BERRIES ARE LARGE

BEST GROWN IN UMATILLA COUNTY.

Crop Nets Handsome Profit in East End—Berries and Cherries Being Shipped—Peaches Will Be Heavy This Year—Excellent Fruit Season.

Freewater, June 18.—Strawberries are about gone in this district and cherries are commencing to come in in large bunches. Other small fruits are also beginning to ripen.

The strawberry crop this year was very light but a conservative estimate would place the amount realized from strawberries at $50,000.

Peaches are going to be heavy this year and apples will be about the same as last year, but a better grade is expected.

George A. Hardy, whose farm is about a mile west of this city, has thus far won the blue ribbon for having raised the largest strawberries ever known in this section of the state, he having raised over $700 worth of berries, known as the Gibson variety, on one acre of ground which was set out in plants last year. In one box there were 14 of the big beauties, while in one crate inspected today there were not more than 18 berries to a box. One of the larger berries was measured and was found to be 1 1/2 inches in diameter. The berries are as thick on the plants as they can grow, and Mr. Hardy's crop this year will net him a handsome profit.

Mr. Hardy's strawberry patch is in a veritable rock pile, and one of the peculiar features of the large berries is that where the rocks are the largest, there are to be found the largest berries.

MARION HAS 17 DRY PRECINCTS. Almost Half of the County Won by the Prohib.

Seventeen out of 41 precincts in Marion county went dry at the last election and were officially proclaimed dry by County Judge Scott Saturday afternoon, says a Salem item. There were just 17 saloons in these 17 precincts, divided among three of them—Silverton, Stayton and Aumsville. Chemawa and Macleay, formerly dry, reverted to the wet column. As there were two saloons at Macleay two years ago before the prohibitionists won there, these two saloons will likely be reestablished.

Five precincts in the city of Salem went dry and the whole city missed going dry by but 69 votes. All three Silverton precincts are dry, besides the following rural precincts: Aumsville, Elkhorn, Jefferson, Mehama, Stayton, Liberty, Rosedale, Scotts Mills and Turner. In two precincts, Breitenbush and Marion the vote was a tie and the judge decided they would remain wet. Mehama went dry by one vote. In the dry Salem precincts there were no saloons.

No protests were offered at the session of the county court when the prohibition vote was canvassed this afternoon. The protestants who held that the ballot was made up wrong, retreated from their position. A technical defect was found, however. In the petition calling for the subdivision vote in Silverton. But as all the precincts went dry in the subdivision this discovery was of no avail, for the precincts were voted dry under the county petition, which was not defective.

WILL HUNT RAILROAD TIES.

Effort to Recover Those That Were Lost by the Flood.

During the high water in the early part of April F. D. McCully, of Joseph, who had a contract with the O. R. & N. company lost a large quantity of railroad ties down the Grand Ronde river, says the La Grande Star.

Mr. McCully's son Wilmer, who arrived from Joseph yesterday, is going to make the attempt to recover the larger portion of the ties that were washed away. It has been ascertained that large quantities of the timbers have lodged at different points along the Grande Ronde and the young man will take a force of six assistants and a boat and go down the river and gather up all the ties that can be found.

As rapidly as they can be assembled these ties will be put into a raft and floated down to the Snake river at Lewiston where they can be turned into market. It is expected that about $5000 worth of ties can be recovered in this way and that is considered to be a much better business proposition than to lose the whole thing.

Animal Statistics of Argentina.

Consul General Alban G. Snyder sends from Buenos Aires a tabulated list from a report just issued by the minister of agriculture showing the number of livestock in Argentina. They total 114,842,440, divided as follows: Cattle, 25,844,800 sheep, 77,581,100; horses, 5,462,170; mules and donkeys, 545,870; goats, 2,566,800; pigs, 2,841,700. The province of Buenos Aires contains one-half of the livestock of the republic, having 7,000,000 cattle and 48,000,000 sheep. Entre Rios province has 9,006,300 animals, Corrientes 7,911,000, and Cordoba and Santa Fe each nearly 7,000,000.

FAINTING BERTHA RECAPTURED

Police's Most Dangerous Woman Escapes Asylum.

A dispatch from Peoria, Ill., says: Bertha Lebecke, alias "Fainting Bertha," who made her escape from the tuberculosis tent at the Bartonville asylum at Bartonville Saturday night, was recaptured in this city yesterday. Bertha was well disguised as a female drummer when arrested. She said that she intended to go to the home of her mother in Council Bluffs, Iowa.

This is the fifth time "Fainting Bertha" has escaped from her asylum guardians and she has in addition a record for several clever disappearances from the Nevada, Mo., asylum. Bertha Lebecke, 28 years old, is considered by the Illinois state authorities and the police to be the most troublesome criminal ever within the state.

"Fainting Bertha's" favorite scheme of robbery is to pretend that she has fainted and so well does she practice the deception that everyone near her rushes to her assistance. While they are ministering to her apparent needs she robs them of whatever she may find in their clothes. They never suspect until they have sent her on her way recovered.

Bertha stole $1000 worth of goods in two days after escaping from the Elgin asylum December 25, 1906, and taking a train for Peoria. On the train she fainted and robbed the conductor. In Peoria she robbed three stores, registering at three hotels under assumed names and escaping with the goods.

EDITOR IN JAIL.

Refuses Money Raised by Socialists to Pay His Fine.

At Deadwood, S. D., May 29, Judge Carland sentenced Freeman Knowles, the socialist editor convicted of sending obscene matter through the mails to pay a fine of $500 and to stay in the jail until this is paid. Although the socialists raised sufficient money, Knowles refused to pay his fine and gave notice of an appeal to the United States supreme court.

The case is attracting widespread attention. United States Marshal Bullock took Knowles to the Pennington county jail on his refusal to pay the fine. Knowles asked Judge Carland for a stay of execution, which was denied. In the issue of his paper the day he was sent to jail Knowles published the same article for which he was convicted.

Telegrams were received from unions and socialistic bodies throughout the country offering Knowles aid.

NORTH YAKIMA OUTLAWS THE "REDLIGHT" BUSINESS.

Council Passes Resolution Ordering Women and Parasites Out of Town by July 1.

Acting in accordance with the desire of several councilmen and supported by a petition bearing signatures of 1200 citizens of North Yakima, the city council passed a resolution last evening calling for the removal of the women of the restricted district and their male associates from the city of North Yakima. The resolution instructs the chief of police to notify these people to depart at once. Failure to get out of the city before July 1 means arrest for every woman or man of the district. The chief is also instructed not to make any more arrests for the object of collecting fines from the women, which fines in the past have been a source of city revenue amounting to about $700 monthly.

When the resolution was passed the action of the councilmen was greeted with loud applause. Representatives of the clergy and many laymen were present. The matter was first brought up last night by the reading of the petition, prepared by the churches, by Fred Shaw, who in a dramatic pose and with a clear voice moved that the petition be granted. Councilman Miller said he would rather have the matter dealt with in a form of resolution. So he prepared one which was later amended by Councilman Meigs. There were no dissenting votes.

DR. COE FOR ROOSEVELT.

Oregon Delegate at Chicago Ready to Join the "Break."

A Chicago dispatch says: "I am ready to break to Roosevelt any time I think there is any chance to nominate him." Dr. Coe said after the Oregon delegation had met and assigned him the lowest place in committee assignments, which he sarcastically declined, saying, "I have no right to expect any consideration from this delegation."

It is also said that Judge Carey is offended because he was not chosen for reelection to the national committee. R. A. Williams having displaced him. Coe apparently has one supporter on the delegation, Thompson. Otherwise it is plain the delegates have not taken him into the inner circle.
