

FREEWATER-MILTON

FAMOUS HORSE DIES LARGE PRICE REFUSED.

Freewater Boy Arrested in Walla Walla for Stealing Watch in Lewiston—Peaches Are Ripe in This Section of Country—Many Fishing Parties.

Freewater, July 1.—Dandy Frisco, a well known young racing stallion of the northwest, just died here of gastric intestinal catarrh. The horse was owned by A. F. Morris of this place, and he held a record of 2:11 1-4 and is well known all over the northwest, having been entered in races last season in Tacoma, North Yakima, Lewiston, Spokane and Walla Walla. Dandy Frisco was sired by Frisco, 2:12, dam Belle, by son of Antelope. There was no insurance on the horse and the owner refused $3500 for him a few days ago.

Harry Morse, formerly of Freewater, but more recently of Lewiston, Idaho, was arrested Monday on information from the chief of police of Lewiston, on the charge of stealing a lady's watch. He was arrested in Walla Walla, and had pawned the watch in a second-hand store for $2.

Seigel Eaton, a rancher living at Freewater, exhibited a large ripe peach here the first of the week, which he had grown in his orchard. This is the first peach of the season. There will be a good crop of peaches this season.

There have been a number of fishing parties in the mountains during the past week, and they have all returned with a good catch of fine trout. A party of four returned the other evening after being out two days with $80 trout.

Mr. and Mrs. Alva Bicknell and son Donald have arrived from Portland, where they have been for some days.

Milton Notes.

Milton, July 1.—Aaron Miller & Sons, the nurserymen at this place, who have heretofore been in partnership in the nursery business, have incorporated, and the name of the company will be "The Milton Nursery company." All the private lands of the Miller sons and the lands of Aaron Miller in this vicinity have been sold to the company, consisting of some choice fruit lands. The lands in the sales brought in about $15,000. The company will add materially to the improvement of the nursery in many ways, and will make it one of the first class concerns of the kind in the northwest. The company will now own several hundred acres of choice fruit land which will be used for the nursery.

The Milton Opera house property has been sold by the opera house company to Alex Still. It contains two lots and was sold for $600.

The strawberry season in this section of the county is about over, and the cherries are now at their height, though many have not been shipped up to this time on account of a scarcity of cars. There is an excellent yield of berries.

The past few days have been very warm at Milton and vicinity and many of the people are beginning to go to the mountains for an outing.

Thinks It Saved His Life.

Wester M. Nelson, of Naples, Me., says in a recent letter: "I have used Dr. King's New Discovery many years for coughs and colds, and I think it saved my life. I have found it a reliable remedy for throat and lung complaints, and would no more be without a bottle than I would be without food." For nearly 40 years New Discovery has stood at the head of throat and lung remedies. As a preventive of pneumonia, and healer of weak lungs, it has no equal. Sold under guarantee at Tallman & Co.'s drug store, 50c and $1. Trial bottle free.

MAYFLOWER TEAPOTS.

A Warning That May Prove of Value to Relic Hunters.

It may be trusted that no lineal descendant of the pilgrims would and no other person foolishly should ever claim to have or to have seen a teapot that had come over on the Mayflower. Whatever other articles in whatever number may be treasured as parts of the sacred cargo that was landed at Plymouth rock in 1620, relic hunters may rest in the assurance that no rival owns a teapot of Mayflower descent. The explanation is simple. When the Mayflower sailed for America an ounce of tea was rare enough to have made up a fitting gift for royalty. Yet forty years later the wealthy and fashionable people of England were fairly familiar with tea which the East India company had first brought into the country, and four years later it was on sale in the coffee houses, at which time a pound might be purchased for the moderate sum of 60 shillings.

Only twenty-five years later tea was on sale in Boston, and soon after there were two tea houses besides those kept by Daniel Vernon and Benjamin Harris. In the first decade of the eighteenth century it could be bought from Zabdlil Bolton at his apothecary shop.

Today the coffee houses of a hundred years ago in London are in reality tea houses. In England were made the first teapots of pottery. Later the most delicate creations in porcelain appeared, but as tea became popular the art of the teapot maker was less exclusively refined.—Boston Globe.

