

The Prettiest Feet in the World. So said by the Sells-Floto circus people, to be here Saturday, May 30. The possessors are charming, shapely

CIRCUS PEOPLE ARE HERE TODAY

SKILLED ADVERTISERS BILLING THE COUNTY

Owners and Managers of Sells-Floto Shows Also Here for Conference—Circus Beautiful May Cross the Waters Next Year—Oregonians Conspicuous With the Small Boy's Greatest Attraction.

Pendleton is brisk today. Twenty skilled advertisers are here billing and banner the enormous Sells-Floto Circus that is due for street parade and two performances Saturday, May 30 (Decoration day). They came to town over the O. R. & N. in a special car No. 1, a vehicle that fairly groans under gold and silver moldings and carvings.

The paintings of elephant and tiger on the car's sides are the real thing. The manager of this car is W. K. Roddy, who was born near Echo, Oregon. He is conspicuous with the Sells-Floto show. Oregon blood is right up front in the executive staff of the big circus. There will be two more advertising cars along, No. 2 and No. 3. The latter is a dream. It cost $10,000 and it carries $25,000 worth of bills, banners, heralds and lithographs.

Big Guns Confer.
H. H. Tammen, general manager of the Sells-Floto circus, Colonel Frank Robertson, general agent; W. W. Parmlee, special representative, and Doc Waddell, story writer for Mr. Tammen, are in conference here today. Their meeting is important. Mr. Parmlee is just back from Europe where he went to look over the field with reference to taking the big show across the water and exhibiting it in Europe. They are considering the idea of carrying out the proposition. Later today they will be joined by Warren J. Lynch, traffic manager of the N. Y. Central lines, and J. Clay Cuthbert, who represents the large steamship lines.

Elephant Wins $200.
Doc Waddell got to town in a hurry. He rode his elephant, "Waddy," in and won a wager of $200. Waddell and his pet left La Grande at the same hour the train did and beat the steam cars to Pendleton 20 minutes. Waddell and his pet actually ate breakfast at the French restaurant this morning.

What the Drummers Say.
Said J. H. Wilkinson, a well known traveling man, this morning: "There is no question as to the gilt-edge standing of the Sells-Floto circus. It is topnotch. Why a small show will claim immensity and comparison to it is beyond me. By doing so the people must be considered blind, deaf and dumb."

"The Sells-Floto is big, clean and good. Its circus performance is the swiftest arrangement of the very best in the show world under canvas. I have met it at several places and in each instance its tents were packed with people. It is the only show on the road that lives up to the law to the letter. No one should miss it."

Day and Date.
The date of the Sells-Floto circus for here is Saturday, May 30. Street Parade, 10:30 a. m. Two performances, 2 and 8 p. m. Doors open one hour earlier.

SHEPHERD CARVERS.

The Lonely Sheep Tenders of the California Sierras.

There are few lonelier lives in the world than those lived by shepherds in the high meadows of the California Sierras. All alone they follow their sheep, seeing no one for many months of the year but the sheep, their dogs and perhaps an occasional—a very occasional—traveler. Probably this solitude dries up the springs of speech, for they are said to be very silent when they do encounter any one.

One of these strange men is a Basque from the Pyrenees. A lean, dark visaged, ragged fellow, he is now and then overtaken by some wanderer in the mountains. Along the trail before him his sheep feed. His mongrel collie hangs at his heels. He may raise his stick in mute salutation; he may slouch by without a sign. Yet this uncouth being has one talent—he can carve. His amusement is carving quaint sheep buckles out of bone. Every herd has its bellwether, about whose neck hangs a bell. The bell depends from a leather collar, and it is the buckles of these collars that this old Basque shepherd and some of these other Sierra shepherds make in the course of their lonely days. Sometimes a buckle represents a summer's work, for some of them are very elaborate. Some are in the semblance of saints or angels, some have the monograms of the sheep owners or of the shepherds in curious designs. All are patiently cut, bit by bit, with the pocketknife of the shepherd.—Exchange.

BENEFIT TOMORROW NIGHT.

Streeter Bryan Company Will Close Season With Excellent Play Sunday Night.

The Oregon theater is well filled this afternoon for the matinee, the beautiful play, "Princess of Patches," being the attraction. This bill will also be played tonight and tomorrow night.

Tomorrow night the Streeter-Bryan company will close for the present season, and the many friends of Miss Bryan will undoubtedly turn out, as this will be a benefit to go toward her well earned vacation. There will be some excellent specialties between acts tonight and tomorrow night, and Miss Bryan and Mr. Streeter will appear in some of their very best specialties. "Princess of Patches" is very creditably put on by this clever company, and Mr. Streeter's part is almost entirely comic, in which he always makes a big hit.

