The Best Alarm Clock.

If you have use for an alarm clock to wake you up these spring mornings, then you should get a good one. A poor alarm clock is much worse than no clock at all. You cannot depend upon a cheap clock picked up probably in a place where the knowledge of clocks is unknown. When you buy a clock from us you know that if anything goes wrong we are ready to make good with the proper repairs.

All alarm clocks guaranteed and cost from $1.00 to $2.50.

When Britain Fought For an Ear.

Perhaps the most extraordinary example of Britain going to war for "no reason at all" occurred in the reign of George II. One Robert Jenkins, an English merchant-captain, trading from Jamaica, arriving in England in 1738, reported that the sloop had been boarded by the Spanish coast guards and that, though no proof of smuggling had been found, he had been tortured and his ear torn off. All England flew into an uproar. "Jenkins' ear" divided parties and shook Walpole's ministry itself. The house of commons sent for Jenkins, and he was told to bring his ear with him. The incident grew into a crisis, though Walpole did his best to persuade people to keep their heads, but the popular indignation was so great that the next year the government was compelled to declare war against Spain.—Pearson's.

The Parish Top.

Once in England top whipping was practically ordered by law. There was a huge top formerly provided in every village to be whipped in frosty weather so that the peasants might be kept warm by the exercise and out of mischief while they could not work.
Shakespeare in "Twelfth Night" says, "His brains turn like a parish top." Ben Jonson in "New Inn" writes, "He spins like a parish top," and Beaumont and Fletcher have "dances like a town top and reels and hobbles." Evelyn, the diarist, speaking of the uses of willow wood, says that it was ordered that "the great town tops should be made thereof."

Is German as Bad as This?

John Ruskin was caustic in his utterances about the German language. In "Letters of Dr. John Brown" Ruskin is thus quoted:
"German isn't a 'language' at all, but only a 'throatage' or 'gutturage'—a mode of human expression learned chiefly of wolves and bears, with half of the things it calls words stitched in the middle like wasps and ants or ass panniers, and letters scabbled out when people were mostly drunk, so that they didn't know the tops from the bottoms of them."

In Wrong.

"Your husband is greatly in need of exercise," said the doctor. "He's indoors too much. He'll have to get out more."
"Out more!" exclaimed the wife.
"He's been out every night this week.
That's what's the matter with him."
Realizing that he was in the wrong, the doctor left a prescription and promised to call later.—St. Louis Republic.

The Vote That Counted.

"And what was your family's decision?"
"Practically unanimous in my favor," answered the young lawyer, "mother voting aye and father dissenting."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

His School.

"Have you a college diploma?"
"No, but I have several mining stock certificates that I might frame and hang up as evidence that I have been through the school of experience."— Exchange.

Turning the Tables.

When E. L. Godkin was editor of the New York Evening Post he was supposed by many to lack a sense of humor, but those in his employ who stood close to him knew better. One morning he sent for his young city editor.

"Last night," said Mr. Godkin, "I read in the Post an account of the suicide of a boy. Your news paragraph reported as the motive that the boy was being resisted at home in a premature inclination to marry. Mr. Blank, can you imagine how that father felt when you accused him for what was no doubt done in a sense of loving duty of being the cause of the death of his child?"

The young editor stammered an apology.

"Thank you for your explanation," said Godkin. "But," he went on in a more decided tone, "if anything like that ever happens again I give you fair warning, sir, that I will leave this paper! I will not work for a paper that says things so cruel!"—Success Magazine.

Irrigation Talk No. 29

May has shown more sales of Furnish-Coe irrigated lands than either April or March. We practically put these lands on the market sixty days ago. A thousand acres will be under irrigation as a result of this Spring's work during this year.

No other irrigation project that we know of can show such a large advance in so short a time.

June 1st an advance of twenty-five dollars per acre will be placed upon all irrigated lands. Until then the price will be $100.00 per acre, of this $33, 1-3 must be paid down.
$25.00 profit between now and June 1st in values, is not so very bad for buyers who look us up between now and then, is it?

One of the planks of the Republican state platform is as follows

We are opposed to the abuse of the initiative and referendum by the submission to the people of large numbers of measures on the same ballot. The people are too busy to give these measures the attention necessary to insure wise action. The number of measures to be submitted at any one election should be limited and it should be further provided that a measure once voted down by the people should be ineligible to a place on the ballot for a period of six years thereafter.

The latter part of this plank is clearly directed against woman suffrage. This proposition was thoroughly canvassed two years ago and was defeated by a majority of 10,173. There has been no change in public opinion on this question and the immigration into the state has been chiefly of those opposed to this amendment. Nevertheless, it is again foisted on the ballot under the misleading title of "Equal Suffrage" in the hope that through the inattention of the voters and the carelessness which will follow from the large number of propositions submitted, this measure may slip through. The convention is right. This is an abuse of the initiative. The amendment ought to be defeated by a larger majority than that of two years ago.
