THREE UNHAPPY WIVES IN COURT

ONE SAYS HUSBAND IS CATTLE THIEF.

Divorce Suit Reveals Tales of Domestic Infelicity—Dora Christensen Says Her Jim Soon Forgot His Marriage Vows—Happier Without Than With Him—He Says Her Relatives Eat Too Much—Mrs. Balcom Alleges Unfaithfulness.

Three tales of domestic unhappiness are unfurled in as many divorce suits that have just been filed in the circuit court. In each instance the wife is plaintiff and makes sensational and unusual charges against her husband. In a complaint filed yesterday by Attorney C. T. Godwin of Milton, Mrs. Dora Christensen charges that her husband, James Christensen, forgot his marriage vows within a few months after his marriage at Milton on May 1, 1905. By July he had changed completely in his attitude towards his better half and became a fault-finding spouse. Among other things he objected to his wife entertaining her relatives as visitors though they were lying in her father's house on the ground that they ate too much. Refuses to See Cousin.

Upon one occasion when a girl cousin visited the family, Christensen refused even to see her and thereby caused his wife much humiliation. In December the defendant is said to have left home and since that time the plaintiff declares she has lived in a state of happiness such as would have been impossible with her husband around.

Mrs. Christensen has two children by a former husband, and she asks for the return of her former name, Mrs. Dora Hunt.

Says Hubby Steals Cattle. Sarah E. Ferguson, through her attorney, S. A. Newberry, seeks a divorce from Ellis F. Ferguson, and her most sensational charge is that while living in New Mexico her husband became involved in the "larceny of cattle" and with his wife went to Texas for a time and while there lived under the name of Lewis.

Aside from this Mrs. Ferguson says her husband would at times be very brutal towards her and would frequently beat and choke her half to death.

In a suit filed by Peter West in behalf of Mrs. Bertha Balcom, the latter charges her husband, Frank Balcom, with being untrue to her and names another woman as correspondent. They were married here July 24, 1904.

SILVERTON SALOONMEN LOSE IN CITY ELECTION

Good Government Ticket Elected by Safe Majority.

Silverton, Ore., May 6.—One of the hottest contests ever occasioned in this city by a municipal election occurred Monday, and resulted in the election of a good government ticket by a majority of 37. On the good government ticket W. S. Jack was elected mayor, Lew Ames, G. H. Hubbes and J. D. Drake, councilmen for two years; Millard A. Seltz, recorder, and M. J. Adams, treasurer.

The good government ticket was nominated more than two weeks ago at a primary, and the following platform was adopted and printed on the tickets: "If elected we pledge our best efforts to give the city of Silverton a fair, economical and impartial administration. We will oppose all forms of graft and useless litigation, will insist upon strict enforcement of the law and will at all times work for the best interests of the people and improvement of Silverton."

Two days before election the saloon men made up a ticket and L. H. Fisher was placed at the head; W. Bowser, L. F. Mascher and J. M. Wolfard for councilmen and A. Whitlock for recorder. Every possible effort was made to win, but with no success.

The vote was looked upon as a good criterion by which to judge the result of the local option vote June 1. Scotts Mills and North Silverton, two dry precincts, have been connected with Silverton for the June election, and it is almost certain that the saloons will be moved out of Silverton at the June election.

The new council will probably make a change in police officer and street commissioner at its first meeting, to be held 19 days later.

SELLS MUCH LAND.

Hanford Country Will Be Fine for Fruit Growing.

J. W. Fox, representative of the Hanford lands, who is in the city, says that the company, Spencer, Fox & Gregory, are selling lands to many people all over the northwest. The soil and the climatic conditions of that section will make it a great fruit growing section, as they ripen earlier than in many localities in Washington. Mr. Fox expects to leave the first of next week with a party from Umatilla county, who will look over the lands. Mr. Fox is a rustling real estate man.

MUSICAL CONCERT WAS AN EXCEPTIONAL EVENT

Three Members of Whitman Conservatory Are Rare Artists.

Last evening the music lovers of this city were especially favored by the concert given in the Methodist church, under the auspices of Pendleton academy.

