Farmers Up to Date.
The era of the header and binder operations in the Lewiston country is rapidly passing into history and the 25-men threshing crews are being replaced with the combine machine, requiring but five men and an equal number of horses to the old plan, says the Lewiston Teller.

The harvest season this year will witness 75 combined machines working in what may be termed the Lewiston country. This includes the farming district back of Asotin and the country south of the Clearwater river. New machines to the number of 12 have been sold for delivery at Asotin, and a shipment of 17 will be shipped to Volmar.

The pioneer advocate of the combined machine in the Lewiston territory is I. M. Bedell of the Holt company, and the results of a several years' campaign are best told by the rapid invasion of the new equipment and the large number of orders placed for this season's delivery.

Extension of Time Revoked.
The extension of 30 days granted by the commissioner of the general land office in which payment could be made on timber and stone proofs has been revoked by an order received by the local land office today, says the Lewiston Teller. The extension was granted last November, during the financial flurry, and with the restoration of normal business conditions it is believed the extension is no longer needed.

The local land office has submitted three decisions in cases heard here. The case entitled Edward C. Dwyer vs. Luther M. Steelsmith was decided favorably to the entrmen. In the case of Charles C. Phillips vs. Thomas H. Davis, the decision was favorable to the protestant, and in the case of C. F. Simpson vs. Emil Braxting the decision was favorable to the protestant.

"BEAN" CREEK JUNE 21.

New Men Being Secured for Ranks of Company L "Fall In."

Instead of next Sunday, as has been announced, company L's encampment on Bean creek will not occur until a week from Sunday. It was originally planned to have the outing the coming Sunday, but a majority of the men favoring a later date it was voted to go into camp a week from the coming Saturday.

During the past few days several good additions have been made to the ranks of company L and other recruits are now being secured daily. The company will be recruited to the largest possible number at once so as to be in good shape for the American lake encampment. Those desiring to join are asked to consult with Lieutenant Smythe, commanding officer, or some other member of the company.

Dime Change Tomorrow.

The management of the Dime announces a change of moving pictures for tomorrow, and by special request the fine series of pictures showing the Atlantic fleet as 'Frisco' will be repeated. Several other fine new pictures will be produced, also a new illustrated song. The change tomorrow will hold over until Sunday, when there will be another fine change.

DOUBLE DOSE FOR SALMON

FAMOUS FISH HAS PLENTY OF PROTECTION

Fight of Rival Fishermen Give Fish Greater Protection Than Most Ardent Advocates of Restrictive Measures Ever Dreamed Of—Two Bills Do Not Conflict.

The adoption of the two fishery bills at the recent election has given Columbia river salmon more "protection" than the most ardent advocate of restrictive measures had ever hoped for, says the Salem correspondent to the Oregonian. Each of the bills was prepared with a view to prohibiting fishing of a certain kind in portions of the Columbia river, and since both have passed they will both become operative. They do not conflict in their provisions, for they apply to different portions of the river and both will become effective as soon as the vote has been canvassed by the governor.

Provisions of Two Bills.

The bill proposed by the lower Columbia fishing interests absolutely prohibits fishing in the Columbia or its tributaries above the mouth of the Sandy River, or in the Sandy river itself, by any means except with hook and line. This bill goes into force August 25, 1908.

The bill prepared by the upper river interests will go into effect September 10. It absolutely prohibits fishing for salmon in any commercial navigation channel of the Columbia within the jurisdiction of the state of Oregon between one hour after sunset and one hour before sunrise. Since most of the fishing is done at night, this practically means no fishing in the navigable channels of the Columbia. It prohibits absolutely fishing in the Columbia at any place between October 1 and December 21. It prohibits fishing for salmon at any time in the Columbia west of the west line of township 8 north, range 9 west, which means west of a line crossing the Columbia north and south of Astoria. As most of the fishing with nets is done below Astoria, it will practically put the gill-netters out of business. It prohibits the use of nets longer than 150 fathoms or deeper than 4 1-4 fathoms, diminishing the size of the nets about one-fourth. It prohibits fishing for salmon in the Columbia on Sunday.

Factions Must Get Together.

The two bills together put the wheels out of business on the upper Columbia and stop all fishing at any place on Sunday or between October 1 and December 31, keep the nets out of the boat channels at night, stop all fishing below Astoria, and cut the nets down one-fourth in size.

Neither of the bills affirmatively declares that it shall be unlawful to fish at any place, so that the prohibitory provisions of one bill do not conflict with the exceptions of another, and all the clauses making certain classes of fishing unlawful are effective.

Since both the upper and lower Columbia fishing interests have been hard hit by the enactment of the two laws, it is quite likely that they may try to get together on some reasonable legislation before the legislature convenes. If they do not, the legislature will have a hard task before it. In any event, the new Master Fish Warden will have his hands full enforcing the laws after they take effect.

FARMERS CAUSE FAMINE OF BEEF

Growers of Cattle Have Decried That Prices Must Advance—Great Falling Off in Shipments.

The farmer has decried that the juicy steak shall disappear, temporarily at least, from its time-honored place at the breakfast table. Roast beef also has come under the ban of the cattle-raiser, at whose door is laid the responsibility of the pending "meat famine."

Packers declare the shortage of meat in America, which is said to have prompted a reshipment of 219,000 pounds of meat from England, is due to the backward condition of the cattle market. Beef, in particular, is scarce, and consequently the prices of steaks and roasts are in the ascending scale. Chicago meat-dealers say the condition was brought about within the past week, when shipments of cattle received at the stockyards were less than one-half of those received in the same period last year. There is, however, an abundant supply of lamb and pork, and the packers are not alarmed over the possibility of a famine in the entire meat supply.

Receipts Greatly Decrease.

The falling off of cattle shipments received at the stockyards during the past week as compared with the same period in 1907 shows a decrease of 32,356 cattle. The following table indicates the comparative receipts:

	1908.	1907.
Monday, June 1.....	11,567	23,748
Tuesday, June 2.....	1,802	2,334
Wednesday, June 3....	9,247	21,116
Thursday, June 4.....	4,748	12,286
Friday, June 5.....	4,000	4,000
Total .....	31,464	65,020

Growers Unwilling to Ship.

"There is a decided shortage in the beef market," said John Burke, of the Burke Bros. Packing company, "and this is attributed to the cattle-raiser's reluctance to ship his product. This condition finds its reflection in higher prices. Of course, at this time of the year there always is more or less falling off in cattle shipments, but the decrease this year is so pronounced as to be regarded as almost startling. The prices of steaks and roasts have advanced during the past week and I expect to see a further advance within the next 10 days."

Housewives are now paying from 22 to 24 cents for sirloin and porterhouse steaks and in the neighborhood of 20 cents for prime roast beef. Unless the farmer relents and ships his cows to market, therefore, the price of steaks and roasts may be beyond reach of the average householder.
