TEMPERANCE IS SPREADING FAST

PRactical ACTION TAKEN IN CANADA

No More Liquor Licenses Will Be Issued to Construction Camps Along New Railroad—Harder to Get a Drink Across a Bar Than to Locate a Mine—Policy Based Upon Purely Economic Reasons.

The rapid advancement of practical temperance sentiment in Canada's westernmost province is attested by the decision just reached by the government of British Columbia to issue no liquor licenses to construction camps along the Grand Trunk Pacific, although numberless licenses have been received, and by its decision the government voluntarily abandons an immensely eagerly tendered revenue.

Attorney General Bowser says the policy decided upon is based upon purely economic reasons.

"Liquor licenses," said he, "mean more police and more courts, all of which cost money, so that the loss of the revenue which would have accrued from the license receipts is more than made up by the lessened expenditure in preserving law and order. Prince Rupert has at least 1000 people and probably more, consisting of a typical frontier population, yet there are only two policemen in the place and the town is perfectly orderly. The attorney general's department attributes this state of affairs largely to the fact that liquor is not sold there. At Hazelton there are some licenses, but that is a settled place and not a construction camp, and the licenses have been in existence for some time.

In other respects it is harder to get a drink over a bar in the interior of British Columbia than it is to locate a mine. There have been some blind pigs at Prince Rupert, but several of them have been prosecuted and convictions obtained against their keepers and everything possible is being done to keep the town dry.

This is a policy which the government intends to continue at least so long as unsettled conditions attendant on construction work prevail. At the beginning of the year the department took over the matter of granting liquor licenses outside the municipalities and placed it in charge of the superintendent of provisional police, and since that time not a single license of the kind indicated has been issued.

CLUBS FOR LOCAL OPTION.

Temperance Movement in Washington is Active.

The cause of local option is to be advanced in Spokane by a federation of clubs to be organized in the different churches of the city for the sole purpose of working to secure local option, says the Spokane Chronicle.

This was determined at a large and enthusiastic meeting held on Tuesday at the First Baptist church under the auspices of the Men's club of that church.

The meeting was addressed by W. J. Herwig, assistant state superintendent of the anti-saloon league. At the conclusion of Mr. Herwig's address, a resolution was adopted that the club affiliate and cooperate with clubs to be formed in all the churches of Spokane with the special object of working to secure local option.

The members of the anti-saloon league in all sections of the state are working for local option, rather than for prohibition.

PLAN ANOTHER EXPOSITION

San Antonio Would Celebrate Its 200th Anniversary.

Plans for holding a great international exposition in San Antonio in 1918, to commemorate the 200th anniversary of the founding of the city, are now being considered, and it is possible that the project will be realized. If the Panama canal is completed at that time, it is pointed out, the exposition could be made of double importance.

San Antonio had its beginning in 1718, when the presidio of Antonio the mission of San Francisco de Valero and the pueblo of Bexar were founded, marking the establishment of the first permanent settlement in the southwest.

Groceries by Carload.

An incident occurred in this city yesterday which cannot help but prove discouraging to the public spirited citizen. It was the unloading and distributing of 5000 pounds of groceries to farmers and others of the valley, who preferred to buy their necessary groceries from a tramp peddler, who toured the valley not long since, rather than buy from the local dealer who helps pay Union county's taxes. There was practically a carload of the stuff and farmers came to the car or warehouse upon notification to get their "cheap" wares. Glib talking convinced the farmer that he was getting things cheap and in better quality than could possibly be had in La Grande. To all appearances the farmers went away highly pleased.

What the general status of opinion will be when the packages are opened and the housewife attempts to cook with the things or husband purchased from afar is hard to tell.

Five thousand pounds of groceries is quite an item, and distributed evenly among the grocery men of La Grande would mean considerable to all.

This undesirable occurrence takes place in the best of counties, but it is to be lamented that they should take place in Union county—a place where home patronage, as a rule, runs uppermost in the mind of every citizen.—La Grande Observer.

Little Interest in Primaries.

City primaries to determine the nominees for the city election July 15 in Walla Walla were held Monday. The only important office on which there was a scrap was chief of police on the republican ticket, Mike Davis, the present incumbent, winning the nomination by a good majority. Less politics have been taken into the primaries than ever in the history of the city. Candidates for mayor are W. P. McKeen, republican, and Eugene Tausck, democrat.

State Steamboat Inspection.

State Labor Commissioner Hubbard Monday started work on the annual inspection of steamboats plying on the island waters. E. B. Stone will inspect the boilers and engines and S. A. Hoyt the hulls. Fees of $5 to $20 will be paid for each hull inspected and engineers and pilots will be compelled to pay a license fee of $5. The work will begin at Lake Whatcom.

Dry in Grand Ronde.

Walter Pierce came over today from La Grande on a brief business trip and says that Union county is also exceedingly dry although crops have not been greatly injured there yet. It is much later on the east side of the mountains than in Umatilla county and crops can stand more dry weather than here, although rain will be necessary there in a few days.

Dime Theater Is Moving.

The Dime moving picture show will be moved across the street to the building formerly occupied by the Star theater in the Ferguson building. It is expected that it will be ready for business in the new quarters next Monday evening. The front and interior of the building are being remodeled for the picture show.

J. O. Storey recently drove his automobile from Eugene to Portland in five hours, breaking the record for that distance.