It is very seldom that the people of Pendleton have the opportunity of listening to artists of such rare ability as Miss Branscombe, pianist, Mr. Williams, violinist, and Mr. Jackson, vocalist, of the Whitman conservatory of music.

Miss Branscombe is not only a brilliant concert pianist but is also a composer of high reputation and ability. Her beautiful rendition of each selection make it almost impossible to single out any one number for especial mention, though she was heard at exceptional advantage in her own compositions, and was enthusiastically encored by the highly appreciative audience. Her marvelous ability was also shown in the artistic and sympathetic way in which she accompanied Mr. Williams and Mr. Jackson.

Mr. Williams as a concert violinist cannot be equaled in the northwest. He played with wonderful sweetness and power.

Mr. Jackson has a voice of exceptional range and strength. The best rendered and most appreciated of his numbers was perhaps, "The Two Grenadiers," by Schumann.

The program throughout was of high excellence. Every number was received with enthusiastic applause.

SESSION NEARS END.

Supreme Court Will Complete Its Labors Tomorrow.

Today three cases have been taken up by the supreme court and it is probable that the session will be ended tomorrow evening. The following are the cases that were argued today.

Louis Summers et al, versus Charles A. Compton, et al, appellants. Appealed from Baker county. Argued by Judge M. D. Clifford for the respondents, and by F. M. Saxton for the appellants.

George A. Frederick, appellant, versus Anton Klausner, appealed from Baker county. Argued by John L. Courtney and J. N. Hart for respondent.

Pacific Livestock company versus Isaacs & Gwinn. Appealed from Malheur county. Argued by John G. Rice for appellants and by John L. Rand for respondent.

Several additional attorneys are here today, among the new arrivals being Judge H. E. Courtney, Judge M. D. Clifford, J. H. Hart, John C. Rice of Caldwell, Idaho; John L. Rand and Gustav Anderson.

Working on Race Track.

Two teams and a small force of men are busy working on the race track, putting it in condition for the spring race meet. The work is in charge of Tom Cain, who expects to put it in first class condition and make it the equal of any track in eastern Oregon. Something like $400 has been subscribed and will be expended on the track. Tom is an All horse and track man and thoroughly understands his business. It is the intention of the management to pull off the biggest and best race meet this coming June, that they have ever held. A large number of horsemen from eastern Oregon counties have expressed their desire to be present and participate in the meet.—Grant County News.

A Freak of Nature.

A year ago last fall the Milton Nursery planted a peach pit that grew and was budded during the following summer. Last fall Mrs. C. T. Gizenanner bought the tree with a number of others and planted them in Pasco. Up to this time there was nothing unusual noticeable about the tree, but the genial climate and warm sands of Pasco caused it to put forth three blossoms. Now there are two pairs of twins and triplets on the tree where the blossoms were, making seven peaches in all, and all growing rapidly and are in good health, and the mother acting as though nothing had ever happened. The tag has been removed from the tree and the name lost, but the madam has rechristened it, and it is now known as "The Roosevelt Peach."—Pasco Express.

Oregon Witnesses Return.

Oswald West, railroad commissioner, and G. G. Brown, secretary of the state land board, passed through here today en route home from Washington where they had been for the purpose of giving testimony before the interstate commerce commission. Both men are accompanied by their wives. They have been in Washington six weeks and are mighty glad to be on Oregon soil again.

Prominent Idaho Democrat.

John C. Rice, president of the Caldwell Banking and Trust company, and a probable democratic candidate for governor of Idaho, is in the city attending the sessions of supreme court. Mr. Rice is a leading democrat of the Gem state and is mentioned as a candidate for governor. He is an old friend and neighbor of W. S. Badley of the Commercial National bank.

Dr. Coe Is Coming.

Dr. H. W. Coe, head of the colonization work on the Furnish project, will arrive here this evening from Portland on business connected with the company's office in this city. He will be asked to remain over for the meeting to be held here tomorrow night and it is hoped he will do so.

Mrs. Unruh Speaks.

