NEW LAWS ADOPTED BY THE PEOPLE

The Portland Oregonian's Salem correspondent prints the following excellent review of the new laws adopted by the people of Oregon last Monday:

The constitutional amendments and bills adopted by the people at the election last Monday will go into effect as soon as the vote thereon can be canvassed and the result proclaimed by the governor. This will probably be three weeks yet, and some of the county clerks are always slow in sending in returns. Most of the amendments and initiative measures have no immediate effect, however, though they will be in full force as soon as the proclamation has been issued.

The recall amendment is self-executory and will be effective at once. It provides that 25 per cent of the voters of an election to be held within 20 days for which election other candidates may be nominated.

The reasons for the recall and the defense of the officer may be printed upon the sample ballots in not to exceed 200 words each. No provision is made as to the manner in which nominations shall be made for the special election. Recall petitions cannot be filed until an officer has occupied his position six months, or, in the case of a member of the legislature, until the legislature has been in session five days.

The act instructing members of the legislature to vote for the people's choice for senator will, of course, never be effective as an imperative law, but as a moral influence upon the legislature its significance will be determined next January.

The amendment changing the time of holding elections from June to November will take effect in 1910.

If the amendment has passed increasing the number of supreme judges from three to five, though it now seems improbable, there will be two judges to elect at the November election this year, for it is so provided in the amendment. Nominations must be by convention, assembly of electors or by petition.

If both fishery bills have been adopted, each will stand, except that if there be any conflicting provisions the act receiving the largest affirmative vote will prevail.

The proportional representation amendment merely authorizes the legislature to provide a system of election by which minorities shall be assured of representation in all offices to which two or more persons are to be elected. The amendment does not prescribe the manner in which this shall be accomplished, but leaves the legislature to adopt any one of a number of plans of attaining it.

The amendment authorizes the legislature to enact laws permitting the voter to express his second and third choice of laws requiring that the person elected shall receive a majority of the votes cast for the candidates for the office.

As this measure increases the opportunities of minority parties and as the direct primary tends to loosen party ties, there is strong probability that the two together will result in minority parties securing more representation than that to which they would be entitled upon their actual party strength.

The corrupt practices act limits the expenditures of candidates in the primary campaigns to 15 per cent of the salary for one year, and in general campaigns to 10 per cent of one year's salary, though any candidate may spend $100 in each campaign. The expenditures of close relatives and partners are deemed those of the candidate himself.

Information concerning each candidate is to be printed in a pamphlet to be distributed by the secretary of state, as in the case of initiative and referendum measures at present. Each candidate must pay for the space he occupies in the pamphlet, the limit being one page.

Treating is forbidden, as also is electioneering on election day. Candidates and party managers must file a sworn statement of their expenditures and contributions within 15 days after election. Promising official appointment is forbidden, as also are corporation contributions. Paid political advertisements must be marked as such.

How to Fill Up Holes in Wood.

It sometimes becomes necessary to fill up cracks or dents in fine woodwork, furniture, floors, etc. The following is the best way of doing it: White tissue paper is steeped and perfectly softened in water and by thorough kneading with glue transformed into a paste and by means of others (earth colors) colored as nearly as possible to the shade of the wood. To the paste calcined magnesia is then added, and it is forced into the cracks or very firmly to the wood and after drying retains its smooth surface.

An Apology.

An excited military looking gentleman entered the editorial sanctum one afternoon, exclaiming: "That notice of my death is false, sir. I will horse-whip you within an inch of your life, sir, if you don't apologize in your next issue."

The editor inserted the following next day: "We extremely regret to announce that the paragraph which stated that Major Blazer was dead is without foundation."—Detroit Free Press.

A Loud Kiss.

B. F.—Why, at the end of the last act a steam pipe burst and hissed me off the stage.

A Lark.

What a lark it would be if an egg came down the chimney!
No, it wouldn't, unless it was a lark's egg, and even then not until it was hatched.

Eggactly!

YAKIMA STUDENTS FOLLOW CIRCUS

BOYISH PRANK NEARLY BREAKS UP SCHOOL.

Forty-three students of the High School Run Away From Classes and Cause Furor in School—Joke Is Taken Seriously by the Principal.

The Yakima Republic tells of the following amusing incident which almost broke up the Yakima high school this week. The Republic says:

Because they bolted from school and followed the circus parade, yelling, "We want nine months school," 43 boys from the Yakima high school were dismissed from their classes for two days by Principal James Bever.

While the boys were parading the streets flaunting a red, black and yellow flag, their instructors were giving each student a zero mark for all recitations which they would have participated in were they in school. The boys dismissed represent over half the male attendance at the high school. The senior class has only two boys left in school. Every class from the freshmen up is represented in the parades.

Got Circus Fever.

When the parade passed the high school yesterday morning Principal Bever, pursuant to instructions, permitted the students to leave their classes for a time and watch the procession. The "43," like all small boys, could not withstand the temptation to follow the callopes. So they followed, bareheaded. Their appearance in the parade was one of the saving graces of the otherwise mediocre procession.

