,000 bushels of wheat in San Francisco.

If the market during his "in transit" period advances 10 cents per bushel, the San Francisco purchase price is all the while maintained as a basis upon which he can make his sale of flour in Glasgow—therefore, I think the statement is absolutely true "that he can sell the flour on the basis of the price at which he bought it in San Francisco.

The fall in prices of articles imported and the advance in prices of articles exported, which form a marked characteristic of the January price statement of the bureau of statistics of the department of commerce and labor, is equally apparent in the February figures of that bureau, which have just made their appearance.

In nearly all of the important articles imported for use in manufacturing prices show a marked decline in February, 1908, when compared with the corresponding month of the preceding year.

COST OF ADVERTISING.

Present Age Recognizes the Ad as the Great Trade Getter.

New York, April 16.—Advertisements in the United States have a circulation of more than a quadrillion readers annually and the national bill for advertising, according to figures collected by Appleton's magazine, reaches the enormous sum of $600,000,000. The paper upon which these advertisements are printed would cover all the New England states and part of New York, while the ink used would make a lake large enough to float the fleet which is now in the Pacific.

Newspapers alone, according to these statistics, receive nearly $200,000,000 annually for advertising, while monthly periodicals, whose development is peculiarly American, print every year 30 times the equavalent of the contents of the bible and all the dramas of Shakespears combined.

The present year marks the fortieth anniversary of magazine advertising which is much younger than newspaper advertising. It was in 1868 according to the Appleton article that magazine advertising first received any serious attention, and even after that date editors for years strenuously objected to having space in what they held to be purely "literary publications" encroached upon by advertising. Today a magazine without advertising could hardly exit.

The first magazine advertisement, it is recorded, appeared in a Philadelphia publication, and curiously enough was prepared particularly to reach women, the originator of the whole tremendous fabric as is exists today being inspired by one line of a jingle commenting on the proclivities of the fair sex to the effect that they were the ones who spent the money.

While a classification of all kinds of "ads" and their number would be a herculean task, it is certain that the want ads of the daily paper lead all others in its own peculiar field, the number of this latter day development for reaching the purchasing public running far into the billions.

In this fact and in the wonderful growth of magazine advertising in the last four decades is found more than sufficient proof of the right of Americans to the title of the greatest advertisers on earth.

CLEARING HOUSE AT YAKIMA.

First Day's Clearing Amounted to $35,000.

The North Yakima clearing house opened Monday at 11:30, says the Yakima Republic. At that time the clearings of the associated banks were made, totaling the neat amount of $35,17.88. Tuesday is generally considered among the bankers to be the lightest day of the week, and the clearings of today are not up to what they will be as a rule.

The bankers and all interested are greatly pleased with the work accomplished thus far. At a meeting held recently H. C. Lucas of the Yakima Trust company was elected manager, George Donald of the Yakima National bank is president. W. L. Steinwig of the First National bank is vice-president and C. R. Heath of the Valley bank is secretary and treasurer. The association is composed of the four banks above mentioned.

Clearings Made Daily.

Clearings will be made each day at 11:30. Merchants and all business men unite in declaring the clearing house system the best barometer of prosperity. The fact that a clearing house is established here and in operation will cause North Yakima to be classed with such cities as Spokane, Seatle, Tacoma and other money centers. Wherever there is a money center of any importance there is also a clearing house because the work is facilitated greatly.

Lawyers Agree on Prices.

The bar association tonight adopted a uniform schedule of prices to be charged in the justice court, in the district court and for appealed cases, says a Coeur d'Alene item. Attorneys seen after the meeting refused to give out the figures decided upon, but it is understood that the least charge of any case will be $2. Heretofore the charge for a consultation alone has been from 50 cents to $5. All the attorneys are in the association. The lawyers also took up the matter of having fewer precincts, all agreeing that there are now too many. The date of the banquet to county attorneys, the district judge and visitors was set for April 25.

Babes as Bait.

"Wot do ye think," said the sailor, "of usin' live babies for bait? We done it in Ceylon."

"Babies for bait? Fishing for shark?"

