OREGON NEEDS LIVESTOCK LAWS

DR. MCCLURE POINTS OUT DEPLORABLE DEFECTS

Declares State Has One of Best Sheep Statutes in the Union But Says Oregon Is Far Behind the Times in General Sanitary Laws—State Officers Have No Power to Act and There Is Absolutely No Protection from Outside.

Some caustic things were said this morning by Dr. S. W. McClure, head of the federal quarantine work of the northwest, regarding Oregon's livestock sanitary laws.

Though the doctor praises the sheep law now in force he declares that the state is far behind the times in the matter of a general livestock sanitary law and insinuates that unless the law is improved the state will see the day when it will bitterly regret its slothfulness in this regard.

But recently the fact that Oregon is a "weak sister" in the matter of sanitary legislation was demonstrated when Dr. McClure sought to have the state start a campaign against the mange that exists among the horses of the county. Within a week or so all the Indian horses of the reservation are to be dipped and the doctor was anxious to have the outside animals, that are affected, also treated. However, he has found that the state veterinarian is either powerless or incapable of handling the situation and as a result the Indian horses will soon be free of mange only to be at once open to infection from animals belonging to whites.

In speaking on the subject of the present state livestock laws, Dr. McClure said:

Strong Law Needed.

"Oregon is badly in need of a general livestock sanitary law that will give the state veterinarian full authority to eradicate or control the contagious diseases of livestock that may exist in the state or be brought into the same.

"Nearly all other states have better laws than Oregon and they make greater efforts to protect the health of their livestock than can be done in Oregon under present regulations.

Doors Now Open.

"It seems that while the state has some law in this matter the officers appointed to enforce the law have no funds with which to accomplish this end. The livestock sanitary authorities of all other progressive states issue quarantine proclamations against the importation of animals affected with contagious diseases such as rabies, glanders, tuberculosis, hog cholera, etc. But as far as I know Oregon has no regulations covering the importation of animals affected with any of these diseases.

"Up to the present time Oregon has had no cases of rabies among the people or livestock and while the disease exists to some extent among the canines of eastern and middle states, it has so far not been imported to Oregon. While this condition prevails it would surely be an act of wisdom to quarantine for a certain number of days all dogs shipped into the state so that, if affected, it would develop before the animals are turned loose.

Tuberculosis Is Welcome. "Tuberculosis is probably the most important problem that affects the livestock production of the state. This disease is prevalent among many of the best herds of the east and middle west, and yet Oregon permits cattle from those districts to be shipped in without any examination whatever. All cattle brought to Oregon for breeding or dairy purposes should be accompanied by a tubercular test certificate or they should be tested on arriving at their destination within the state.

"So far as I know the state has no quarantine proclamation against hogs affected with cholera or other contagious diseases.

"Oregon has one of the best sheep laws in the union and the next legislature should pass a general livestock sanitary law equally efficient and give it a sufficient appropriation to permit its officers to carry out the law."

TWO MILTON DEATHS.

Pioneer Resident of Umatilla County Died of Paralysis, Also Well Known Woman.

Milton, May 12.—I. S. Bruce died at his home here yesterday after a lingering illness due to a stroke of paralysis. The funeral is being held this afternoon under the auspices of the Odd Fellows, Rev. H. S. Shangle officiating.

Mr. Bruce was born in Bland county, Virginia, in 1853, where he was raised. From there he went to Tennessee, where he resided for three years. In 1881 he left with his family for Texas. In May, 1893, he came to Milton, and purchased a farm three miles north of this place. From 1893 to 1904 he farmed in Lewiston, Idaho, and since that time has resided in Milton.

Mr. Bruce is survived by his wife, Aletha C. Bruce, his son, Clarence E. W., and two daughters, Laura G.

Bruce and Mrs. W. J. Bracy, of Moscow, Idaho.

Mrs. Taylor Dead. Mrs. Mattie Taylor, wife of the electrician, Thomas Taylor, died yesterday at Portland, where she went about two weeks ago to be operated on for chronic trouble. The deceased is survived by her husband and three sons, Alfred, Ed and Dick, and two daughters, Alice and Nettie. The remains have been shipped here and the funeral will be held tomorrow. Mrs. Taylor was well and favorably known here, the family having resided here for the past six years.

WIFE WILL SAVE HUSBAND FROM POST.

Mrs. Churchill Will Not Testify Against Man Who Beat Her.

That a woman will not appear as a witness against her husband even though he abuse her most shamefully, was again demonstrated here today. Last night Jack Churchill, a roustabout of the tenderloin district, was arrested charged with beating his wife. The arrest was made by the police, who were notified by neighbors.

This morning Churchill was taken before Justice of the Peace Joe Parkes and his bail was set at $300. Failing to provide that sum he was lodged in the county jail. This afternoon his wife visited him and it is said has decided not to appear as a witness against him should his case come to trial. Should she testify against him he would be subject to the whipping post.

BICYCLISTS ARE FINED.

Street Commissioner Becomes a Terror to Riders of Wheels.

Three more bicyclists have met with trouble in the form of Sam Grove, street commissioner, who has been made a special policeman and is making a specialty of arresting wheelmen who ride on sidewalks.

Last evening W. B. Hale, the contractor, was found riding across the Main street bridge and this morning he was fined $2 by Judge Fitz Gerald. The other offenders were Spoonemore, the employment agent, and a young man named O'Brien. The last named was also fined $2, but Spoonemore failed to appear at the morning session of court.

CHANGE TONIGHT.

