O. R. & N. STARTS TEN-YEAR BATTLE FOR BETTER FARMING METHODS

The Oregon Daily Journal says of the vigorous campaign for better farming methods and increased production started by the O. R. & N. company in eastern Oregon:

A 10-year campaign has been entered upon by the O. R. & N. company by which it is declared that the productiveness of eastern Oregon and the inland empire can be trebled and livestock grazing converted into a fat stock industry on an enormous scale. It is declared that Oregon can be added to the corn belt, and will successfully produce the cereal that is the staple stock fattener of the middle west.

The complete success of the O. R. & N. company's preliminary campaign for diversified farming in the territory tributary to its lines has decided the company to continue the work. Other demonstration trains will be run in the future, and the most advanced and scientific ideas will be applied to the movement.

Develop Livestock Industry.

"We believe that as to agricultural products the map of eastern Oregon and Washington will be made over during the next few years, as a result of the work that we have undertaken," said R. B. Miller, general freight agent.

"It is possible to put eastern Oregon that Oregon will produce corn and various other crops in great abundance, and that the livestock proportions, by following out the lines of diversified farming advocated by the Oregon Agricultural experiment station.

"Where vast wheat farms now occupy the territory, and one-half of these lands are idle every alternate year, general farm products can be raised and the lands used every year with actual benefit to every acre so used. The result will be that while wheat raising will continue to be enormously successful, other crops will come in for their share of attention, as in the states of the middle west, and there will be plenty of all kinds of feed for livestock.

"Another thing—it will be found that wheat fed to pigs will be highly profitable, and will produce the finest flavored pork in the world. There can be vast crops of field peas and clover produced every other year on the wheat lands, and with corn as an important crop the eastern part of Oregon can be converted successfully to the livestock business on a large scale."

Shipping Hogs From the East.

It is said the packing houses at present in the Pacific northwest are importing a large majority of their hogs from the middle west, and that these hogs can be with profit produced in Oregon. The packing house at Walla Walla, for example, secures only 15 per cent of its hogs from the eastern Washington region, and ships most of its raw material from the east. The big packers are building the Pacific coast's greatest packing center at Portland, and will require a vast number of hogs, cattle and sheep. The regions east of the Cascades must turn to the livestock business if these packing houses are to be supplied with sufficient livestock to keep them going.

The declaration by so eminent a traffic authority as R. B. Miller that eastern Oregon can be made a part of the American corn belt will occasion considerable surprise among old-fashioned farmers. Mr. Miller is in deadly earnest in his statement, and means to demonstrate its practicability during the next few years. The O. R. & N. company is already planning a campaign for next fall. It will improve its program for demonstration trains, carrying lecturers and equipment for showing the farmers the most successful methods of diversified farming.

Time for Questions.

In the recent demonstrations the train was permitted to stop only one hour at each point. Next fall the trains will make two-hour stops at each point, and allow time for questions and discussions by the assembled farmers. The hearty co-operation of the professors from the Oregon Agricultural college has been assured and the company will not spare money nor effort to accomplish a complete reversal of present day farm methods in the inland empire. It is believed that Oregon cannot only be made to maintain its preeminence as a wheat producing empire, but it can make a great success of diversified farming.

Wheat farming on a large scale in eastern Oregon, while very successful, has had its serious drawbacks. The farms are so large and the country so sparsely populated that the problem of securing harvest hands has been a hard one. The new era is expected to usher in a change that will improve conditions.

When it is demonstrated that every acre of a 500-acre farm can be used every year, and its productive capacity more than doubled, the farmer will find that he has all he can do to farm one-half of that acreage. The lands will rise in value and he will sell off lands for smaller farms, and increase the number of farmers in the country. The result will be a vastly greater aggregate crop product. There will be more help in harvest time, because the farmers will see them going about as is done in the middle west farming regions, helping each other with teams and men to garner the crops.

Addressed 3000 Farmers.

On the trip made by the O. R. & N. demonstration train 18 stops were made, and it is estimated that the lecturers were heard by more than 2000 actual farmers, not counting women and children. At many places the schools were dismissed and the children were brought by their teachers to hear the lectures. At Weston the normal school attended in a body. At every point crowds of farmers were waiting the arrival of the train. They gave earnest attention to the lecturers and showed every evidence of being deeply interested in the doctrines advocated. There was no disposition shown to discredit the importance of the movement, but on the contrary the attitude of the farmers is one of co-operation in any plan that will improve their farms, populate and better their state.

GOVERNOR SET AFOOT.

"Bob" Inman's Auto Landed in Middle of Yamhill Mudhole.

One familiar sight has been missing from the Portland streets the last week in the shape of R. D. Inman's flyer, whose silvered back can usually be seen scooting around some corner at any time of the day or night, says a Portland paper.

Of late, however, it has been conspicuous by its absence, and only yesterday did it leak out that the beast is humbly housed in a livery stable in North Yamhill.

Mr. Inman and Governor Chamberlain struck old Yamhill county last week when the rains were descending and the floods coming. When about four miles from the town they faced a mudhole that could not be skirted and they decided to make a run for it.

