GOVERNMENT TO RECOVER STOLEN TIMBER.

Result of Hyde-Benson Trial Will be to Restore to Public Domain 100,000 Acres of Valuable Forest—Land is Now Worth From $8 to $10 Per Acre—Government Well Pleased

In a statement issued today in regard to the land conspiracy cases which resulted yesterday in the conviction of Frederick A. Hyde and Joost H. Schneider, and the acquittal of John A. Benson and Henry P. Diamond, Assistant Attorney-General A. B. Pugh declares that while the trial of these four men has cost the government $48,360, the beneficial results to the land department in the future administration of public land laws are beyond calculation, says a Washington dispatch.

The net results, he says, will be the restoration to the government of more than 100,000 acres of public lands, valued at $1,000,000.

Mr. Pugh says: The verdict in the case is not at all strange, under the circumstances, to one who fully understands the situation, and so far as practical results to the Land Department are concerned, all has been accomplished that would have been accomplished by a verdict against all four defendants.

While the investigation leading up to the indictment and trial and the trial itself have cost the government a great deal of money, the benefit resulting to the land department in the future administration of the land laws is simply incalculable. The last vestige of the conspiracy which originated on the Pacific Coast about ten years ago now has been utterly destroyed and it is not likely that other similar schemes will again be attempted.

As a net result there will be restored to the government something over 100,000 acres of public land which were selected under the fraudulent practice charged in the indictment in this case. The selections will now be taken up and adjudicated by the land department.

The value of the land has very greatly increased since its selection eight, nine and ten years ago, so that the 100,000 acres or more immediately involved in the trial are probably now worth from $8 to $10 an acre.

Patents were secured for something like 40,000 acres of public land before the fraud was discovered, which was in November, 1902. Suits have been instituted by the Department of Justice for the recovery of this land, and will now be prosecuted to final conclusion. Insofar as the land has not passed into the hands of innocent purchasers it will be recovered. It is not likely, however, that as to a great many of the patented lands the titles may now be in the hands of innocent holders and therefore beyond recovery.

Altogether there were 108 witnesses in the case. Mr. Pugh today received congratulatory telegrams on the successful outcome of the trial from Francis J. Heney, former interior department official and others prominently identified with the case. The prosecution was conducted by District Attorney Baker and Mr. Pugh.

A Grand Family Medicine. "It gives me pleasure to speak a good word for Electric Bitters," writes Mr. Frank Conlan of No. 436 Houston street, New York. "It's a grand family medicine for dyspepsia and liver complications; while for lame back and weak kidneys it cannot be recommended too highly." Electric Bitters regulate the digestive functions, purify the blood, and impart renewed vigor and vitality to the weak and debilitated of both sexes. Sold under guarantee at Tallman & Co.'s drug store, 50c.

SOCIETY LEADER WEDS EXPRESS WAGON DRIVER

Both Were Divorced Recently—Woman Wealthy and Popular. Chicago, June 25.—Mrs. Oda Weis Seybert, daughter of Ferdinand Weis, president of the Des Moines Iron company, and one of the wealthiest men in the city, took her 18-year-old son to St. Joseph, Mo., Saturday and there became the wife of Hosen Adrian Lytle, an express wagon driver, says a Des Moines, Iowa, special to the Tribune.

Mrs. Seybert has occupied a leading place in the social circle of Des Moines and Council Bluffs, where her former husband, Dr. William Seybert, is still living. She is a handsome and accomplished woman.

Lytle's wife was granted a divorce from him last week on the grounds of desertion. She is working in a laundry to support herself and child, while Lytle and his new wife have rented a beautiful cottage near the luxurious Weis home. Under the Iowa law, a divorced person can not remarry within a year, and for this reason Mrs. Seybert and her husband found it necessary to go to Missouri to wed.

It is said that her father seriously opposed the match. Lytle appeared at the Weis home a few days after his wife's divorce was granted. None of the neighbors knew him, and though a neighborly interest took many to the Weis home, the stranger was not presented, and all efforts to learn his name or relationship were in vain until the party went to St. Joseph, where the marriage license was granted and the bridegroom's name became known.

It is rumored today that Lytle's former wife is planning to file charges against him for violating the divorce law and remarrying within a year, but tonight she refused to affirm this. "I do not know what I shall do," she said. "I did not know my husband was married, although I was told he was going with a wealthy society woman."

TRIED FOR MURDER.

Mrs. Lila Meadows Will be Placed on Trial Tomorrow.

Oklahoma City, Okla., June 25.—Charged with the murder of her husband because of her alleged infatuation for another man, Mrs. Lila Meadows will be placed on trial tomorrow.

The body of J. R. Meadows, a telephone lineman, was found in a grave near Capitol Hill about a year ago. Mrs. Meadows and her alleged paramour, Rudolph Tegeler, were arrested. The latter has been tried and convicted and sentenced to prison for life.

The prosecution will attempt to show that Tegeler and Mrs. Meadows were unduly intimate and that they were seen together on the night Meadows was supposed to have been murdered. Evidence of a startling nature is anticipated.

No Humbug.

No humbug claims have to be made for Foley's Honey and Tar, the well known remedy for coughs, colds and lung troubles. The fact that more bottles of Foley's Honey and Tar are used than any other cough remedy is the best testimonial of its great merit. Why then risk taking some unknown preparation when Foley's Honey and Tar costs you no more and is safe and sure. Pendleton Drug Co.

Hop Acreage Cut Down.

A recent investigation of the hop situation in the Yakima valley by G. C. Mitchell shows that of the 3225 acres devoted to hop growing last year only 1609 acres are being cultivated to that crop this season. The vines on 902 acres have been plowed up and yards to the amount of 714 acres are not being cultivated or plowed. This leaves only 1609 acres to be picked this year, and it is not expected that they will produce more than six bales to the acre, as none of the yards are receiving the usual care. Over 2000 bales of old hops remain in the valley that cannot be sold for half the cost of production, and the new crop is not expected to bring the grower more than 5c per pound. No Scab in Wallowa.

W. R. Ward of Dyersburg, Tenn., writes: "This is to certify that I have used Foley's Orino Laxative for chronic constipation and it has proven without a doubt to be a thorough, practical remedy for this trouble, and it with pleasure I offer my conscientious reference." Pendleton Drug Co.

Paroled Prisoner Rearrested.

Decked out in another man's wearing apparel, which he had stolen and hidden away some time previously, and thinking the owner had forgotten all about them, Wallace Ketterman, a paroled prisoner from the penitentiary, attended the annual picnic at Elberton, Whitman, county, last week, says the Walla Walla Bulletin. But the owner of the "rags" was there and recognized his clothes. The authorities were notified and Ketterman was arrested.

Ketterman was sent up in October, 1905, to serve eight years for horse-stealing and was paroled January 27, 1908. The prison authorities have sent for him and he will be brought back to serve the remainder of his term.

Mrs. S. L. Bowen of Wayne, Va., Va., writes: "I was a sufferer from kidney disease, so that at times I could not stand straight. I took Foley's Kidney Remedy. One dollar bottle and part of the second cured me entirely." Foley's Kidney Remedy works wonders where others are a total failure. Pendleton Drug Co.