DARING BELL RINGERS.

Pranks of the Athletic Young Spaniards of Seville.

There is a curious custom among the young Spaniards of the city of Seville. On certain fete days, related a tourist, the young men of the place have permission to ring the bells in the clock towers of the cathedral. They have an ingenious and original way of ringing them. While the regular bell ringers repose these amateurs climb up on to the bells, throw them forward with all their force and ride upon the bells in their furious swinging to and fro. We may imagine what an uproar is produced when all the bells of a cathedral are being treated in this manner. Any man who is able may exercise his skill, and the duration of the ringing depends upon the caprice or the strength and patience of the ringers.

The spectacle is very strange of the great bells swinging, with one, two or more bold ringers hanging from them in any attitude which seems to them best adapted to pushing out the most noise. In the Girald, at Seville, the first time I witnessed this, the clamor was frightful. When I looked up I thought at first some unfortunate was entangled in the bell rope, but I soon found it was a matter of sport. Another ringer appeared suspended in the air, holding the bell by the ears or the rim or the wooden framework and following it in all its movements, sometimes feet, sometimes head, downward. Such are the daring bell ringers of Seville.

The Egyptian Mummy.

Egyptologists have discovered that among the ancient Egyptians the inviolate preservation of the body was deemed absolutely essential to the corporeal resurrection of the dead. According to the teaching of the Egyptian priests, the living man consisted of a body, a soul, an intelligence and an appearance called "Ka." Death separated these four parts, which must ultimately be reunited for all eternity. Between death on earth and life everlasting there intervened a period of several thousand years, during which season the soul performed a painful probationary pilgrimage through the underworld. The body in order that it should await intact the return of the soul must meanwhile be guarded from all corruption; hence the custom of embalming.

Man and His Tailor.

A man can be measured to the best advantage, tailors say, away from a glass. Standing before a mirror he is almost certain to throw out his chest, if he does not habitually carry it so, and take an attitude that he would like to have rather than the one he commonly holds, whereas the tailor wants him, as the portrait painter wants his subject, in his natural pose and manner. With the man in that attitude the tailor can bring his art to bear, if that is required, in the overcoming of any physical defect and produce clothes that will give the best attainable effect upon the figure as they will be actually worn.—New York Sun.

Buckingham's Pranks.

After the defeat and flight of Charles I. the daredevil Duke of Buckingham disguised himself as a mountebank, set up a stage in the heart of London and for days laughed in the faces of the stern Puritans, who were thirsting for his life. One day when his own sister, the beautiful Duchess of Richmond, was passing the jocular duke set the mob on to drag her from her carriage. They forced her to witness the pranks of her brother, whom she recognized, but could not betray.

TAFT LEAVES CABINET.

Successor Is Confederate Veteran and a Democrat.

By the terms of his resignation, presented to President Roosevelt on June 18, William H. Taft Tuesday retired from the cabinet and is succeeded, as secretary of war, by Luke E. Wright of Tennessee. Mr. Taft will immediately begin the organization of his campaign forces, and will meet tomorrow with the subcommittee of the republican national committee to decide upon a chairman.

Representative Sherman, candidate for vice president, will also take part in the conference. Several men are being considered for the chairmanship, and it is thought that a definite decision will be reached as a result of the meeting.

Luke Wright, the new secretary of war, is a confederate veteran and democratic in his political views. His selection is looked upon as a clever piece of diplomacy which may result in gaining many Taft votes in the south.

Leaving the service of the wrecked confederacy at 21, Wright secured a legal education and began the practice of law in Memphis. In 1870 he was elected to his first important political office, that of attorney-general for Shelby county, in which Memphis is located. As chairman of the citizen's committee during the yellow fever plague in Memphis in 1878, Wright performed a heroic task.

Since then his career has been such as to admirably fit him for the high office to which he has been called by President Roosevelt. As a member of the Philippine commission, later vice governor of Uncle Sam's islands in the far east, and afterward ambassador to Japan, he made a record for fidelity and ability that gave him an international reputation.

Few men are more popular in the army than Luke Wright, and despite the fact that he was a confederate, his appointment has been universally commended by the leaders of the Grand Army of the Republic and by Union veterans generally.