"Dr. Jekyll and Hyde," Reduced Prices to All Parts of the House Balance of Week.

The Oregon theater was well filled last evening for the last presentation of "Thorns and Orange Blossoms," which is so well put on by the Street-er-Bryan company. Tonight there will be a change of bill when that great play, "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde," will be presented. No one should fail to see this bill, as Mr. Streeter takes the part of Jekyll and Hyde to perfection and Miss Bryan, the leading lady, is exceptionally good in this play.

That the play last night was appreciated was shown by the applause given the company. Mr. Streeter had a comic part, that of Tommy Swift, a commercial drummer. Miss Bryan as Violet Beaton, was much appreciated. Harry Terry as the villain, Oscar Carston, was much enjoyed, and the entire company deserved praise in this production.

The price of admission the balance of the week will be 25 cents to all parts of the house, and on Sunday night there will be one hundred choice seats at 25 cents, and those first come will be first served to reserved seats at this price.

There will be a change of moving pictures each night between acts, and Francis Ellis, who has an excellent voice, sings for the illustrated songs. With this reduced price of admission for a good show and the moving pictures, which are life sized, the people are well pleased.

Tonight and tomorrow night "Dr. Jekyll and Hyde," Friday and Saturday nights, "The Princess of Patchek," which will also be played for the Saturday afternoon matinee, as it is especially pleasing to children. Sunday afternoon there will be a fine moving picture show, showing the latest life sized pictures and new illustrated songs, and the price of admission will be 10 cents.

Remember the change of bill to tonight. Twenty-five cents to all parts of the house.

Pastime Pictures.

There is an excellent change of program at the Pastime at this time, which will continue over until Friday when there will be another change. Among the new attractions are "Tragic Rivalry," "Women Up to Date," "Music Hall," "Peculiar Pumpkins," "It's Great to Be a Soldier Man."

Dime Pleases.

The Dime has the usual fine lot of moving pictures at this time, and the program will continue until Friday when there will be another excellent change, in beautiful colorings and up to date, with new illustrated songs.

Eagle Show Shop.

The Eagle show shop has been drawing well the past few days for the beautiful pictures, "Secretary of War, Wm. H. Taft," beautiful sacred plays, "The Holy City," the "Sign of the Cross," and others. These are some of the most beautiful pictures yet shown here, and the management announces another excellent change for tomorrow.

Cream Shipments Increase.

The Pendleton Creamery is receiving cream from almost every portion of the county in large quantities. The shipments from the Pilot Rock district are especially large and that rich section of the county promises to be one of the principal cream sections tributary to this city in time.

LA GRANDE TEAM IS SLAUGHTERED

GAME WON IN FIRST INNING BY LOCALS

Heavy Hitting by Lorimer's Stickers Aided by Errors of Opponents, Ends in Score of 18 to 5—Baker Hero of the Day—Sends Horsehide Sphere Over Fence for Two Home Runs—Many Sensational Plays.

By a score of 18 to 5 Pendleton wiped the ground with La Grande's famous ball nine yesterday and today a second game is being played on the Matlock grounds.

But though the score yesterday would indicate a poor game, there was no opportunity for the spectators to complain. For spectacular plays the game was the best seen here this year, and if the contest was one-sided, the fact did not really grieve the Pendleton rooters.

From start to finish yesterday Lorimer's players tried to raise their high batting averages and they did. By placed hits and long flies they nearly drove La Grande's twirler out of the box. Baker was again the batting star and during the game drove two flies over the fence into the river, netting home runs, and he also scored a three-bagger.

McAllister, late of Walla Walla, played his first game at second and made good. Shockley played center field and the change seemed to improve him. By a star one-hand catch he retired the opposing nine and brought down the applause.

But the neat plays were not all by Pendletonians. One of the finest plays of the game was a double put out by Lodell, La Grande's first baseman, who threw the ball home, putting out a home runner, and then retrieved it back on first in time to down the batter.

The following was the game in detail:

Portland, Ore., May 12.—Portland won the opening game from Los Angeles today, 5 to 2. Bassey's triple with two men on bases scored Portland's first two. Kentucky Grand Army.

Louisville, Ky., May 13.—Kentucky veterans who wore the blue during the civil war were present in large numbers when the annual encampment of the Kentucky department, Grand Army of the Republic, was opened in Louisville today. Entertainment arrangements on an elaborate scale have been made by the three local posts. Thomas Sheehan is being boomed by Louisville veterans as the successor of State Commander L. V. Dodge of Berea, and indications point to his election.

"LABOR DAY" FOR STUDENTS.

Idaho University Boys Will Utilize Holiday to Put Grounds in Shape.

A correspondent at Moscow, Idaho, says:

Friday will be labor day at the university, according to the announcement of the faculty, after hearing a petition presented by Henry Smith and Estel Hunter on behalf of the students asking for the setting apart of such a day.

This will be the first labor day at the university and will be passed in preparing the new athletic field for the track meet with the University of Montana on May 27. Friday morning at 7 o'clock the male students will turn out at the field. Students will be expected to be prepared to handle a shovel, pick, hammer or saw and also to be prepared to handle a team with a road scraper or plow.

In that one day it is proposed that a track will be graded and rolled and bleachers will be built. The students will borrow from the city and the county the road scrapers, graders and the rollers necessary.

The girls will prepare refreshments for the laborers and a midday lunch. It is the plan to hold another labor day early next fall and put the field in shape for the football games.

The first street railway in Shanghai, China, has just been placed in operation. There are about 26 miles of track in the city.