Tasting the joys of circus life and not being able to hold themselves, the boys began a few high school yells, ending with the nine months school yell. Admiring the flaunting banners on the snake wagon the youngsters realized their need of something to wave in the breeze.

Accordingly, they found sticks and tied handkerchiefs to them and with much childish joy waved their flags to the passers-by, meanwhile keeping up the noise of the nine months' idea.

Prof. Beaver in Hot Pursuit.

When the parade wended its way toward the circus grounds the boys deemed it best to return to their classes. When they neared the building they beheld Principal Beaver on a bicycle a short distance behind them, laboring under difficulties in an attempt to catch them. Seeing that the instructor was about to overtake them, the "43" began to run. They circled the school house and tore down the alley between Second and Third streets with Principal Beaver in hot pursuit.

The boys finally gave up the chase and returned to school. Their names were taken by the flustered professor. They were permitted to stay in school and had begun to think the matter a trifling one until they returned to school this morning. Then the professor informed them they were at liberty to roam the streets or do anything they wished for two days.

For their two holidays the youngsters were informed they would be compelled to forfeit all credits for the two days. They will not be given opportunity to redeem the credits and the seniors will be compelled to squeeze through their graduating exercises without the class credits for two days.

MILLIONAIRES BUY OREGON FRUIT FARMS.

Southern Part of State Becoming Fruit Center.

"Four millionaires have recently bought fruit lands near Merlin," said Charles E. Short, a former Portland printer and now of Merlin, Josephine county, in the Portland Journal.

"While there is an apparent stampede to grapes, other fruits for which Rogue River valley is famous are not being neglected, and a few years will see one vast stretch of orchards and vineyards from Merlin to Medford. And one thing is particularly noticeable, nothing but the very best of marketable fruits are being set out in the new orchards.

Speaking of the district, Mr. Short said:

"Real estate in the vicinity of Merlin is changing hands this spring much more rapidly than ever before, four millionaires having recently made investments in fruit lands near town, and many of the smaller tracts have been sold. While the price of land is still low, ranging from $10 to $20 per acre for unimproved tracts, it is rapidly advancing and I believe another year will see all the good fruit land in the Rogue River valley placed out of the reach of the man of limited means except in very small tracts."

Prosperity Club.

The Baker City Prosperity association is the latest craze for the attention of the people, now that the election is over, says the Baker City Democrat. It has been conceived in the fertile brain of Mr. Carl Adler, who has drafted into service in spite of his protestations, the enterprising merchant and loyal citizen, Mr. Frank Dean, to assist in the enrolling of the membership.

Remember, dear reader, you have been elected a member of the association. There are no dues to pay. Get recruits. The purposes of this association are:

- 1st.—To keep the dinner pail full.
- 2d.—To keep the pay ear going.
- 3d.—To keep the factory busy.
- 4th.—To keep the workmen employed.
- 5th.—To keep the present wages up.
- 6th.—To make Baker City beautiful.
- 7th.—To keep up the beautiful lighting system.
- 8th.—To fight for a city park.
- 9th.—To boost Baker City.

BOY SCRATCHED DAY AND NIGHT

Eczema Began When a Tiny Baby and Lasted 7 Years—Tore Crusts from Face Till It Was All Raw—Screamed with Pain and Could not Sleep—Though Specialists Failed

CUTICURA EFFECTED A WONDERFUL CURE

"When my little boy was six weeks old an eruption broke out on his face. I took him to a doctor and got ointments and medicines but his face kept on getting worse until it got so bad that no one could look at him. His whole face was one crust and must have been very painful. He scratched day and night until his face sometimes looked like a raw piece of meat. I was nearly insane with his scratching day and night. Then I took him to all the best specialists in skin diseases but they could not do much for him. He sometimes screamed with pain when I put on the salve they gave me. When he was two years old the eczema got on his arms and legs so that I had to keep them bandaged up and I made gloves for his hands so the nails could not poison him worse. We could not get a night's sleep in months and my husband and I were all broken up. Then my mother asked why I did not give up the doctors and try Cuticura. So I got a set and he felt relieved the first time I used them. He used to wake up when he itched so badly that he could not sleep, and he would say, 'Oh! Mama, that makes my sores feel so good!' I gave the Cuticura Remedies a good trial and gradually the eczema healed all up and now he is as well as any other children. He is now seven years old and the cure has lasted two months, so I think it will never return. I can't tell you how glad I am that Cuticura did such wonderful work in our case and I shall recommend it everywhere. Mrs. John G. Klunpp, 80 Niagara St., Newark, N. J., Oct. 17 and 22, 1907."

A single set of Cuticura Remedies, consisting of Cuticura Soap (12c), Ointment (25c), and Resolvent (50c), or Pills (25c) per trial of 60c, is often sufficient to cure. Sold throughout the world. Fetter Drug & Chem. Corp., Sole Props., Boston, Mass. Mailed Free, Cuticura Book on Skin Diseases.
