"Hope" is the message sweetly blown Across the meadows and the hills, And there is courage in each tone That issues from the grinding mills; The weakling only clings to fear, Or lingers, cowering, at the rear. The world is green again, the breeze Is busy through the cheerful day Dispensing sweets from blooming trees To gladden all who would be gay; The selfish only stand aside And grumble on, dissatisfied. The way ahead is fair and clear, The sun is bravely shining clear, And they that care to listen hear The call that rids their hearts of doubt; The cowards only lag along, Insisting that what is wrong, —S. E. Kiser.

WHO DID THE KNIFING?

Where H. M. Cake, the republican senatorial candidate failed to carry his party strength, who should be held responsible? Should those republicans who supported him in the primaries be held accountable for this falling off of the republican support? Or should those who opposed him in the primaries and who were naturally disappointed because their candidate lost out, be held responsible?

Hereafter, if these republicans who deserted the party candidate yesterday come up for republican support, if they should have a candidate in the field, can they hope or expect to receive the undivided support of the party? Have they not set a pace which will simply kill the republican party in the state?

The contest before the primaries was simply a friendly contest between republicans. It was clean, dignified and straightforward and no republican who is a republican at heart had a right or cause to be disgruntled. If he deserted the republican candidate and went over to the democratic ranks through spite work, what must he expect from his party hereafter?

IT IS THE PEOPLE'S CHOICE.

At the time this editorial is being written it looks as though Umatilla county would be carried by the prohibitionists by at least 500 votes.

Whatever the result may be it is the will of the people and the East Oregonian is satisfied.

If the county is carried by the prohibitionists as it looks like it has been, from the incomplete returns, it will be the duty of every citizen and especially every officer, to see that the law is rigidly enforced, to see that the prohibition is not made a failure through a lax observance of the law. The first thing that should be done by the prohibition forces is to organize, if they have not such an organization now, an active executive committee to cooperate with the officials to help enforce the prohibition law, to detect and ferret out the offenders.

A dozen active citizens working on the quiet, and securing evidence, can do more in a matter of this kind than the officers, since the officials are known and are therefore watched closely by offenders. It is the duty and should be a part of the program of the prohibition forces to see that prohibition does prohibit in Umatilla county, that the law can and will be observed.

The county will go ahead as rapidly, or even more rapidly without saloons as with them. The irrigated lands will sell as readily, the orchards will bear as heavily, the wheat harvest will yield as well, the stock industry will continue to thrive and merchants will sell even more goods than ever before.

It will hurt some few men, to be sure, but did not the abolition of slavery break up thousands of wealthy southern families? Was there any excuse for the continuation of slavery simply because these people had their money invested in it? It was wrong and was doomed to go. So with the liquor business.

Let us make prohibition a success. Let us enforce the laws. Let us "cinch" it and keep it "cinched." Umatilla county will never be wet again. Prohibition has come to stay.

ARBITRATION AND BATTLESHIPS.

Out of the dust of the conflict for four big battleships—merely to prove that we desire peace—comes the news from Washington that "with little discussion and less publicity, the United States senate has at this session placed its approval on 37 treaties—more in number, if not in importance, than had been ratified during the 20 years preceding, says the San Francisco Star.

In making effective so many agreements with the nations, international advancement has been made along three distinct lines."

Twelve nations have agreed by treaty with our government to arbitrate future disputes, which is taken to mean nothing less than that the world has now been established on the plane of arbitration.

It is said that the most important matter of this kind settled are the treaties with and legislation in regard to Japan, and that a basis of settlement has been arrived at with Great Britain settling old questions between the United States and Canada.

Perhaps it is "incompatible with the public interests" for the people of this country to know the contents of the arrangements and treaties made with Japan, for the men at Washington have a strange way of governing the people without their consent.

It is said that several arbitration treaties have been approved with Great Britain, Japan, France, Italy, Spain, Switzerland, Mexico, Portugal, Netherlands, Sweden and Denmark.

Besides these, 11 of the treaties resulting from The Hague conference were approved. Inasmuch as a treaty with a foreign power is "the law of the land" in regard to its subject matter, it would seem that the people of a republic of alleged self-governing voters should know what its contents are.

At any rate, it is to be hoped that the treaties made "with little discussion and less publicity"—confirmed by a senate mostly elected and controlled by the interests—are so worded as to insure as much peace as could be insured to us by four more big battleships. We don't like the senate; but even the present senate is better than four more big battleships.

WHAT IS NEW THOUGHT?

William E. Towne, one of the editors of the Nautilus, a new thought magazine, gives a brief review in the June number of what New Thought really means, of what it teaches and of what it consists and this little sermon is worthy of being reproduced in the East Oregonian. Mr. Towne says:

There are some people whose habitual mental attitude is such that success or health or any good thing could not reach them with a 10-foot pole.