Mr. Streeter announced this morning that six members of the company, Miss Bryan, himself, Miss Foster, Miss Bryan's mother, Mr. Harry Terry, Mr. Frank Weeks and Mr. Love expect to leave in about a week for Walla Walla county, where they will spend the summer in the vicinity of Walla Walla lake. With the opening of the fair in September, Mr. Streeter will put in an excellent stock company here and at Walla Walla, and various changes will be made in new scenery, new plays, etc.

Tonight the prices will be 25 cents, and remember tomorrow night there will be 100 of the choice seats in the house given at 25 cents—first come first served. It is expected that the house will be packed for the production tomorrow night, the benefit for Miss Bryan, who has made so many friends in the city.

The play is full of wit and comedy, with a beautiful romance running through, and one that appeals to all.

Dime Change Tomorrow.

There will be a change of moving pictures at the Dime tomorrow, one of the best changes yet seen here. New, attractive, and in beautiful colorings, and appropriate for Sunday. The pictures which were put on yesterday drew good crowds.

Eagle Show Shop.

The Eagle Show Shop is attracting good crowds with a fine set of moving pictures, the production of "Othello," that beautiful Shakespearean play, being one of the chief attractions. It is in beautiful colors. The entire program is especially attractive. There will be another good change tomorrow.

Pastime Pleases.

The Pastime has been pleasing the crowds with a fine lot of moving pictures since Friday, and there will be something entirely new and up to date another good change tomorrow.

TO SUPPRESS LIQUOR.

Congress Votes $6000 to Fight Booz Traffic in Alaska.

A Washington dispatch says: The great sundry civil appropriation bill, carrying a total of about $120,000,000 was passed by the senate today. An amendment by Gallinger appropriating $6000 to suppress the liquor traffic in Alaska, was adopted. This is the last of the large supply bills, and its passage places the senate squarely alongside the house in the consideration of appropriation bills, and leaves only the general deficiency and military academy bills to be considered by either house.

A portion of the session was devoted to consideration of the bill suspending the penalty feature of the commodity clause of the railroad rate bill, but a vote was not taken.

Elgin Stock Show.

The business men are working hard today to make a success of the initial stock show and market day in this locality Saturday, says the Elgin Recorder. Considerable property is listed for the public sales which follow the parade, and some good prices will be realized in the sale of stock.

The parade of blooded horses and stock starts at 2 o'clock and will pass over the principal streets of the city. Following the parade comes the market day sales. There is much interest manifested and Elgin business men are going to prosper by their venture. Stock from several sections of the valley remote from Elgin, will be in the parade and in line for the prize-winning ribbons.

New Magazine.

The students of the agricultural department this week issued the first number of the Washington Agriculturalist, says the Pullman Tribune. The magazine contains 54 pages, 31 of which are reading matter and illustrations. With but two exceptions all of the advertisements were obtained from outside firms and the home merchants were not called upon to assist in the publication. The magazine will be published regularly each month hereafter during the school year. The Tribune printed the May number and will start at once on the June number which will be out by the first of the month.

Steve Adams has been granted a change of venue in the murder case of Arthur Collins and will be tried at Grand Junction instead of Telluride.

Pay Day at La Grande Creamery.

This is pay day at the Blue Mountain creamery. There are about 185 patrons of this institution and they receive their pay the 15th of each month, says the La Grande Star.

The average disbursement is about $3000, but during the spring and early summer season the amount of cream received is larger than at other seasons, so the amount to be distributed today will be larger than the average. Checks will range all the way from $10 to upwards of $100. The creamery is one of the substantial institutions of the community.

Speed---Comfort---Reliability

POPE HARTFORD

No other automobile so quickly, favorably and widely impressed itself upon the public and the automobile trade in general as did the Pope Hartford in Pendleton. It was the the most talked-of car, the most conspicuous, most admired and consequently the most popular. It was at once found to be reliable—a car not requiring the services of an expert to drive it, a car which has made a record for itself all over the world as a hill climber and the speediest of its class.

The 1908 Hartford has been on the road many weeks, has been put to every conceivable road, hill climbing, speed and reliability test.

Ask us to do any stunt you want --- ask us to go where any car will go, irrespective of make, price, horse-power or number of cylinders. If you try and make the others, in and out of our class, do the same things under the same conditions, you'll buy a Pope Hartford.
