OREGON AGAIN FILLED.

"The Girl I Left Behind Me" Will Be Seen for Last Time.

The Oregon theater was again well filled last evening for the second production of "The Girl I Left Behind Me," which is so well presented by the Streeter-Bryan company, and tonight this play will be presented for the last time.

This is a military production with a pretty romance running through, the soldiers, Indians, call to war and all making it very sensational throughout. It is one of the best attractions yet presented by the company. With the clever lot of performers the management has at this time the company is strong, with Miss Bryan and Mr. Streeter in the leading parts.

Tomorrow night there will be a change of program when "Tennessee's Partner" will be presented. This is one of the best bills on the repertoire and will run until Friday night, when the well known old play "East Lynne," will be presented for two nights by special request, also for the Saturday afternoon matinee.

Miss Bryan will entertain the little folks on the stage after the matinee as she has done in the past.

Pastime Change.

There was a clever change of motion pictures at the Pastime today, among the new attractions being "Traveling Menagerie," "Living Arm Chair," "Donkey, the Clown," "Heroes of S. Bernard" and the illustrated song, "Where the Swannee River Flows." All are new and up to date, and in beautiful colorings.

Dime Attracts.

The Dime has a change of moving pictures today, something entirely new. The pictures the past few days have been very attractive, among the best being the story of Michael Strogoff, in the most beautiful colors. Today's change is equally as good and will continue until Friday, when there will be another change.

Eagle Change.

The Eagle show shop had a clever change of moving pictures yesterday. Something entirely new. This program will continue over until Thursday, when there will be another excellent change.

Passion Play Again.

The presentation of the Passion play at the Catholic church will be continued this evening and also tomorrow evening. At 3 o'clock tomorrow an afternoon performance will be given. For this entertainment school children will be admitted for 10 cents.

"Hands Off for Teddy."

Washington, May 5.—President Roosevelt will take no part in the coming national campaign. It will be dull about Oyster Bay. There will be no visiting delegations to the president's house, if he can help it and he will make no speechmaking trips. The president will meet only certain accredited visitors.

Officers Narrowly Escape.

Santa Cruz, Calif., May 5.—A passenger car full of officers of the Atlantic fleet suffered a narrow escape from injury yesterday when a car returning from the big tree reservation where a picnic had been held, jumped the track. Fortunately no one was injured.

Ohio Democrats for Bryan.

Columbus, O., May 5.—Delegates at large instructed to vote for Bryan in the Denver convention will probably be elected by the Ohio democratic state convention, which opened here today. The business of the convention will not be considered until tomorrow.
