SUNSET AT GUAYAQUIL.

There is No Twilight, No Interval Between Daylight and Dark.

The days and nights at Guayaquil are of equal length. The sun knocks off promptly at 6 o'clock in the evening and gets up at 6 in the morning with equal regularity the whole year around. There is no twilight, no gloaming, no interval whatever between daylight and dark—only a brilliant illumination, the sudden disappearance of a red ball into a blue ocean, a spread of flame color over all the western sky for a few minutes and a purple haze in the east.

Then the surface of the ocean, like the heavens, is lighted with millions of strange and shifting stars, for the water is so impregnated with phosphorus that each tiny wave is tipped with light, and the foam that follows in the wake of the vessel is often like a stream of fire. Sometimes you can see porpoises swimming along the bow of the vessel livid with phosphorescent light and followed by a streak of sparks like a comet's tail.

The Southern Cross, with the right arm tipped out at proper angle, lies straight ahead in the midst of myriads of unknown worlds that look strange to those accustomed to the northern constellations. Under the left arm is a large black spot in the heavens, brightened by only a single modest star, which the sailors call "the devil's dinner bag." Over the stern of the vessel in the early evening you can plainly distinguish the familiar constellation of the Great Bear, but it goes to bed with the children.

HIS SERVICES.

What Became of All the Bills He Introduced in Congress.

"Yes, my fellow citizens," said the political candidate, "if you have paid any attention to the work of congress you will have noticed that during the past session I introduced twenty-two bills, each of which was intended to benefit this community. I stand before you today with the proud consciousness of having served you faithfully and to the best of my ability. Those twenty-two bills would, if they had been passed, have made this one of the most favored districts on God's green earth, and—"

"Oh," yelled a man in the gallery, "we know you introduced 'em, all right, but what happened to 'em after that?" "Gentlemen, I appeal to your sense of honor. Do you consider it fair that I should be interrupted in this manner? Is it right that I should?" "There ain't no harm in answerin' the question, is there?" asked another of the statesman's hearers.

"Well, sir, I will tell you what became of those bills, my fellow citizens. Every one of them was printed in the Congressional Record, where, if you will look over the files, you may find them today. But to revert to the seed question, gentlemen, I do not hesitate to promise that no man living in this, the most splendid district in our grand old state, shall appeal to me in vain if you shall deem it best to send me back to Washington, where I have served you with such signal ability."—Chicago Record-Herald.

A National Trait.

A traveler returned from Jaffa tells this tale at his own expense. Having journeyed to the historical seaport on his way to Jerusalem, he succeeded in hiring a conveyance to carry him to the station. By speech and gesture he informed the native driver that he wished to be carried in a leisurely, sightseeing fashion through as many as possible of the principal thoroughfares of Jaffa and to be delivered at the terminal just in time to take the outgoing train.

He had no sooner seated himself in the vehicle, however, than the driver whipped up his horse and whirled the dismayed traveler at a furious pace through all the dust and over all the stones of the notoriously rough streets of Jaffa. The passenger was too busily employed in saving his bones to be able to see anything of the interesting town.

Arriving at the station, he found that he still had two hours to wait.

"Why in the world," he demanded indignantly, "did you ever hurry like that?" "You American," responded the driver, with an expressive shrug, "All American like go very much fast."—Youth's Companion.

He Was Too Smart.

He was the only man at the table full of lovely girls, and like all only men, he was spoiled. So when the belle of the table remarked that she was very fond of pepper and then sifted half the contents of the pepper box over her food he sprang an old gag on her.

"It won't hurt you. This pepper is half peas."

"What is that you say?" asked the landlady from the next table. "Speak a little louder, please."

He reiterated his remark.

"That isn't true," retorted the landlady hotly. "I do not use adulterated goods on my table."

"My dear madam," said the bland joker, "there are always a lot of p's in pepper."

There was an impressive pause. Then the landlady said in a crushing voice: "Oh, yes, just as you always furnish part of the dessert."

"I don't understand."

"The chestnuts."—London Standard.

Did She Keep Her Temper?

Mr. Biles is a very hasty tempered man, but he is also one who keeps his promises to the very letter. Therefore Mrs. B. has trained him to believe that second thoughts are best and even in a moment of his weakness extracted from him a promise always to count twenty before he speaks if he feels rage coming upon him. Last Sunday he rushed into the back drawing room spluttering with fury and laid in the face. Mrs. Biles rose and read a gentle hand on his stammering lips.

"M-mary, I-I-I—" "Hush, dear," said the sweet woman. "Count twenty and conquer yourself, and I shall be more proud of you than if you had conquered the world."

"Eighteen, nineteen, twenty"— "Now tell me, dear."

"It's that new hat of yours that you paid 6 guineas for, and the new servant's gone out in, and it's raining hard—that's all."—London Express.

AMERICANS IN GAMES.

Riflemen Will Take Part in the Great Olympic Sports.

Washington, June 1.—Arrangements for the entries of the rifle and revolver teams in the Olympic games are proceeding satisfactorily. An appeal has been made by the National Rifle association to its life members and to other patriotic Americans for funds to defray the expenses of the rifle team.