It needed two jumps to cross, but the machine made only one, and settled to a soft bed in the oozy bottom. Four horses were secured to tow the "flyer" to town. Mr. Inman was soaked to the skin and bought a $14 suit at a country store.

He got in a rain with it the next day, and when he reached Portland it had shrunk until the coat sleeves and the buttons of the trousers appeared to be in a race to reach his waist-line.

PHONE RATES RAISED.

Bell Company Advances All Prices at Boise City.

Telephone rates have been raised throughout the city by the Rocky Mountain Bell Telephone company on the grounds that the system in this district is not much more than making expenses, says the Boise Capital News.

The raise has been effective since the latter part of March and patrons whose contracts for the year expired after that date have been required to sign new contracts at the advanced rate of 50 cents.

The Independent Telephone people it is authoritatively stated, were approached about that time to make a similar raise in accordance with the raise that was made by the Bell Telephone, but this proposition was turned down by them, one of the officers stating that they were making enough under the present rates and did not think the people would stand for a raise on account of the financial depression that had, recently swept over the country.

Learning today that the rates are being raised, a representative of the Capital News interviewed Manager Jones of the Bell Telephone company relative to the present rates.

Mr. Jones stated that the raise has been in effect since the last of March, the "dollar home" for four-party line "phone being done away with and the rate raised to $1.50 per month, or $15 per year under the new contracts. The two party lines are raised accordingly, the new contracts calling for $2 per month or $24 per year, while the single or individual line "phones are raised to $2.50 per month, or $30 per year.

$100 Reward, $100.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Internally, it is taken in the form of a pill, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have offered One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials. Address: F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O. Sold by all Druggists, 75c. Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

New Tammany Sachem.

New York, May 25.—Daniel F. Co-halan will be elected to succeed W. Burke Cochran as grand sachem of the Tammany society at the meeting this evening. Another matter likely to be considered is the advisability of moving the Tammany hall headquarters uptown. Leaders of the organization are seriously considering this proposition, it is known, but the plans of the board of sachems will not be made known until a site has been selected and an option secured.

BOYS MUST WORK AT WEST POINT

FOUR YEAR'S COURSE IS FILLED WITH HARD STUDY

Review of the Course and Requirements Which Harold Warner, Pendleton High School Student, Must Meet in the Big Military School—One Leave of Absence in Four Years—Three Months of Each Year in Active Military Discipline in Camp.

Since a Pendleton boy, Harold J. Warner of the high school class of '09 has just been appointed to the West Point military academy, facts concerning admission, course of study, discipline and other features of the academy, will be interesting to the readers of the East Oregonian.

Each senator, congressional district and territory—also the District of Columbia, Porto Rico and Alaska—is entitled to have one cadet at the academy. There are also 40 appointments at large, specially conferred by the president of the United States. The number of students is thus limited to 523.

Appointments are usually made one year in advance of the date of admission, by the secretary of war, upon the nomination of a senator or representative. These nominations may be made after competitive examination or given direct, at the option of the representative. The representative may also nominate two legally qualified second candidates, to be designated alternates.

The alternates will receive from the war department a letter of appointment and will be examined with the regular appointee, the best qualified of the alternates to be admitted to the academy in case of the failure of the principal to pass the examination.

Appointees to the academy must be between 17 and 22 years of age, free from any infirmity which may render them unfit for military service, and able to pass a careful examination in reading, writing, arithmetic, spelling, English grammar, English composition, English literature, algebra through quadratic equations, plane geometry, descriptive geography, and the elements of physical geography, especially of the geography of the United States, United States history, the outlines of general history and the general principles of physiology and hygiene.

The course of instruction, which requires four years is quite thorough and is largely mathematical and professional. The principal subjects taught are English, French, drawing, mathematics, drill regulations of all arms of the service, natural and experimental philosophy, chemistry, chemical physics, mineralogy, geology, electricity, history, international constitutional and military law, Spanish, civil and military engineering and the art and science of war, ordnance and gunnery.

SECOND LARGEST DAM IN WORLD IS UNDER WAY

L. H. Gorry, Jr., manager of the Helena Power Transmission company, has announced that material has been ordered for the construction of the second largest dam in the world, says a Helena dispatch. This will be known as the third dam on the Missouri river, thirty miles from Helena. When completed, it will not only irrigate thousands of acres of land in this section, but will furnish power for plants in Helena, Butte and Anaconda. By July 1 more than 500 men will be employed on the construction work.

The immensity of the undertaking is seen by the fact that 125,000 barrels of cement will be used. Loaded on cars, this would compose a train nine miles long. One thousand tons of steel will also be used. The project is backed by former Governor Samuel T. Hauser and New York capitalists.

B. Logadon, living at 1223 Y street, La Grande, Ore., says: "I have been subject to attacks of kidney trouble and backache for four or five years. The trouble was always severe and became more frequent as time went on. I had pains in my back, headaches and the secretions from my kidneys caused me to arise many times during the night. I had heard so much about Doan's Kidney Pills that I decided to try them and procured a box. I took them but a short time when the pains disappeared and my kidneys were restored to their former good health. I am glad to recommend Doan's kidney pills to others."
