YAQUI INDIANS FINALLY SURRENDER.

After Many Years of Fighting, Warlike Tribe Signs Treaty With Mexico.

El Paso, Tex., June 15.—After a warfare which has extended over 120 years, cost thousands of lives and a property loss estimated at $50,000,000 and which has been marked by excessive cruelty and brutality on both sides, the Yaqui nation of Indians has at last hoisted the flag of surrender. Terms of settlement have been agreed upon by representatives of the Mexican army and Chief Bruke, of the Yaquits, and today has been set for a gathering of the Indian tribes to ratify the treaty of peace. Many doubt that the Indians are acting in good faith and that the Mexican army officers share this misgiving is evidenced by the fact that troops in large numbers have been massed in the district, prepared for a possible uprising today.
The Yaqui tribe claims ownership of a large tract of land in Arizona, and an envoy was recently sent to Washington to lay the matter before the department of the interior. It is unlikely that the Washington authorities will be in any haste to invite the "scourges of Mexico" to the United States.
The terms of settlement between the Mexican government and the Indians provide unconditional submis-

$2,000 BALL GAME

ENTERPRISE AND WALLOWA HAVE FAITH IN TEAMS

Enterprise Issues Challenge With $1000 Bet Attached and Wallowa City Calls the Bluff—Biggest Purse Offered for One Game in Eastern Oregon This Year—Contest Will Take Place Sunday.

The first game of baseball to be played in eastern Oregon this year for a purse will be played at Enterprise next Sunday, June 21, between Enterprise and Wallowa teams for a purse of $2000.
The Enterprise team issued a challenge to play any team in the county for a $1000 wager and promptly put up $500 forfeit and the bluff was immediately called by Wallowa. The teams have selected their players and are now in practice for the game.
Sports from La Grande and Baker city are now going to attend the game and there is every prospect that several thousand dollars will change hands. Both Wallowa and Enterprise are going to back their teams strongly and the event will bring together the largest crowd to be seen in Wallowa county this year, it is thought.
More interest is being taken in the game than in any event that has taken place in Wallowa county for many years. Farmers, merchants and every class of people have taken sides and the entire county is stirred up over the coming game. It is probable that some outside man will be selected to umpire.

GROWS FINE ROSES.

Mrs. Kelsay Proves That Pendleton Cannot Be Exceeded by Portland.

That Pendleton can produce as fine roses as Portland or California is shown by the fine collections growing in different portions of the city.
Among those who have demonstrated Pendleton's merit as a rose city to the fullest extent is Mrs. W. H. Kelsay, who, at her home on South Thompson street, has raised some of the finest roses of over a dozen varieties, this season, ever produced in the city.
They are large, rich, of perfect form and coloring and cannot be excelled anywhere. She gives special attention to her rose garden and has one of the finest collections in eastern Oregon and has demonstrated beyond question that Pendleton can grow roses equal to Portland or any other famed district.

Long Trip in Auto Buggy.

The auto buggy used for country canvassing and collecting by the Nissen Implement company, has made one of the longest day's runs to the credit of any similar machine in the northwest. A trip was made in this machine by an agent of the company last week in which about 100 miles of mountain road was covered, and during the day over 20 stops were made at farm houses. The trip was made through the reservation, up McKay creek to Meacham and all over the the foothill section of the Blue mountains and the durability and practical features of the buggy were given a good test.

The 300 people who witnessed the buckarooing contest following the ball game yesterday, were given their money's worth, though only two untamed cayuses showed up. Three broncho busters were required to subdue them.
Price Todd was the first rider up, and he promptly landed on the ground, three gyrations of the equine being sufficient to dislodge him.
Melvin Buck took his place as soon as the horse could be rounded up and kept his seat without being compelled to pull leather.
The second mount was ridden by Herbert Thompson, who rode without chaps and took first money.
Both horses bucked and the two successful buckaroos demonstrated that it was not the first time they had seen a saddle.
