REDUCE FREIGHT RATES TO COAST

SPokane is to Have ANOTHER RATE CASE

This Suit Will Be More Extensive and Along Broader Lines Than One Which Made the Falls City Famous—Alleged that Tariffs Are From 15 to 20 Per Cent too High and Are Unjust and Exorbitant.

Spokane is to have another freight rate case—more extensive and along broader lines than the suit presented to the interstate commerce commission which is now pending with a possible chance for decision next fall, says the Chronicle.

This time the federal court and congress will be asked to interfere in alleged unjust freight rate discrimination against the northwest as well as the Spokane jobbing district.

That the Northern Pacific, Great Northern and other transcontinental lines are collecting through freight tariffs, from 15 to 20 per cent profit on inland business is the contention of the promoters of the new case. It is proposed to place this condition before the federal court and ask for relief through congress, if necessary, by the establishing of a minimum and maximum rate for the northwest.

The Merchants' Freight Claim Audit company, with headquarters in this city, is gathering data for the case and its attorneys, Plummer & McDermott, are to appear on behalf of the shippers before the federal court.

Getting Ammunition Ready.
The Audit company has opportunities of securing information regarding the conditions of the northwest through shippers from every town and hamlet in this section whose bills they check and classify. It is practically impossible for the average merchant to be his own expert on tariff and classifications and it is the business of the company to check over freight bills for merchants and ascertain overcharges if any, and collect the same from the transportation companies.

In connection with this work they are gathering statistics from the entire northwest and also the cost of operation and money invested by the various roads.

It is claimed the northwest is paying a larger per cent on the investment on railroads than any section of the country and that this percentage is exorbitant and an unjust discrimination against the interests of this section of the United States; that the existing conditions are such that a case may be taken into the federal courts with a possibility of relief in sight.

The first plan of the Audit company is to take up the case as a private institution, but it is possible that general assistance may be secured from the large shippers of Spokane, Seattle, Tacoma, Walla Walla and other of the larger cities of Washington and cooperation secured from adjacent states.

UNCLE SAM STILL WARY.

Marines Will Be Kept at Panama for Some Time to Preserve Peace.

Washington, July 7.—At a conference today Secretary of War Wright, Admiral Pillsbury, the acting head of the navy department, and General Clarence R. Edwards, chief of the insular bureau, it was decided that the United States marines should not be withdrawn from Panama until after the elections, although all information received indicated their presence at the polling places probably will not be necessary.

The precise attitude which the United States marines will assume at next Sunday's national election in Panama will be determined this week.

WILL HOLD COTTON CROP.

Southern Farmers Union Decides Upon Plan to Keep Up Prices.

Jackson, Miss., July 8.—Nearly every county in Mississippi is represented by local officials of the Farmers' union at a meeting here today, called for the purpose of discussing the policy of the organization in regard to the cotton crop and the percentage to be held in the event of low prices.

The warehousing of cotton will also be brought up for discussion, and in this connection the campaign for the erection of farmers' warehouses is making splendid progress. During the past 30 days new warehouse companies have been launched, and a large number are in immediate prospect, to be erected in time for storing the season's crop.

President Hightower feels confident that with a good system of warehouses and the aid and support from banking institutions that has been pledged, the organization can succeed in holding the bulk of the season's crop and marketing it at periods to be agreed upon by the organization; that ample provisions can be made to finance distressed cotton, and the holding movement will meet with a much larger degree of success than last year.

WORLD SHOOTING MATCH.

American Rifle Team Expects to Carry Off Honors.

London, July 8.—Crack rifle and pistol shots of several nations will converge at Baisley tomorrow to begin the three-day tournament for the Olympic international championship. The clay bird shooting tourney at Exendon will also commence tomorrow. Although pitted against some of the best marksmen of Europe, it is believed that the American rifle team has a fair chance to win first honors in the Baisley contest. The members of the American team are as follows: Major C. B. Winder, Captain C. S. Benedict, Lieut. H. E. Simon and Corporal I. L. Eastman, all of Ohio; Sergeant W. F. Leusher of New York; Major W. B. Martin of New Jersey; Sergeant E. B. Jeffers, of Massachusetts; Captains K. K. V. Casey and J. W. Hessian of Delaware, and Captain E. A. Greene of the United States marine corps.

JOHNSON IN THE CABINET.

Bryan Said to Be Considering His Rival as Possibility.

Denver, July 7.—An interesting echo from Lincoln has reached here to the effect that Mr. Bryan has received favorably the suggestion that the recent pronounced antagonism of the Bryan men to Governor Johnson of Minnesota shall be offset by the intimation that in the event of Mr. Bryan's election he will invite Johnson to take a place in his cabinet.

One of the many visitors to Mr. Bryan who is now here, has pointed out to him that the marked antagonism to Johnson might alienate the influential Scandinavian element with which the governor is identified by birth and association.

Mr. Bryan did not relish the idea of "playing politics," but at the same time, it is said, he received the suggestion with favor.

POSED AS MAN NINE YEARS.

Overcome by Heat Her Sex Becomes Known—Sent to Jail.

New York, July 7.—Charged with disorderly conduct in masquerading for nine years as a man, Miss Augusta Slob has been sentenced to the workhouse for five days.

Two policemen came across the unconscious form of what appeared to be a man at Sixty-second street and Broadway on Saturday night. The "man" was apparently overcome by the heat, was taken to Roosevelt hospital. There it developed that the patient was a woman.