Secretary Albert S. Jones of Washington, D. C., is receiving the subscriptions. During the first week in June there will be exhaustive tests of ammunition made by the leading ammunition companies for the new Springfield rifle, either on the District of Columbia range or at Annapolis.

The following week the competition for places on the team will be held at Camp Perry with about 30 of the best shots in the United States as competitors. The result will be announced June 13, and the entries cabled at once to London.

REPUBLICAN PLATFORM IS BEING FRAMED

Conference at White House Takes Up the Gigantic Task

Washington, June 1.—The republican platform will be written at the White House at a conference to begin today, it is stated.

Roosevelt, Taft, Hitchcock and Vorhies will be present. Senator Hopkins of Illinois, who is to be chairman of the resolutions committee at Chicago will participate.

It is expected that Senators Warner, Burkett and Long and Representative Burton and other members of the house will be present.

The hardest work will be on the tariff plank. Taft has announced repeatedly that he believes there should be a revision perceptible to the naked eye. The reconciliation of the Ohio candidate with a large number of "standpatters" is the difficult task before the conferees.

Another Banker on Trial.

San Francisco, June 1.—The trial of Walter Bartlett, former vice president of the defunct California Safe Deposit and Trust company, was called this morning before Judge Conley of Madera. Judge Cook being disqualified because he was one of the depositors. The special venire will be called. Witnesses excused till Friday.

Bartlett denies he followed the example of Dalzell Brown, who pleaded guilty.

Gallant Sailor.

Vallejo, Cal., June 1.—Miss Margaret Rynearson, of Denver, and Charles Peters, a sailor, are suffering from internal injuries as the result of a collision between the ferryboat El Capitán and the government tug Dart, at the government flow here. Peters attempted to save the girl from injury when he saw the collision was inevitable and both were injured.

To Curb Doctor Output.

Chicago, June 1.—Cheap medical colleges are termed "diploma mills" in the report the committee on education will make to the American Medical association today or tomorrow. The recommendation is for the association to begin war against the colleges turning out physicians so rapidly throughout the country.

Contests Disrupt Plans.

Chicago, June 1.—It became apparent today at republican headquarters that the great number of contests over the seating of delegates to the national convention would disrupt the leaders' plans and may cause a long delay. It is believed the credentials committee will be in session at least two days.

Colt Wins Great Race.

New York, June 1.—Colt won the Brooklyn handicap this afternoon; Fairplay, second; Master Robert, third.

ROSE SHOW BEGINS

PORTLAND DONS HER FESTIVAL GOWN TODAY

City Is Flower-Wreathed and the Holiday Spirit Is Seen Everywhere—Fleet Lies in the Harbor—Excursions to be Run from all Over Inland Empire—Magazines Issue Special Numbers.

Portland, June 1.—The Portland rose festival opened this morning with all Portland in a holiday humor, flower-wreathed windows and roses in evidence everywhere. Thousands of visitors from outside points are in the city, and incoming crowds are greeted by an immense arch of welcome erected at the approach to the Union station. The mosquito fleet lies at anchor in the harbor, an excursion of over a hundred people, under the auspices of the Sacramento Valley Development league, arrived this morning from the south. Washington is sending generous delegations and an excursion is expected from Lewiston, Idaho, tomorrow morning.

The whole northwest feels that in addition to the innumerable purely attractive features of the celebration the event is a marvelous advertisement of the climatic conditions, for no where else in the world can flowers be found more beautiful than the roses of the North Pacific coast. The grand parades will exceed anything ever shown on the coast, and besides the leading towns of Oregon, Washington will be represented in the floats and decorated vehicles.

Permanent Exhibit Room.

When the Oregon Development League recently asked the co-operation of the state in making a comprehensive exhibit of the products of the Pacific northwest, heartiest assurances of help came from every quarter, but before definite arrangements could be completed the trustees of the Commercial club building were offered a five year's rental of $21,000 for the exhibit room and felt compelled to accept this in justice to the stockholders. But the officers of the league say that their plan will yet materialize.

Ad Men Gathering.

From any city of any size on the Coast delegates have come to Portland to attend the session of the Pacific Coast Ad Men's association. It is being held in the convention hall of the Commercial club building, and the association will enjoy a unique dinner at the club tonight—their banquets are probably the most unusual and interesting given by any convention—they have been compared to similar affairs of the famous Grid-Iron club of Washington—and since the Portland Ad Men claim to have the largest advertising club in America, they are making special effort as hosts.

IDAHO WOULD JOIN.

to National Association.

Washington, June 1.—The National Rifle association has received the application of Idaho, at Moscow, Idaho, for enrollment among college clubs affiliated with the N. R. A.

It is probable the project of an intercollegiate shoot next month will be abandoned as there are not sufficient entries to justify the same. Meanwhile the beautiful college trophy remains in the custody of the N. R. A.

Other recent affiliations are from the Southern California Rifle association, of Los Angeles; Governor's troop of Harrisburg, Pa., and the Denver Rifle Club association.

Vaderland Is Safe.

London, June 1.—The Red Star steamer Vaderland, reported aground on Goodwin sands last night, is safe at Antwerp, according to a message received this morning. She sailed Saturday with 1600 aboard, but put about. She cleared Antwerp again this morning and probably will reach Dover this afternoon.