Mrs. Ada Wallace Unruh, one of the national speakers of the W. C. T. U., will deliver a lecture at the Baptist church on Friday evening at 7:30. Mrs. Unruh is a speaker of note and will give the public a rare treat.

Marriage License.

A marriage license was granted this morning to Fred McKenney and Laura Frances Basho.

JUDGE LOWELL WILL TOUR STATE

THREE WEEKS CAMPAIGN FOR REPUBLICAN TICKET

Will Begin Speech-Making Tour in Sherman and Wheeler Counties About May 15—Will Cover Every Portion of the State in Three Weeks Following.

Judge Stephen A. Lowell of this city, one of the best platform orators on the Pacific coast, has engaged with the republican state central committee to make a three weeks' tour of the state on a speech-making campaign for the republican ticket, from H. M. Calk, the republican senatorial candidate down to the end of the ticket.

Judge Lowell will leave Pendleton about May 15 for Wheeler, Sherman and other interior counties, where he will open his campaign and from there will perhaps go to southern Oregon, and during the next three weeks following will cover practically all of the state for the party candidates.

That a united and vigorous campaign will be made by the republican party for all of the candidates is now shown by the number of speakers who are being engaged for the field work. Aside from Judge Lowell other prominent orators from the state will take the stump, and it is quite probable that several prominent members of congress from the east will be brought to the state for a few addresses before the close of the campaign.

"SOONERS" GET HEARING IN TIMBER CLAIM FIGHT.

Men Who "Squatted" Will Be Given a Chance.

Officials at the land office at Lakeview have had another complication added to the litigation accruing from the land rush of last fall. The new complication is in the shape of an order from the commissioner of the general land office instructing the register and receiver to grant the "sooners" a hearing, and the date for the same has been set in June. The sooners are the parties who went into the woods about a year before the lands were opened to settlement, posted notices setting forth that they had appropriated the lands and began building homes thereon. The restoration order opening the lands to selection and settlement 30 days before they became subject to filing, and prohibiting all parties from settling on the same before the time set by the order, was not made until some months after the so-called "sooners" had made settlement upon the land. This being the case it is argued by their lawyers that their settlement was not in conflict with the order, as it did not exist at the time the settlement was made. The fact that the "sooners" were granted a hearing by the commissioner is considered a concession that they have some rights in the premises, out of the lands known as "sooner" claims have several timber and stone homestead filings on them, and in many instances contests have already been decided by the Lakeview office. The "sooners" were not considered in the past.

Several important land decisions have been received lately, and in every instance they have been adverse to the homesteader in the timber belt, and as a result of these decisions many parties holding claims in the timber are relinquishing the same and placing timber and stone filings.

It will contain in the neighborhood of two hundred full size newspaper pages. It will cost nearly $100,000 to print and distribute the issue. Each copy will cost about 10 cents to produce. There will be separate color sections devoted to automobile, music, real estate, national affairs and to New York, the Wonder city. Besides all of this, there will be the usual first class newspaper comic weekly and magazine. The price remains the same. No extra charge is made for the enlarged number. Edition limited. Order at once.

FUNNYMARK UNDER BOND.

Former Pendleton Butcher Charged With Forgery.

An interpretation of the terms of partnership existing between J. Funnemark and L. E. Brown, doing a butcher business under the name of L. E. Brown & Co., may decide the fate of the former in the superior court when he is tried on a charge of forgery, says the Walla Walla Union.

In the municipal court yesterday afternoon, Funnemark was tried before Judge J. J. Huffman and bound over to the superior court under bonds of $200.

In the terms of the partnership, the rights of the two parties were defined in rather general terms. Funnemark it was conceded, had the right to issue orders for the purchase of supplies, although checks in the company's name or intended the money secured for use in getting supplies were questions in doubt. In view of other similar troubles in which Funnemark has appeared, the court was inclined to put the prisoner's actions to a severe interpretation.

The check offered in evidence was for $15 and had been passed upon George Mottett. Other checks for other amounts were alleged to have been passed on several local saloons. Funnemark was arrested last Thursday by Patrolman George Roff.
