CIRCUS WILL BE HERE TOMORROW

NORRIS AND ROWE DREW
LARGE PORTLAND CROWDS

Journal Says Show Is Good and Everybody Got His Money's Worth. Many New Features Added—Clowns Funnier Than Ever—Stunts That Are Guaranteed to Bring a Smile—Some Difficult Turns by Performers.

The Oregon Daily Journal in speaking of Monday's performance in the metropolis, says:

"Portland has again confirmed its reputation of being a good show town. Norris & Rowe's circus has been here many times, but the big tent at Twenty-fifth and Raleigh streets was packed at both performances yesterday."

"What's more, everybody got 'his money's worth.' Several new features have been added to the show, and though the dog and pony acts, the nucleus of the present circus, are not as prominent as of old, there is something doing all the time, several some-thing in fact, so no matter the taste of the spectator—he can be suited in one ring or another."

"The teams of ponies—four abreast—have been chariot-racing so long that it is all the same to them whether there is a Ben Hur in the chariot or not. Last evening one of the drivers tumbled from his cart at the opening of the act, and the ponies went tearing around at break-neck speed, guided only by their sweet will and long training."

There are some clown stunts that will bring a smile anywhere. One is the frantic boy, pursued by a pistol-firing clown, who is at last captured and checked head first into a monstrous cannon.

"The clown who apparently was hauled about on a tiny cart by four geese fooled nearly everybody. "Micky Feeley, the acrobat whom the press agent would have us believe is an exiled Russian nobleman, has the stage all to himself for a time, and does some apparently impossible springs and tumbles from the bare floor."

"There are two young trapeze performers, a boy and girl, who do some difficult turns. Clinging the boy's body with her feet the girl swings him back and forth over the crowd. A white-faced clown, evidently the father of the manager of the team, drops all his foolishness to assist in the daring act in deadly seriousness."

"But why ever attempt to tell about a circus? We've all seen them and we will probably continue to go just as long as we can climb to a seat. This is a circus and a very fair one—'nough said. The last performance is tonight."

LIST OF VICTIMS GROWS.

Letters From All Parts of Country Tell of Disappearances.

La Porte, Ind., May 13.—Letters from all over the country, relate the instance of the disappearance of various persons who are believed to have been lured into the "house of death and horrors," which it is alleged was operated by Mrs. Gunness, and it is thought more are yet to be found in the "murder garden."

Emil Kell of Kansas, is one of these. Two years ago he drew $2000 from a bank and then mysteriously disappeared. He went to Chicago, it is said, to reply to a matrimonial advertisement.

Charles Eggman of Newcastle, Ind., is also among the missing. He drew $5000 of his savings and left to answer a matrimonial advertisement. He too has never been heard from again.

U. P. BACKS IRRIGATION.

Big Scheme to Colonize Tract of Land Near Laramie.

The management of the Union Pacific road is back of the plan to colonize a large tract in the Laramie river valley in Wyoming lands where a part of the company's original land grant and lying side and adjacent to the right of way have been disposed of with a view to throwing them open to settlers, says the Cheyenne Tribune.

About 150,000 acres of the tract lie west of Laramie and is included in the lands which are subject to the Carey act.

At Laramie a company of Chicago capitalists has been incorporated with a capital of $1,000,000, with a view to furnishing money to settlers who have not sufficient means to develop farms. This company is prepared, according to the officials of the road, to build houses for colonies and furnish them with implements and horses with which to develop lands they may buy.

Included in the tract thus thrown open are the famous Haley and Hoge ranches and plans have been perfected to impound flood waters in Lakes Hutton, James and Hattie with which the entire area may be irrigated.

The work is to be done through E. R. Tallmadge, D. C. Buntin and J. L. Bland of Chicago and the scheme has been financed here. The Union Pacific is also considering the advisability of disposing through the company of all its land grant in the Laramie valley.
