AMONG THE EXCHANGES OF THE INLAND EMPIRE

Fortunes in Spokane Bridges.
Of the city's bridge fund of $400,000, $171,193.98 has already been expended, and by the time the Washington and Stevens street bridges shall have been completed the total expenditure will be more than $190,000, says the Spokane Chronicle. These are the figures obtained by a perusal of the books of the city's bridge cost keeper.

Labor on all bridges up till April 16 totaled $66,043.22. Material, equipment and supplies made up the balance, $105,150.76. Of this amount, $145,401.38 is chargeable against the Washington street bridge. This does not, however, represent the true cost of the new structure.

There is a deduction from this amount of $47,013.94 up till April 1 for work and material on other bridges and other city work, plant, equipment, stock on hand and rock sold to city contractors. This makes the actual amount expended on the Washington street bridge up till April 1, $98,387.44, of which $52,946.61 was for labor, this item alone being nearly $8000 more than the original estimate of cost for the whole bridge.

It is estimated that between $15,000 and $20,000 additional will be necessary to complete the Washington street bridge, making the total cost of this structure nearly $120,000.

Up till today the cost of labor on the Stevens street bridge is $2920.19, and material $3623.27, making a total of $6543.46. This does not include the cost of the big steel girders, which were paid for before the bridge fund came into existence. This bridge will cost in all about $12,000 exclusive of the girders.

Trees for the Roadside.

Set out trees, adapted to this climate and soil, on each side of the public thoroughfares leading into Spokane, thus enhancing the natural beauty of the roads, aside from being of inestimable benefit to the country in the future, is the plan of H. C. Blair, president of Blair's business college, and an active member of the city beautiful committee, says the Spokane Chronicle.

The plan was proposed to the committee yesterday, but no action was taken upon it at that time.

"While in California last winter," stated Mr. Blair, "when riding in the rain one day, I noticed a long line of wagons and vehicles, and judging from the long line I thought it must be some prominent person. As I had seen nothing of it in the morning papers I thought it strange and made inquiries.

I found that it was tree planting day and that the farmers and others had turned out en masse and were setting out trees on each side of the road. The line that I had noticed extended for 10 or 15 miles. It seems to me that this would be one of the best things that could be done for the inland empire, and could be worked up through this committee. I don't know what kind of trees would be best adapted to this section, but there are others that do, and it seems to me it could be worked up."

Spokane Boys to See Fleet.

A special excursion of Spokane citizens, composed of the city and pupils from the high and grammar schools to visit Seattle at the time of the visit of the fleet, is a scheme proposed by Mayor Moore, says the Spokane Chronicle.

"Spokane, as one of the most important cities in the northwest, should do her part towards expressing to the government our appreciation of the recognition of the commercial importance of the Pacific coast," is the mayor's idea. "The visit of the fleet to this state will be a patriotic occasion and I should like to see the high school boys, who will be our citizens of tomorrow, participate."

"A view of the fleet would serve to impress both our older and younger citizens with a sense of the dignity of the United States as a naval power. I would like to see some organization take this matter up and arrange for a special excursion to Seattle."

Elgin's New High School.

Work on the new high school building for Elgin has begun and is being pushed forward as rapidly as is consistent with good workmanship, and will no doubt, be completed within the contract time, September 15.

The new school building is to be a 74x93 feet, two story and basement structure, complete with all modern improvements, and will cost $20,000. The basement is of stone and the upper part of the building brick, and there will be 10 rooms, with large and adequate hallways. The building will have a steam heating plant in the basement and the heating and ventilating systems will be perfect.—Elgin News.

WILL OPEN UP CENTRAL OREGON

A contract has been closed for the transfer and immediate colonization of the lands of the Oregon Military Land Grant company, comprising 500,000 acres in southern Oregon, says the Oregon Daily Journal. The deal was consummated by H. A. Hunter, president of the land grant company. The grant is taken over by the corporation, to be known as the Oregon Valley Land Company of Kansas City, Mo. The consideration is about $1,500,000.

A complete plan of colonization has been adopted, following the lines of the purchasers in the disposition and settlement last year of the San Luis Valley Land company's large holdings in Colorado. The negotiations between President Hunter of the Oregon grant and the eastern people have been under way for nearly a year and its successful conclusion means much for the southern part of Oregon west of the Cascade mountains.

