

COST OF O. R. & N.

RAILROAD COMMISSION IS SEEKING VALUES.

Pendleton-Pilot Rock Branch Cost $342,018.48—Shaniko Line Cost $1,253,755—Railroad Commission in Session in Portland—All Railroad Values Will Be Ascertained.

It took $789,249.28 to build the Arlington-Condor branch of the O. R. & N. during 1905 and 1906, says the Oregon Daily Journal. It would take $1,179,856 to reproduce the road at the present time under conditions of labor and material holding now. This is the information given by the officials of the O. R. & N. as a result of investigations which have been carried on for some months in answer to a request of the state railroad commission.

It also required $1,253,755 to construct the Biggs-Shaniko branch, and would take $1,352,738 to reproduce the line. The cost of the Pilot Rock-Pendleton branch, just completed, was $342,018.98.

These figures just completed by the auditing departments of the different branches are the forerunners of similar figures on every line of railroad in the state over which the commission has jurisdiction. They have been compiled by the roads at the request of the commission, and will be checked over by the commission for possible error.

The statistics will be of great value to the commission and to the state for various reasons. They will furnish a basis of authentic statistics upon which assessors may rely in estimating the tax assessment of the properties. It will also furnish a base from which rates may be computed by the commission.

Before the task is completed the commission will require similar statements from the O. R. & N., the Southern Pacific and all lines under their jurisdiction, which embraces all railroads doing a carrying business outside the limits of an incorporated city or town.

A Grand Family Medicine.

"It gives me pleasure to speak a good word for Electric Bitters," writes Mr. Frank Conlan of No. 436 Houston street, New York. "It's a grand family medicine for dyspepsia and liver complications; while for lame back and weak kidneys it cannot be recommended too highly." Electric Bitters regulate the digestive functions, purify the blood, and impart renewed vigor and vitality to the weak and debilitated of both sexes. Sold under guarantee at Tallman & Co.'s drug store. 50c.

Dangerous Yeggman Arrested.

Armed with two large caliber pistols and two knives in sheaths tied beneath his underclothing, B. I. Burr, a dangerous yeggman was arrested by the Tacoma police in the railroad yards Monday morning. The man is wanted in Portland and Centralia for holdups. Steel saws, $850 in currency and a gold watch was sewed in lining of his clothing. Burr is 22 years old.

Making it Plain.

Henri was paying his first visit to London and was already wishing himself home in gay Paris, for he knew not a word of English. He had been very unfortunate and had lost all his luggage, a toothbrush. So he determined to buy another. But how was he to make his needs understood?

At last his luck turned, however, and he espied a chemist's shop with a notice outside, "Ici on Parle Français." In he went and told the assistant in French what he wanted. But that assistant knew no language except English, and another who came to help him was just as far at sea.

But the proprietor was an intelligent man, and he knew at once from the cut of the customer's clothes that he was speaking French.

"Leave him to me," he said, with a superior smile.

Then, forming a megaphone with his hands, he shouted in the Frenchman's ear:

"Our assistant who speaks French is out at lunch. You'll have to wait!"—London Scrap.

Swordsmen of the Sea.

The swordsmen of the sea are the sawfisher, spearfishes, sailfishes, swordfishes and the narwhal, with its spirally twisted straight tusks. The sawfishes inhabit the warmer seas, while the narwhal is a creature of the arctic. The tusk of the narwhal is hollow nearly to the point and is spirally grooved. It uses its tusk as a weapon of defense and to plunge through the ice to breathe, the narwhal being a cetacean. Sometimes when a boat has been caught in the ice great damage has been inflicted by the incisiveness or blundering of this great creature, that sometimes reaches a length of fifteen feet, with a tusk of from six to ten feet in length. As a rule, however, the narwhal uses its tusk for the purpose of killing fish for food. In the castle of Rosenberg the kings of Denmark have long possessed a magnificent throne made of tusks of this cetacean. These tusks are harder and whiter than ivory.

Beavers Train Their Young.

Naturalists have placed the beaver a long way down in the list of vertebrates, but it undoubtedly stands next to man in the variety of occupations in which it engages. All cats are hunters, while foxes that are not thieves may be included also among the Nimrods. All canaries are prima donnas, and monkeys make clever comedians, but it is only the beaver parent that educates its children to take up several trades. In a single colony among them you will find civil and marine engineers, woodchoppers, raftsmen, laborers, quarymen, miners, plasterers, masons, carpenters, hodcarriers and fishermen. All beavers take contracts for building dams, but when the work is undertaken the task is so divided that each member of the colony has its own particular work to look after. In this way they make some wonderful excavations and construct their dams in an incredibly short time.

Marry and Part For a Year.

Among the many peculiar customs prevalent among the people of Central America is that of parting for one year after the marriage ceremony has been solemnized. This custom has prevailed among the Jarnos from time immemorial. There is no courtship allowed to be carried on between the parties prior to the wedding. When a man selects a woman he obtains the consent of the parents on both sides, and if this is given they are at once married. The reason, however, for their not living together as man and wife for one year after marriage is in order to permit of the parties visiting and staying with their respective friends in different parts of the country, which is a customary thing and occupies the time specified. Ninety-nine out of a hundred of these marriages turn out well.

A Chance to Spoon.

A young couple from the suburbs went to Dublin the other day to see the pantomime. Being early, they visited a tea room and had the place all to themselves. The attending waitress had omitted in serving them to supply the necessary implement to effectually assist in the proper and palatable admixture of the tea, cream and sugar.

"Can we have a spoon?" inquired the swain.

"Certainly," replied the observant attendant. "I am just tidying up, and you can have the whole room to yourselves in a minute or two."—Liverpool Mercury.

Holding His Job.

"I think the man who works at that place across the street is the most faithful and conscientious workman I ever saw. He never takes a holiday and always labors away till it's too dark to see any longer."

"Faithful workman! Great Scott! He's the proprietor of the shop!"—Chicago Tribune.

The Fireside Diplomat.

"I don't want to be nagging at you," Mrs. Marryat began, "but it's the little things that bother me most!"

"Ah!" interrupted her husband sweetly. "I suppose you're going to tell me you haven't a decent pair of shoes."—Philadelphia Press.

Homemade.

"We are told to cast our bread upon the waters," said a young wife.

"But don't you do it," replied her husband. "A vessel might run aground it and get wrecked!"—Simplestimus.

A Wrong Guess.

Botanical Youth (in park)—Can you tell me if this plant belongs to the arbutus family? Gardener (curtly)—No, young man, it don't. It belongs to the county council.—London Globe.

If you see it in the East Oregonian, it's so.

THE AMOUNT OF YOUR "BELIEF IN ADVERTISING" WHICH IS PUT INTO TYPE IS WHAT COUNTS.

There is probably a clothing ad in today's paper that will remind you that your new suit is overdue. Meet the ad "face to face," and it will help you to meet the clothes problem that way.

It won't pay you to try to deal with a buyer who wants your property only half as much as "the right man" would want it.

Your store is NOT "big enough," or prosperous enough, unless your ambition and aspirations are under-sized.