"No. Crocodile. Baby bait is the only thing for crocodile, and everybody uses it. Ye rent a baby down there for half a dollar a day. Of course," the sailor went on, "the thing ain't as cruel as it sounds. No harm ever comes to the babies, or else, o' course, their mothers wouldn't rent 'em. The kid is simply sot on the soft mud bank of a crocodile stream and the hunter lays hid near him, a sure pertection. The crocodile is lazy. He basks in the sun in m'dstream. Nothin' will draw him in to shore where ye can pot him. But set a little fat naked baby on the bank and the crocodile soon rouses up. In he comes, a greedy look in his dull eyes, and then ye open fire. I have got as many as four crocodiles with one baby in a morning's fishin'. Some Cingalese women wot lives near good crocodile streams make as much as $2 a week reg'lar out o' rentin' their babies for crocodile bait."—Cincinnati Enquirer.

Has a Job Waiting.

"I hear you're getting to be a real sport," a veteran in that line remarked to a youthful acquaintance of the conservative sort recently married.

The young man repudiated any such intention.

"Just placed a little bet among the boys in the office, you know," he added. "Put in $1.50 and won $40 in a trifling pool."

"Well, that's a good beginning, anyhow," said the veteran. "You'll grow up after awhile. What did you do with the $40—put it on the races or open wine?"

"Bought a ton of coal and a set of false teeth for my wife," was the reply.

When the veteran revived his young friend had disappeared.

"Gee," he soliloquized, "that's a new one in sport! If I win tomorrow guess I'll buy my mother-in-law a new cork leg and some darning cotton."—New York Globe.

Given Her Choice.

Little Harry's experience with death was limited to the decease of a pet canary which had been sent to a taxidermist and now adorned the parlor mantel.

His grandmother, of whom he was very fond, was taken suddenly ill. For some time after he learned of her condition he sat in a brown study. Then, as if coming to a sudden resolution, he tiptoed into the sickroom and, cautiously approaching the bed, fixed his serious big brown eyes upon his dear relative and said, with a little quiver in his voice:

"Say, grandma, if you die, which would you rather be—buried or stuffed? 'Cause if you're buried we can't see you no more, but if you're stuffed we can set you in the parlor."

Grandma immediately began to mend.—London Scraps.

Matter of Fact.

A visitor from London found in a cafe at Rotterdam a Dutchman who had been about a bit and who spoke English perfectly well.

This Dutchman was smoking a china pipe of remarkable size and beauty, and the Londoner, an admirer and collector of such bric-a-brac, took the liberty to comment upon it.

"You could not stumble upon a pipe like that every day," said the Englishman.

The Dutchman took three or four whiffs at the pipe and then slowly removed it from his mouth.

"Certainly not without breaking it," he said, gravely.—London Chronicle.

Soft and Light.

A lady famed for her skill in cooking was entertaining a number of her friends at tea. Everything on the table was much admired, but the excellence of the sponge cake was especially the subject of remark.

"Oh," exclaimed one of the guests, "it is so beautifully soft and light! Do tell me where you got the recipe!"

"I am very glad," replied the hostess, "that you find it so soft and light. I made it out of my own head."—Illustrated Bits.

HUMAN RACE AFFLICTED WITH QUEER DISEASE

Cooper Says Internal Parasites Cause Much Suffering Everywhere.

The following remarkable statement was recently made by L. T. Cooper. It concerns the preparation which has been so widely discussed throughout the country during the past year, and has sold in such enormous quantities in leading cities:

"It is now a well-known fact that wherever I have introduced my New Discovery medicine, hundreds of people have brought internal parasites, or tapeworms, to me. In many cases these people did not know the nature of the parasite, and were consequently extremely nervous until I explained the matter to them. In some cities so many have had this experience that the public generally became alarmed.

"I take this opportunity of explaining what these creatures are, and what I have learned about them in the past.

"Tapeworms are much more common than would be supposed. I venture to say that ten per cent. of all chronic stomach trouble, or what is known as a 'rundown' condition, is caused by them. An individual may suffer for years with one of these great parasites and not be aware of it.

"Contrary to general belief, the appetite is not greatly increased—it only becomes irregular. There is a general feeling of faintness, however, and a gnawing sensation in the pit of the stomach.

"People afflicted with one of these parasites are nervous and depressed. Their chief sensation is one of languor, and they tire very easily. Lack of energy and ambition affect the body, and the mind becomes dull and sluggish. The memory becomes not so good, and the eyesight is generally poorer.

"The New Discovery, in freeing stomach and bowels of all impurities, seems to be fatal to these great worms, and almost immediately expels them from the system. I wish to assure anyone who has the experience just related with my preparation, that there is no cause for alarm in the matter, and that it will as a rule mean a speedy restoration to good health."