Open New Region.

The great tract held for so many years by the Booth-Kelly company, and later by the Hunter organization, has never yet been offered to the public and has remained practically a sealed book to the people at large, although it has for a quarter of a century been known as a region of vast development possibilities. Since the last year's active campaign of surveying by Harriman railroad engineers through central and southern Oregon the grant has come into notice more than ever before. It will be tapped by the Southern Pacific and the Oregon Short line.

The grant has for several years been owned principally by H. A. Hunter and Congressman Andrus of Minnesota. It extends in a strip 12 miles wide from the summit of the Cascades to the Snake river opposite Silver City, Idaho. The portion involved in the transfer just made begins at the east side of the Klamath Indian reservation and includes all the lands east of that division point.

Reverse Present Policy.

From the day the grant was made by congress in 1864 nothing has been done to encourage settlement and development. The new owners propose immediately to reverse this policy and will encourage settlement by the sale of the lands in small tracts. Up to this time it has remained practically intact, as it was first set aside by the government as a consideration to the original company that built the first wagon road through the state of Oregon.

The tract passes through Klamath, Lake, Harney and Malheur counties, and is an empire as large as the state of Rhode Island. It embraces scores of fertile valleys and thousands of acres of grazing lands. Among the sections already partially settled by lessees and others who have secured homes on the alternate sections held by the government are the Goose Lake valley, Catlow valley, Warner valley, Sprague river valley, all large, fertile and well watered sections with soil capable of producing large crops of fruits, grain and vegetables. It is said the Catlow valley produces the large-est and most luscious tomatoes in the world. The products of the region have never become generally known because of its remoteness from transportation, and only the crops necessary for local consumption are raised.

FOR STATE QUARRIES.

Governor Mead Would Have Crushed Rock for Washington Roads.

Governor Mead has announced the appointment of a commission to advise with counties and municipalities regarding the establishment of quarries for the production of crushed rock to be used in the construction of roads, these quarries to be operated by convicts from the state penitentiary, says an Olympia item.

The commission is headed by Judge C. H. Hanford of the Seattle federal court, its personnel being as follows: Judge Hanford, Judge Edward Whitson, judge of the United States court for the eastern district of Washington; Samuel Hill; Joseph M. Snow, state highway commissioner; Prof. Henry M. Landes of the state university, and state geologist; John W. Arrasmith, state grain inspector; Karl Bowers, county surveyor of Benton county, and Samuel C. Lancaster, consulting engineer of the federal good roads department, stationed in Seattle.

"My purpose in appointing this commission," Governor Mead explained, "is to provide a body, representing the entire state, which can advise with counties and municipalities and encourage the establishment of such quarries as that which the city of Seattle proposes to establish at Deception pass."

"The commission will also advise with those who are active in this project and who can be of any possible assistance in forwarding their efforts to a successful conclusion. This movement is a thoroughly meritorious one, and I wish to provide the machinery for making it general throughout the state."

Wenatchee, Washington, is to vote on the proposition of bonding the city for $55,000 to put in a water system. It is proposed to pump the water from the Columbia river into a high pressure reservoir. The pump will have a capacity of a million gallons every 24 hours.

WE RECOMMEND SEXINE PILLS.

It makes no difference what is the cause of one's weakness. If it be a tonic that is needed, Sexine Pills will do more than any other tonic. They are the one tonic that strikes at the bottom of all weakness, the nerve centers. They send new vitality bounding through the body, producing a glow and tingle that revive the languid energies of youth. Sexine Pills begin by bringing quiet repose to fluttering nerves and inducing restful sleep. Price $1 a box, $5 boxes $5, with full guarantee. Address or call the Pendleton Drug Co. This is the store that sells all the principal remedies and does not substitute.

The people who do not live in this city and yet who "do some of their shopping here," are important to those of our merchants who seek wider markets. These people read Pendleton newspapers, for they are "interested in this city,"--in its news, in its stores.

Store advertising is no longer optional--it is as necessary as are clerks, stock, equipment: it is the only thing that makes these worth while.
