Waitsburg, Wash., had a horse show Saturday and it is said the horses exhibited were the finest ever seen in that county. More than 3000 people attended.

Frost is said to have thinned the superfluous blossoms on the fruit trees in southern Oregon, but it is not believed that the crop has been injured to any appreciable extent.

What Makes a Bank Strong?

In judging a bank, always remember that it is the personnel of the stockholders, directors and officers that are behind the institution which give confidence to the depositor that his funds are safe.

The Pendleton Savings Bank

Is essentially a "Home" Institution. Its stockholders are well known Umatilla county and Oregon citizens. Its constant growth is the result of careful and conservative management, with the most liberal treatment for all deserving enterprise.

SHIPS FROM THE BASEBALL DIAMOND.

(By A. Pet.)

Spillman's work as umpire in the game Thursday was first class.

Parkes' work in left field was sensational. In the sixth he grabbed O'Brien's low line drive, throwing to Shockley, who threw to Collins, completing a triple and retiring the side.

Conrad had his hand badly hurt in Wednesday's game by a tip foul and yesterday Baker went behind the bat, where he did fine work and with a little more experience will make a fine back stop.

Taliaferro pitched a good game and will be with the team as one of the regular pitchers.

Van Houten can certainly elout the ball, getting five hits out of eight times up in the two games.

Pendleton has a bunch of hitters with the 1908 team and they will break up many a game before the season closes.

La Grande has shown great improvement since they played here and now has a strong lineup.

Manager Lorimer should be congratulated for his untiring efforts to land a good team for Pendleton. He has the confidence of every one of his players.

Now for the Walla Walla game Sunday on the Pendleton grounds. Everybody come out and help the Pets win, as they appreciate the support given them by the citizens of Pendleton.

ALASKA ELECTS HER TWO DELEGATES TODAY

Will Probably Be Instructed for Secretary Taft.

Washington, May 2.—Two delegates to represent the republicans of Alaska in the Chicago convention will be elected at a territorial convention to be held at Ketchikan today. Advice from the land of snow and gold state that the delegation will probably be pledged to Secretary Taft.

Six delegates had already been elected when the republican national committee met in Washington last December, but by the terms of the call they were declared to have been prematurely chosen, and Alaska was told that no delegate from that territory would be seated at the convention until others were named. The call further stipulated that only two would be seated instead of six.

As the six delegates had been instructed to vote for Secretary Taft their rejection was received with jubilation by the exponents of the secretary, who saw a loss of four votes to him and the possibility that Alaska could not elect her allotted two delegates in time to be represented at the convention. They realized that an election in Alaska is a much different and more difficult matter than a short walk to the polls in the United States, and some hope was expressed that having once gone on record, the Alaskans would be content to forgo another election. But in this hope they did not reckon with the determination of the Alaskans to exercise their rights of ballot and the caliber of Thomas Cale, the territorial delegate in congress, who holds strong views as to the interest his people should take in national politics.

Mr. Cale believes that the Alaskans prize the right of ballot more highly than any other Americans and that the two new delegates will be instructed for Secretary Taft unless a light vote somewhat changes the situation. Mr. Cale is a Vermont by birth, but has lived in Alaska 10 years and is serving his first term in congress. He was elected on a non-partisan ticket, although he is more closely allied with the republicans than the democrats, and is listed in the former column.

NEW ZEALAND MAGIC.

A Native Story of the Power of the Tohunga.

From New Zealand comes the following weird yarn:

"The tohunga (native magician) was even credited with the power of influencing the dead. The present writer was a witness of the following incident: A branch of the Arawas, the tribe of the district of Rotorua, being at war, had suffered defeat, and one of their bravest had been brought home dead. The vanquished sought at once to find out by some omen connected with the dead chief whether they would be successful in their next encounter. The tohunga was requested to procure the desired omen, the people squatting in a ring about the bier. Advancing a few paces from the dead body, the priest began to recite a powerful incantation, intent on making the deceased give some sign, the eyes of all present being fixed on the slain warrior. Presently the corpse was observed to move slightly to one side, on which a great cry of joy rose from the people. The movement was interpreted as a sign of future victory. This feat was often performed by the tohunga of olden times." — Chicago News.

THE OLD MASTERS.

Miserable Compensation For Their Grand Works of Art.

"I make more money in a day than Michael Angelo made in a month," said a popular illustrator. "I've been studying up the wages those old chaps got. It is amazing."

"Michael Angelo was paid $40 a month while doing the cartoons of the battle of Pisa, and Leonardo, who helped him, got the same rate. They were both docked for lateness and off days, but there was no overtime allowance. Correggio got for his 'Christ In the Garden' $7.25. Carracci's 'Resurrection' only brought the painter $6.50. Albert Durer for his pen and ink portraits was not paid in cash. A bag of flour, a hundred oysters, a pair of boots—Durer would gladly do your portrait on such a system of remuneration."

"Rembrandt's top notch price was $475. He got that for his 'Night Watch.'"

"Velazquez worked chiefly for the Spanish government. He was paid at the average rate of $35 a picture. Think of it! Thirty-five dollars for the 'Rokeby Venus!'" — Minneapolis Journal.

Thousands Have Kidney Trouble and Never Suspect it.

Prevalency of Kidney Disease. Most people do not realize the alarming increase and remarkable prevalence of kidney disease. While kidney disorders are the most common diseases that prevail, they are almost the last recognized by patient and physicians, who content themselves with doctoring the effects, while the original disease undermines the system.

What To Do. There is comfort in the knowledge so often expressed, that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy, fulfills every wish in curing rheumatism, pain in the back, kidneys, liver, bladder and every part of the urinary passage. It corrects inability to hold water and scalding pain in passing it, or bad effects following use of liquor, wine or beer, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to go often during the day, and to get up many times during the night. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases. If you need a medicine you should have the best. Sold by druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar sizes.

You may have a sample bottle and a book that tells all about it, both sent free by mail. Address Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. When writing mention this paper and don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y.

near Echo in Umatilla County, went onto their lands when covered with sagebrush on March 15th. They cleared the land and put 60 acres into potatoes. It was as dry as is usual in that section, except as to winter rain moisture in the ground. The first water from the ditch went upon these potatoes May 14th.

From This Sixty Acres More Than

10,000 bushels of potatoes were harvested.

The lands are going fast. Some choice selections are still upon our books and we treat customers strictly in turn, "First come, first served." The price is low and the terms attractive.
