CALL FOR NEW BIDS ON LEVEE

COUNCIL WILL AWARD
THE CONTRACT TONIGHT
Owing to Misunderstandings City Fathers Decide Not to Award Contract to Betts as Recommended by Committee—Suggestion of Newport That New Bids Be Called For Is Adopted.

Last night the city council voted to have the bidding on the levee work done over again and the council will meet in adjourned session at 7:30 this evening for the purpose of opening bids.

The decision to again ask for bids was taken by the council after much deliberation and discussion. It was precipitated by the appearance of the communication from the Newport company, which had been published in both the Pendleton papers previously.

"I object to the reading of that communication because it was published in two papers before it was presented to the council," declared Councilman Stroble.
But the mayor ruled that the objection was out of order because the communication was not yet before the council. Recorder Fitz Gerald then started to read the letter but he had not gone far when Councilman Montgomery moved to dispense with the reading so as to save time, adding that he had read the communication and presumed the other had also. The motion was carried.

COL. J. H. RALEY MAKES REPLY

GIVES HISTORY OF
"RALEY-CROW CABINS"

Declares Article and Pictures Were Published for Purpose of Prejudicing Public Against Men Accused of Land Fraud—Cabins Were Not Built Until After Land Was Secured.

Recently the Oregon Daily Journal printed photographs of several cabins which are alleged to have been used as homestead cabins by the entrymen in the Umatilla land frauds cases and designated them "the Raley-Crow cabins."

Col. J. H. Raley of this city, has answered the Journal's descriptive article accompanying the cabins, and the East Oregonian reprints his explanation in justice to himself and others interested. His letter to the Journal is as follows:

It had been my settled intention and policy to make no reply to anything that might appear either in the journal or any other paper, in regard to the recent Umatilla indictments until the trial of the case, but since in your issue of June 26 you publish a photograph of the so-called Raley-Crow cabins, and your caption thereunder is manifestly unjust and untrue and was apparently made for the express purpose of creating a prejudice in the minds of the public against the persons indicted, that I trust you will have the fairness to say for me and over my signature, that neither of these cabins referred to was built or constructed until about a year or more after each and every one of the alleged illegal filings were made, and about a year after the only affidavit required by law had been filed in the land office at La Grande, and were not built for any purpose or use in connection with the entry of said lands, or any of them.

And I desire to say further that not a single one of the applicants, in their applications to purchase or their affidavits to purchase, claimed to have any cabins or other improvements upon their lands.

These cabins are not situated or located upon any of the lands in controversy and no one connected with these alleged land frauds has ever resided, or claimed to reside, in either of them to my knowledge. The cabins are not located on McKay creek, but are located at a large spring on the top of the mountain and at a general camping place for all persons who go that way, no matter what the character of their business.

How many of the alleged entrymen may at some time have camped at this spring I have no knowledge or information, but none of the entrymen ever camped in or used or claimed to use either of these cabins prior to making their filings and affidavits for the simple reason that the cabins were never built until a year after all such filings and affidavits were made.

This fact is well known to the special agent from whom you received this information and from whom you received this photograph, and the publication of this photograph and the comments in connection can be made for no purpose other than in an attempt to prejudice the minds of the public and by this means prevent a fair and impartial trial. Respectfully,
J. H. RALEY.
