FREEST MOTORING EVENT ON YEAR'S CALENDAR

Annual Hill Climb Up Giants Despair Mountain—Cars Entered From All Larger Cities of the East—Result of National Importance—Many Other Races Also Scheduled.

Wilkes-Barre, Pa., May 29.—What promises to be one of the biggest motoring events on this year's calendar in the United States will take place here tomorrow, when the Wilkes-Barre Automobile club will hold its annual hill climb up Giant's Despair mountain. Cars from all of the larger cities of the east have been entered. The result of the contest will be of national importance to motorists as it thoroughly tests the strength of a car in hill-climbing work. The road up the mountain is of crushed rock and has been thoroughly oiled. Militia will guard the course and keep back the spectators. The course is 6000 feet long and is lined by hills, forming a natural amphitheatre which could readily accommodate a hundred thousand spectators.

Five Events.

Baltimore, May 29.—Motorists from Washington, Philadelphia, Wilmington and other cities are arriving in Baltimore today in large numbers, to witness or participate in the second annual meet of the Motor car Racing association of Maryland. The races will be held tomorrow over the Pimlico race track. Five events comprise the program, with a 100-mile race as the feature. The list of events follows: Five miles for stock touring cars; 19 miles for Maryland runabout championship; five miles open to stock touring cars of from 40 to 60-horse-power; 10 miles free-for-all handicap and 100-mile championship.

Exciting Race at Readville.

Boston, May 29.—Prospects are good for a highly exciting motor car race meeting at Readville track tomorrow, under the auspices of the Bay State Automobile association. There will be five races for automobiles including two events for touring cars, at five miles; a race for runabouts at five miles, and a 20-mile contest for stripped stock classes. The latter will probably be the principal event, since it will be participated in by cars of the type used in the Brainerd race. There will also be two events for motor cycles.

An Endurance Test.

Pittsburg, Pa., May 29.—A notable high speed endurance automobile race to last 12 hours, will be held tomorrow at Brunots Island track is attracting a great deal of attention. The entries are limited to stripped stock cars. Fuel, oil and water consumption will be carefully recorded, thus giving automobile buyers an opportunity to compare the cost of maintenance, speed and durability of the various makes of cars.

CORNELL OR YALE PICKED TO WIN.

Philadelphia, May 29.—The pick and pink of the athletes of all the great universities and colleges of the east and middle west congregated on Franklin Field at the University of Pennsylvania today for the preliminary events in the big inter-collegiate championship meet. Cornell or Yale is picked as the winner by the majority of the experts, although it is admitted that Michigan and Pennsylvania have a fighting chance. Harvard and Princeton are believed to be hopelessly out of the race. The meet will be continued tomorrow, when the big events of the program will be decided.

Pennsylvania, the winner of a year ago, does not size up formidably, for while Stevens, the Yale sprinter, is cutting into Mike Murphy's hopes in the dashes, Cornell distance men will be doing things in the runs.

The University of Michigan will again be the dark horse in the running. Princeton, Harvard, Syracuse and Dartmouth will trail.

Recently Yale and Cornell both showed their real strength, for while the wearers of the blue were downing the crimson 69-1-5 points to 43 4-5, Cornell took the Princeton Tigers into camp by a score of 89 to 37.

Cartmell and Whitman of Pennsylvania at the past two intercollegiate meets, have been a very formidable pair of sprinters and Cartmell has had rather an easy time in winning the championship title for the 100 and 220-yard dashes in 1906 and 1907.

In April Stevens, the Yale sprinter, who in spite of an injured leg, performed so brilliantly against Harvard, took Cartmell's measure and today he looks good to repeat in the intercollegiate.

Cornell is not hoping for much in the sprints or in the hurdles, but Yale in the latter events expects to pick up a few points with Howe and Robbins, although Shaw of Dartmouth is conceded fast. With Garrells out of the running, Robbins has a look in for a second in the 120-yard event, while Howe may land a third in the 220-yard timbers.

Taylor of Penn. if right is booked for the quarter. Coholan of Yale was second in this event a year ago, and while Trainer Johnny Mack will be without his services at the coming games, he has in LaMontagne a fine 440-yard man who may be a second place winner, although he will have a hard fight for it with Carpenter of Cornell.

Cornell has for the past three years shown great strength in the distance run, and it is in the half, mile and two-mile events that Trainer Jack Moakley will again make his grand fight. Here again he will have to face men trained to the minute by Keene Fitzpatrick and some more grand races and close finishes between the Ithacans and Wolverines are expected to take place. Yale also may slip in for a few points in all of the runs that will help out in the grand total and land her a winner.

Cook of Cornell looks like a winner of the broad jump, for recently he covered 23 feet 1 1/4 inches. Michigan also has some good men for this event and the chances are that the two colleges will divide the points unless Simons of Princeton slips in for a place.

In the pole vault, Cook of Cornell, Gilbert of Yale, and Dray of Yale, should have a great fight, and the points here will look as if they would be divided between the two colleges.

The high jump and shot put are very doubtful events. This is chiefly because there are no exceptionally good men. Kruger of Swarthmore, should be the winner in the latter. Horr of Syracuse, is booked for a first in the hammer, but Cooney of Yale, should take a second.

Taken as a whole, the meet this year should be an exceptional one, with a close fight between Cornell, Yale, Michigan and perhaps Pennsylvania all the way.

Hon. G. W. Phelps.

(Irrigation Irrigator.)

Four years ago when Mr. Phelps was elected prosecuting attorney for this district, embracing Umatilla and Morrow counties, there were some who did not think "Bert" had the backbone to enforce the law in Pendleton as to gambling and unlawful liquor selling, and there were others who did not think he could hold his own against some of the able attorneys of this district when pitted against them in important cases.

But Mr. Phelps has not only done his full duty against the lawbreakers of Pendleton and all other parts of the district, but he has worsted every attorney who ran against him, or at least he has won nine-tenths of the suits he has instituted, convicted more than nine-tenths of the criminals he has prosecuted, and it must be remembered that he has had to handle almost twice as many criminal cases as any former prosecutor in the district.

Having made such an exceptionally good record, one of the best ever made by a public prosecutor in Oregon, "Bert" now asks our votes again and he should get every ballot cast in Morrow county for that office. Let us show him, and the people at large, that we appreciate the sort of work he has done, and return him by an overwhelming majority.

Remarkable Admissions

Made By the Foremost Prohibition Journal in This Country.

The National Prohibitionists of Chicago and New York, in their issue of January 9, 1908, quoting the official statistics, showing the revenues from beer and spirits during 1906 to have been $199,035,913, and in 1907, $215,904,720, in an editorial makes the following comment:

"It seems to us that these figures teach, as clearly as anything can be taught, that the kind of prohibition which we have had up to the present time is not a cure for the drink evil and does not even approach a cure. We are frequently told that many millions, a third, perhaps a half of the population of the United States, live under prohibition. The statement is true only in a very modified sense, and the showing of the article in question emphasizes its lack of exactness.

"In strict fact, no part of the United States today has real prohibition. The sale of liquor is forbidden in certain sections; the manufacturer of liquor is also forbidden within limited areas. The forbidding is made good so far as the manufacture is concerned, in the greater part of the so-called Prohibition territory, and we begin to have considerable sections of the country where comparatively little liquor is sold, but the results of drink selling in the wider sphere of its influence still reach the whole country, and to a very large extent, through interstate commerce and other means, drink-selling goes on through the whole country."
