Portland Rose Festival Was a Grand Success—Union County Cherry Crop Demands Hundreds of Pickers.—Portland Excursion to U. of O. Commencement—New Banking Law Gives Oregon More Gold.

Portland, June 8.—The great Rose festival of Portland is now a matter of history. It was easily the most eventful week Portland ever enjoyed. The convention of the Pacific Coast Ad Men's league started at the Commercial club Monday morning, closing the day with a dinner that was simply perfect.

Admiral Swinburne and the other officers of the Charleston, the Yorktown and six torpedo boats participated in every event, and had much to do with the success of the program. The parades were all superlative, the automobile races were remarkable, and the attendance both of visitors and home people at each and every feature is conclusive proof of the prosperity of the Pacific northwest.

The Western Master Printers' association, composed of all the leading printers between the Rocky mountains and the Pacific ocean, met in convention at Portland last week. They are now thoroughly organized, and every important city on the coast is represented upon the executive board.

Cherry Pickers Wanted.
In the valley around Cove, Oregon, there will be produced this year two hundred tons of cherries and five hundred cars of apples. The people there realize that they will need from 250 to 300 people in addition to their local population to pick and pack the cherry crop.

A special Portland excursion party will attend the commencement exercises of the Oregon State University on June 24.

The Oregon association of Title Men which will affiliate with the National association of Title Men, was organized at Portland on Saturday. Delegates from many sections of Oregon were given a banquet by the Portland fraternity Saturday evening.

With the election over and the assurance of a great cherry and berry crop, the people of all Oregon should "get busy" and advertise more than ever before. With its latest addition, the Toledo Development league, the Oregon Development league now has 83 members.

Under the new national banking law, approved May 30, Oregon's added quota of currency will be $2,114,000.

Wester M. Nelson, of Naples, Me., says in a recent letter: "I have used Dr. King's New Discovery many years for coughs and colds, and I think it saved my life. I have found it a reliable remedy for throat and lung complaints, and would no more be without a bottle than I would be without food." For nearly 40 years New Discovery has stood at the head of throat and lung remedies. As a preventive of pneumonia, and healer of weak lungs, it has no equal. Sold under guarantee at Tallman & Co.'s drug store. 50c and $1. Trial bottle free.

Majority and Plurality.

In politics the plurality is the greatest of more than two numbers and is also the excess of the highest number of votes cast for any one candidate over the next highest number. When a candidate receives out of 10,000 votes cast 4,000 and two other candidates receive respectively 3,500 and 2,500, the first is elected by a plurality, though he has received less than a majority of the whole vote, and he is said to have a plurality of 500 votes. If the numbers are 6,000, 3,000 and 1,000, the majority is 2,000 and the plurality is 3,000. A majority, therefore, must be more than half the entire vote cast, and a candidate's majority is, then, the difference between the number of votes he received and the combined number of votes cast for all other candidates; his plurality is the difference between his own number and the number received by the candidate nearest to him. Oftentimes a candidate receives a plurality, but not a majority. Unless there is a tie there is always a plurality. — Pathfinder.

Why Sailors Don't Swim.

"You think it's strange, do you," said the sailor, "that us shellbacks can hardly ever swim?"

"Strange and almost criminal," replied the druggist firmly. "Sailors who can't swim—I don't understand it at all."

The sailor frowned.

"Supposin'," he said, "on a cold, black night you found yourself in the sea, not a spar left of the wreck, every shipmate drowned, nothin' anywhere but the cold, the blackness, the bitter water. In them conditions," he said, "what would you ruther do—swim and swim and swim in agony till you died or sink right down and die at wunst?"

"I think I'd rather die at once," said the druggist, shuddering.

"So sailors think," said the other, "and it's to spare themselves possible long hours of agony that they like not to learn to swim. And they encourage their sons not to learn, too. If there's any likelihood of the lads follerin' the sea."—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

The Moral of Playing Cards.

Playing cards have had their moral side, it may surprise you to know. At the Blenheim club in London, lecturing on the subject of playing cards from the point of view of the collector, Mr. Alfred Whitman said that the most valuable packs were those that taught Biblical history or inculcated moral lessons. In Italy in the eighteenth century it was customary to issue packs of cards with Old Testament scenes engraved upon them. In Germany of the same period playing cards with fables to which morals were attached were customary. French playing cards of the time of Louis XIV. were used to teach geography and history, while in the England of Elizabeth and the Stuart playing cards were used as political pamphlets. Most valuable were cards issued in France at the time of the French revolution, when figures of Genius, Liberty and Equality took the place of kings, queens and knaves.—London Saturday Review.

He Has Two Signatures.

There is one New York business man who is reasonably proof against the forger, as he has two signatures and the forger must first get hold of one of his bank checks to get any action. Seeing the signature on a letter or hotel register would do the forger no good. "The bank would not recognize it," "I don't particularly fear the forger," the business man admitted, "but my two signatures make me feel safer just the same. I am surprised that everybody doesn't hit on the same plan. It's very easy after you get the knack of signing your name two separate and distinct ways."—New York Globe.

Hard to Do Without Pockets.

"The most annoying thing in navy life for a recruit is the absence of side pockets in the uniform trousers," said a yeoman at the navy recruiting station. "The average man doesn't realize how strong is the custom of thrusting his hands in his trousers pockets until he dons a pair without pockets. I've worn the navy uniform four years now, and I frequently find myself trying to put my hands in my pockets."—Kansas City Times.

The Points Were There.

Little Clara's parents often discuss reincarnation, and the small maiden has acquired some of the phraseology. "Mamma," she said one day, "my kittle must have been a paper of pins in a previous state of existence."

"Why do you think so?" asked her mother.

"Because I can feel some of them in her toes yet," was the logical reply.

An Iron Tip.

Teacher—Johnny, can you tell me how iron was first discovered?
Johnny—Yes, sir.

"Well, just tell the class what your information is on that point."

"I heard pa say yesterday that they smelt it."

Sarcastic.

"When reverses come you find out who your friends are."

"So."

"Yes. They immediately proclaim that they knew you were an accident."

—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Farsighted.

He—Why do you force me to wait for an answer? She (who is up in political economy)—Because I don't want to give you a monopoly until I find out whether there's any competition.

LA FOLLETTE HASN'T QUIT.

The Senator to Tell the Country of the "Aldrich-Fairbanks Collusion."

Senator LaFollette is incensed at the interpretations placed on the senate rules by Vice President Fairbanks. The Wisconsin senator says he will go before the country with the story.

"This summer I shall endeavor to make the people of the United States as familiar with the collusion between the vice president and Aldrich," said Senator LaFollette, "as it is possible for me to do. On the Chautauquan circuit this summer I shall call a spade a spade. There won't be any opportunity there for improvised gag routines."

"Of course, there can be nothing politically partisan in these lectures, and I won't make them so, but republicans will have to face the music in the same way as democrats."

Senator LaFollette's engagement on the lecture platform will carry him into both Missouri and Kansas. He could not say just how many speeches he would be able to make.

Senator LaFollette insists that it would have been possible for him and Senator Stone to continue the filibuster indefinitely if there had not been rules created to fit the occasion and he wants to tell just what changes were made and explain to an anxious public how it was that a roll call was ordered when a senator was on the floor trying to be heard.