New thought says to these people, "Right about face! Begin to look for something good in life. Seek and you shall find. Knock and it shall be opened unto you. Stop your resistance and your everlasting rebellion and eternal kicking.

Remember the experience of Job. Is not good all in all? Do we not live and move and have our being in good? Is not evil a negation of good, and not a real thing in itself? Then does it not logically follow that there can be no lack in this life principle of which we are a part; and that all that can keep us from a reasonable share of health and joy is our own doubt, resistance and rebellion?"

Even if you do not believe in the all pervading principle of good, or if you believe in a God who is not all good, all powerful, all pervading (as so many seem to do) you can yet see the good results which follow from a healthy, mental attitude. Even the most materialistic can trace the benefits of keeping the mind set towards the light.

A "BOOTLEGGERS" RUSE.

A man from Atlanta was showing to some friends what looked like a big cigar wrapped in tinfoil. He took it out of a breast pocket, and it looked for all the world like one of these expensive smokes. "I got this down in Atlanta," he said. "It must have been a good cigar to bring it up all this way," remarked one of the group. "It isn't a cigar," said the traveler. He peeled off the tinfoil and displayed a cigar-shaped bottle filled with whiskey. "You know Georgia's prohibition now," he said.

EXPERIMENTS IN SEX CONTROL.

With the approval of professors of chemistry, the encouragement of some of the leading physicians of the country and the backing of the United States government, Amin S. Jerwan of New York and Paris is going to make a practical demonstration to show that he can control the birth of sex.

While more than 500 theories of various kinds have been advanced in the last century on this much disputed question, little real progress has been made toward solving the sex problem. Mr. Jerwan, who has devoted 12 years in 100 cases in New York city, while his uncle, Dr. A. Sallat of Paris, has demonstrated his power 500 times.

In his effort to prove his claim, Mr. Jerwan has arranged with the department of agriculture at Washington to carry on experiments in Springfield, Mass., on cattle, sheep, rabbits and dogs.

ST. HELENA'S DIRE STRAITS.

St. Helena, the famous island prison of the great Napoleon, is in dire straits. After the war in Africa a lot of Boer prisoners were sent there, and for a time there was prosperity, but now the prisoners are gone and the troops guarding them have been transferred to other duties. The islanders are left high and dry financially.

Some flax is grown in the island, but the roads are so miserably bad it cannot be gotten to market. Most of the islanders have cattle, but the farmers are killing their young calves because it is not profitable to raise them. The women and children have taken up lace making, but their product is not sufficiently fine to find a ready market.

Government help for the islanders has been asked. Unless it is extended, suffering and even starvation may mark the spot where the great Corsican warrior spent his last days.

REASON FOR HEAVY WHEELS.

Everywhere in the Old World the wheels of wagons and carriages are two or three times as heavy as those on corresponding vehicles in America, and so appear clumsy and cumbersome to us. The explanation of the difference is that our wheels are made of hickory, a wood unknown abroad, which supplies the requisite strength in smaller mass.—Travel Magazine.

Doing One's Best.

I may not reach the heights I seek. My untried strength may fail me; Or, half-way up the mountain peak, Pierce tempests may assail me. But though that place I never gain, Herein lies comfort for my pain—I will be worthy of it.

I may not triumph in success. Despite my earnest labor, I may not grasp results that bless The efforts of my neighbor. But though that goal I never see, This thought shall always dwell with me—I will be worthy of it.

The golden glory of love's light May never fall upon my way. My path may lead through shadowed night.

Like some deserted byway. But though life's dearest joy I miss, There lies a nameless strength in this—I will be worthy of it. —Ella Wheeler Wilcox.

According to the Salem Statesman the crop prospects in the vicinity of the capital city are bright, both for fruit and grain.

Thousands Have Kidney Trouble and Never Suspect it.

Prevalency of Kidney Disease. Most people do not realize the alarming increase and remarkable prevalence of kidney disease.

While kidney disorders are the most common diseases that prevail, they are almost the last recognized by patient and physicians, who content themselves with doctoring the effects, while the original disease undermines the system.

What To Do.

There is comfort in the knowledge so often expressed, that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy, fulfills every wish in curing rheumatism, pain in the back, kidneys, liver, bladder and every part of the urinary passage. It corrects inability to hold water and scalding pain in passing it, or bad effects following use of liquor, wine or beer, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to go often during the day, and to get up many times during the night. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases. If you need a medicine you should have the best. Sold by druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar sizes. You may have a sample bottle and a book that tells all about it, both sent free by mail. Address Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. When writing mention this paper and don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y.

What Makes a Bank Strong?

In judging a bank, always remember that it is the personnel of the stockholders, directors and officers that are behind the institution which give confidence to the depositor that his funds are safe.

The Pendleton Savings Bank

Is essentially a "Home" Institution. Its stockholders are well known Umatilla county and Oregon citizens. Its constant growth is the result of careful and conservative management, with the most liberal treatment for all deserving enterprise.