OREGON MAY LOSE RICH INDIAN LAND

W. H. Odell of Salem, former clerk of the state land board writes the following timely communication to the Salem Statesman concerning a serious loss which the state of Oregon may sustain through misunderstanding of Klamath Indian land withdrawals. Mr. Odell says:

Under date of January 30, 1908, I forwarded to Congressman Hawley a draft for a concurrent resolution, the purpose of which was to protect the state's claim to the swamp lands situated within the boundaries of the Klamath Indian reservation.

I also briefly stated the facts relative thereto, in substance as follows: By the act of March 12, 1860, congress granted to the state of Oregon all the swamp and overflowed lands within the state not heretofore disposed of; by the terms of the grant title was conveyed by a brant in presenti, and it only remained for the administrative officers of the government to specifically segregate such lands and issue patents therefor to the state.

On Ocober 14, 1864, the superintendent of Indian affairs for Oregon entered into a treaty with the Klamath, and a few minor tribes of Indians, esablishing what is known as the Klamath Indian reservation, within the boundaries of which there was a very considerable body of swamp and overflowed lands properly inuring to the state of Oregon by the grant of March 12, 1860, more than four years prior to the establishment of the reserve.

During my term as clerk of the state land board, after seeing a published notice that the interior department contemplated making allotments to the Indians in severalty upon said reservation, I addressed a letter to the honorable secretary of Indian affairs protesting against the allotment of any lands upon said reservation insuring to the state of Oregon under the grant of March 12.

Presented State's Claim.

In 1900 the commissioner of Indian affairs called upon the governor of Oregon for a list of the land claimed by the state, with the proof of the swampy character. A list was made and duly verified and he proof submitted embracing about 100,000 acres.

There has been no questioning of the quantity or character of the lands as claimed by the state, but the secretary of the interior rejected the state's claim on the ground of the prior right in the Indians.

An appeal was taken to the supreme court, but was rejected on demurrer based upon the ground, "That the case is not a proper one for injunction because the legal title to the lands still in the United States and subject to the control of the interior department."

State's Loss May be Great.

The decision of the supreme court was not upon the merits of the state's claim, but was ruled out on technical grounds upon demurrer. It is evidently the intention of the interior department to make allotments to Indians of the choice portions of these lands, and utterly ignore the state's claim, while it is in evidence that a wagon road company whose title to lands upon the reservation is based upon grant made more than four years subsequent to the act of March 12, 1860, has been confirmed by the courts and the company permitted to take their lands, to the great benefit of the company; yet the state's claim is being lost by inaction; involving a minimum loss of $100,000, and, by proper management, of a possible $5000,000 to the common school fund.

These facts have been furnished Congressman Hawley and Senators Fulton and Bourne, but so far no action is reported.

I will not comment on the whyness or whereforeness of these things, but leave the matter as stated.

W. H. ODELL.

Clearing House Plan Is Good.

Bank clearings made this morning at 11:30 show a gain of $16,161.65 over the showing of yesterday, the first day the house was in operation in North Yakima, says the Yakima Republic. When the clearings were ascertained yesterday they totaled $35,817.88. Today the clearings are $51,979.53. And this is between hay time and harvest, the dullest time of the year. If these figures can be taken as a criterion North Yakima banks are now doing a business of about a quarter of a million dollars per week.

When the fruit and berry season is at hand the clearings of North Yakima's associated banks will, in all probability, amount to nearly $100,000 per day. This ranks North Yakima with some of the largest cities of the state.

HOW IS YOUR STOMACH?

Easy Way to Strengthen It and Get Well.

A good digestive system, one that acts so that you do not know that you have a stomach, is God's birthright to every man—to every woman.

If digestion is weak, if food turns into gas, if you suffer after eating, if you are sleepless, nervous and out of sorts—then the stomach is diseased and prompt action should be taken.

W. A. Ennis, a well known builder in Syracuse, tells an easy way to strengthen the stomach and get well when he writes: "Mi-o-na Stomach Tablets have done more for me in one week than all the doctors the two years I was under their care. Thanks to Mi-o-na, I can work once more, the first time in over a year."

It is an easy thing to strengthen the stomach and cure indigestion by using Mi-o-na. Get a 50-cent box from Taliman & Co. with their guarantee to refund the money unles the remedy does all that is claimed for it.
