CULTURE OF SUGAR BEETS IN ITALY

The following information concerning the beet sugar industry of Italy is furnished by Consul James E. Dunning of Milan:

All the sugar produced in Italy is refined from the sugar beet. No cane sugar is produced, and therefore a small quantity is imported to meet a special demand, the imports in 1906 amounting to only 12,412 tons, the largest import since 1902, when it amounted to 20,011 tons. Austria supplied more than one-half the total imports in 1906, France, Belgium and the United Kingdom following in their respective order.

The 100,000 acres under sugar cultivation in Italy were formerly almost waste ground, with the exception of a small amount of fruit grown thereon. Today this ground yields from $40 to $60 worth of beets per acre. This increase means a great deal to Italian agriculture in general. It raised the wages paid for farm labor about 2-3 cents per acre and gives employment to large numbers of factory hands, at from 60 cents to $1.10 per day. There are at present about 26,000 persons employed in the sugar industry in Italy.

By-Products--Cost of Growing. The by-products are also used to good advantage, mostly for feeding animals. The price of these by-products is about 45 cents per ton. To produce the Italian sugar output it is necessary to use 1,100,000 tons of beets, and these yield enough of by-products to feed 30,000 cattle. Formerly the by-products from the previous cultivations on the ground where the beet is now grown fed only 5000 cattle. It is also stated that the waste of the refinery process is commencing to be used as a fertilizer. In many other ways the industry has been useful.

The molasses waste of the beet in Italy is not manufactured, on account of the high cost of that process, but is sold in the open market for the distillation of alcohol.

It takes 9.54 tons of sugar beets to produce a ton of sugar 100 per cent pure. The Italian refinery must pay the cultivator an average price of $4.55 per ton of beets, including transport expenses from the field to the refinery. Therefore $43.54 must be spent for beets to make one ton of sugar 100 per cent pure. The cost of manufacture, excluding interest on capital, amount to about $19.31 per ton of sugar. After refining expenses are paid, excluding interest on capital, a ton of sugar 100 per cent pure costs in Italy about $22.62, or nearly three cents a pound, not including the government tax on production, which is six cents per pound.

Lack of Suitable Seed--Sugar Price Regulation.

The various sugar beets cultivated at present in Italy are grown from selected imported seeds, although results obtained are not entirely satisfactory. Italy stands in great need of native seed. The damage resulting from the importation of seed amounts to from three to four grades less in richness. Italy imports annually about $3,647,700 worth of seed of all kinds. It often happens that the imported seed is of inferior quality. The Italian demand for seed can not at all times be supplied by foreign seed exporters, and in such cases the seed is collected immature and sent in that condition to Italy.

The "Unione Zuccheri," with main offices in Milan, is an organization of Italian refineries to control production. The union establishes the quantity of sugar that each refinery may produce in any given year. Every Italian refinery, except one, is a member of the union. There are 34 refineries in Italy today and the construction of the thirty-fifth was started about six months ago.

The union determines the selling price of sugar in Italy, which has always to be lower than that for which imported sugar could be sold. The union forms what is believed in Italy to be the best way to carry on the industry with success.

It does not speculate, nor can it create special and abnormal prices on the Italian market. By its aid it is next to impossible to turn out an overproduction, such as, happening often, would mean the downfall of the industry. There is about $24,000,000 invested in this Italian industry at present.

No Humbug. No humbug claims have to be made for Foley's Honey and Tar, the well known remedy for coughs, colds and lung troubles. The fact that more bottles of Foley's Honey and Tar are used than any other cough remedy is the best testimonial of its great merit. Why then risk taking some unknown preparation when Foley's Honey and Tar costs you no more and is as safe and sure. Pendleton Drug Co.

Liquors at Cost. My entire line of wines, liquors and cigars must be disposed of by July 1. To do so, everything will be sold at actual cost, nothing reserved. Now is the time to secure absolutely pure goods cheap. The Mint, J. P. Medernach, prop.

WHAT IRRIGATION WILL DO.

Reclaim arid wastes. Produces perfect fruit. Causes the desert to bloom. Makes a prosperous country. Lessens the danger of floods. Insures full crops every season. Yields large returns to investors. Makes the farmer independent of rainfall. Multiplies the productive capacity of the soil. Adds constantly to the security of investments. Creates wealth from water, sunshine and soil. Utilizes the virgin soil of the mountain regions. Affords a "sure foundation for the creation of wealth. Makes farming profitable in waste places and forever forestalls the ghost of drought. Improves the quality and oftentimes one-fourth the size of fruits, vegetables and grains. Makes the production of the choicest fruits possible, and prolongs the harvest periods of various crops if so desired. Improves land at each submergence, and consequently does not wear out the soil; produces support of dense population.

Long Relay Race.

Cleveland, O., June 20.--One of the longest relay races ever held will be that starting Monday from Cleveland, with Cincinnati as the objective point to be participated in by the best sprinters of the Young Men's Christian associations throughout the state. On Monday at 11 o'clock Mayor Tom L. Johnson of Cleveland, will hand a message to the first section of the relay, and it will be passed from hand to hand of the long relay until it reached Mayor Markbreit of Cincinnati on Wednesday at noon. If the schedule is adhered to, each boy will have two miles to cover, this limit having been fixed in order that the race may incur no danger to the contestants.

When you need to take something take it promptly for the stomach, but take something you know is reliable--something like Kodol for Dyspepsia and Indigestion. Kodol is pleasant to take, it is reliable and is guaranteed to give relief. It is sold by Tallman & Co.

Harvard Commencement.

Cambridge, Mass., June 20.--With the traditional exercises, the 272nd commencement of the nation's oldest educational institution will be observed next week at Harvard. Many prominent alumni have promised to attend and addresses will be made by several men of international fame who claim Harvard as their alma mater. Last year the Harvard commencement speakers were Secretary Elihu Root, Ambassador Bryce and the Duke of Abruzzi who has since attained popular place through his engagement to Miss Katherine Elkins.

WOMEN WILL STRIKE.

"The Strike of a Sex" Is Brought to Pass in England.

London, June 20.--"The Strike of a Sex," described in Miller's novel, will become a partial reality tomorrow, when thousands of women in all parts of England will desert home and husband and children, in order to attend a monster mass meeting in Hyde Park. It is declared that nearly 300,000 women will take part in the strike, which is scheduled to last two weeks. Leaders in the movement have urged the strikers, when they "walk out" tomorrow, to solemnly resolve not to perform a single household duty for 14 days. By that time, it is hoped the men of England will be starved into submission, and will be ready and willing to accede to the demands of the women for the ballot.

The suffragettes from the provinces will be met at the railroad stations by delegations from the London organizations, and seven processions, each headed by a military band, will march on the park from different points of the compass.

Twenty speakers, all women, will harangue the assembled masses until, at a given time, buglers will announce that the resolution to parliament demanding the vote is about to be put. An ancient law prohibits demonstrations from approaching within a mile of the house of commons. The police will have a strong force on hand to prevent the house from being besieged.

"Known For Its Strength"

What It Means

Many people do not know what a bank's capital means to its depositors, or the difference between a bank of little or no capital, and one with a large capital. One of the functions of

is to protect its depositors from possible loss; therefore the larger it is, the greater protection the depositors have.

|---|------------|
| Capital of | 200,000.00 |
| Surplus Fund of | 50,000.00 |
| Undivided Profits | 25,000.00 |
| Additional Shareholders Liability | 200,000.00 |

A TOTAL OF 475 000.00

This means that this bank must lose practically half a million dollars before its depositors could lose a cent.
