AMONG THE EXCHANGES OF THE INLAND EMPIRE

Lewiston Cannery Started.

Yesterday the Lewiston-Clarkston Canning company made its initial run and turned out 400 cans of cherries these embracing the first shipment of that fruit received from the Kelley fruit ranch on the lower Snake river, says the Lewiston Tribune. The machinery worked nicely and a force of 10 girls, six men and two boys were employed during the day. The cherries were placed in gallon cans. The bulk of the cherries canned comprised the Governor Wood varieties, while there were a few Purple Guinns. But one steam cooker was used, while the plant is equipped with four of them, and when running at full limit will have a capacity of about 15,000 cans daily.

Today the cannery will be run on gooseberries and rhubarb. A considerable quantity of the latter is now being received and the cannery is paying $20 a ton for it. Shipments of cherries will now be steadily received at the cannery as the crop is rapidly maturing. The recent cloudy weather has seriously delayed the maturing of the crop and has had a tendency to greatly reduce the yield. Following close upon the maturing of the cherry crop will follow the apricots and peaches, which will comprise the bulk of the output and which will in quality and quantity far surpass that of all past years.

1000 Swedes for Lewiston.

Driven to drastic action by lack of work, an army of a thousand Swedes are preparing to pull up stakes in Massachusetts and go to Idaho and establish a colony there, says a Lewiston Tribune dispatch. They are investigating a location near Lewiston and the present intention of their leaders is to settle there and till the soil.

Rev. C. A. Larsen of Gardner, Mass., is heading the movement. He is organizing his country people who are out of work on account of the low ebb of industry in this state, and is mapping out the course they will pursue. He said last night:

"This colonization movement has been brought about by the unsatisfactory conditions of the eastern labor market. Our people are harder hit than any other and something must be done. I have learned through a western friend of an excellent spot near Lewiston, Idaho, where good land can be secured at a reasonable price. Although many of our band are skilled workmen and can command good wages, they have taken up the idea of getting back to the soil and are glad to journey to the west. I cannot say definitely tonight whether we can make arrangements for a

Another Flowing Well.

Another flowing well has been added to the list of improvements in the valley, says the La Grande Observer. On the farm belonging to Frank and A. B. Conley, near Cove, D. M. Hunt, the well driller, last Saturday afternoon completed a well 142 feet in depth. When the drill was pulled from the well the water had risen to within about three feet of the top. During the night some time it had increased in flow enough to force a stream two feet above the surface of the ground.

Mr. Hunt is now drilling a well for Sam Purcell of Union, on his Sandridge farm. A broken stem is causing some delay today, while it is being repaired.

Leasing Wyoming Oil Lands.

A special from Lander, Wyoming, says of the oil excitement there: Sixteen men, individually and as representatives of companies, have leases on over 75,000 acres of oil land on the diminished portion of the Shoshone Indian reservation. The leases are granted by the government on application, providing the applicant is able to give $10,000 bond for the good and faithful performance of his part of the contract. The lease covers asphalt, mineral, oil and gas, and the Indian receives a royalty of one-tenth of the output. The lessee is given two years to develop his property, which in each case is 4800 acres, and the lease runs so long as its conditions are carefully carried out.

CUT OUT STEEP GRADE.

Sumpter Valley Road Making Extensive Improvements.

The Sumpter Valley Railway company has commenced one of the most important pieces of work yet contemplated by that corporation in the way of improvements, in the cutting down of the summit of Hackberry mountain at the point where the road crosses the divide separating Powder and Burnt rivers, about six miles from Sumpter, says the Blue Mountain American.

It is the intention to reduce the elevation by several hundred feet. Steam shovels are at work and the undertaking is now in full blast. In order to reach this point trains have to pull to a height of over 600 feet in the six miles, making the grade one of the steepest in the history of rail-roading.

The company will, after the excavating has been completed, lay a series of tracks over the ground leveled, where empties and logging trains will be kept during the time they are not in transit.

This will avert any disaster now liable from stray cars running wild down the mountain grades. A large crew is employed and the work will last most of the summer.

Recuse Goes Insane.

After leading an absolutely lonely life upon his ranch near this city for 16 years, D. S. Johnson, aged 56, has been committed to the asylum for the insane at Medical Lake, suffering from a progressive form of melancholia, says the Yakima Republic. The testimony given the commission today showed that Mr. Johnson is a single man and over 10 years ago commenced to live a hermit-like existence, avoiding all intercourse with his neighbors. So far as could be ascertained his condition is not the result of dissipation of any sort. He did not drink and attended to his work on the farm with great regularity and financial success, until about one year ago when his mind became affected.

Since then the man has become lethargic. Except on one occasion when he had a delusion that a neighbor's girl was being imprisoned in her home and he determined to rescue her and became very excitable and possibly dangerous, Johnson has shown no active signs of insanity, but the lethargic condition of mind and body is increasing and it is feared that he might do himself an injury unless cared for properly. Fred Parker appeared in Johnson's behalf before the commission and Drs. Scott and Cameron gave expert testimony.

DeWitt's Little Early Risers, the famous little liver pills, are sold by Tallman & Co.

Christian Voller, who is under arrest at Connel on the charge of beating and robbing Steve Potuca, has confessed, and says he will plead guilty in court.

Shot Himself.

Sidney Johnson, a saw filer in the employ of the Eastern Railway & Lumber company, committed suicide about 4 o'clock Sunday afternoon by shooting himself through the head with a rifle.