She had been working for years at man's work.

CHAMPION RIDER TO MOUNT OLD CHEYENNE

Oldest and Wickedest of Bucking Bulls Will Be Ridden by Clayton Danks.

Old Cheyenne, the wildest and wooliest, bridlest and bulleest of all vicious steers, will be mounted at the Manhattan world's championship broncho busting which begins next Saturday, says a special to the Wyoming Tribune from Denver. That is probably as far as the riding of this mean creature with four legs and a pair of rangy horns will go, but the world's present champion, Clayton Danks, among others, will try to ride Old Cheyenne.

Old Cheyenne was raised in Wyoming, nurtured out in the sunshine of summer and the sleet and snow of winter, afforded its resting place. He is a 3-year-old, and right at the age where bulls are worst in nature and the stoutest in muscle and heart.

He will be brought to Denver with Old Steamboat, Red Devil and the other outlaws, and will be kept in a corral built especially for his safe keeping. This pen, real bull pen, is built in one corner of the Manhattan Beach stadium, and is 10 feet high, and large timbers four inches square are riveted on telephone pole stubs to make his staying sure.

This nasty natured bull, bears the distinction of being the only real bucking bull in the world. Cows and ordinary bulls romp and kick up their heels, but Old Cheyenne bucks just like a bronc right from the plains, only worse. He has never yet been ridden and his horns measure eight feet from tip to tip.

The promoters of the Manhattan Beach broncho tourney and the west show offer a prize of $1000 in gold to any one that will ride Old Cheyenne. This bull, standing six inches taller than the next tallest bull ever raised in Wyoming, will be one of the features of the Manhattan show, and promises to be well worth seeing in itself.

In addition to the attempt to ride the bucking bull, cowboys in chaps, with huge six-shooters and outlaw ponies, will hold up an old stage coach that was used on the trails of Colorado and other western states for a dozen years.

The parade Saturday morning will include the cowboys on some of the unbroken ponies and some of their already tamed horses. The real buckers, 150 strong, will not be used in the parade, because they would endanger human lives by the score were an effort made to ride them on the main streets. The majority of them have ever seen a man a dozen times in their lives, and there's no telling what would happen if one of them was turned loose on Sixteenth street with a cowboy on its back.

A band of 25 pieces will lead the parade and will furnish the music at the Manhattan show, which will start at 2:30 o'clock each afternoon of July 4, 5 and 6.

BALL TEAM WAS HANDED A LEMON

MANAGER DEAN TATOM OBJECTS TO TREATMENT.

Games With Walla Walla on the Fourth Were Played Before Small Crowds—Three Victories Out of Five Games Played Fail to Compensate for Lack of Financial Support.

Though the Pendleton ball team beat the Walla Walla players three out of five games in the recent series the team did not fare so well financially and thereby hangs a tale that proved a bitter one for Manager Dean Tatom and others who are backing the local team.

When the team changed its schedule so as to play at Walla Walla the Fourth it was confidently expected that the team would make some money by so doing, for Walla Walla-Pendleton ball games are always good crowd drawers in either city. But the crowd that witnessed the game at Walla Walla the Fourth numbered but a couple of hundred and about the same number were out for Sunday's game. As a result the team received but a paltry $50 for its share of the receipts instead of the anticipated amount.

The reason for the team's bad luck was because the games were pulled off at the Whitman grounds instead of at the Meador park or at the race track grounds where the people were gathered.

Had the games been played at the usual place the team would have been given its share of the receipts from a big crowd. But this would have reduced the amount for the Walla Wallans and with their usual "big mitt" tactics they transferred the games to the Whitman grounds.

After the game Saturday George O'Connor, who had charge of the affair for Walla Walla, is said to have promised to hold the Sunday game at Meador park, but the promise was not kept. Consequently the team came home with $50 and "bunked" feelings.

What makes the local manager's grief so keen is the fact that he changed the schedule to go to Walla Walla in order to accommodate the Garden City men. Had the team gone to Baker as at first arranged the team would now be several hundred dollars to the good, for Baker City had a celebration too and they handed out no such packages as they delivered to Manager Tatom at Walla Walla.

The local team is now about $500 in debt and three men, Dean Tatom, manager, Charles Bond and R. W. Henneman, have signed a note to secure the amount. In order to come forth even they will have to realize this amount from the series which is to be played here commencing Thursday. Walla Walla will be there then for a return series.

The Swine and the Flower

Oh me! I saw a huge and loathsome sty, Wherein a drove of wallowing swine were barred,
Whose banquet shocked the nostril and the eye;
Then spoke a voice, "Behold the source of lard!"
I fled, and saw a field that seemed at first One glistening mass of roses pure and white,
With dewy buds 'mid dark green foliage nursed;
And, as I lingered o'er the lovely sight, The summer breeze, that cooled that Southern scene,
Whispered, "Behold the source of COTTOLENE!"

Who Pays the Bills?

Did you ever ask yourself who really pays the advertising bills?

The advertiser pays them. By this we mean who actually foots the bills for publicity of business firms and others who purchase space in the newspapers?

Your first impulse, of course, is to reply that the advertiser pays them. But this is not the case. The advertiser incurs no real expense in the matter, for the cost of his advertisement is, as a rule, returned to him in largely increased profits.

Then who does pay the bills?

The purchaser? No; certainly not. The purchaser profits by the advertising, for he buys cheaper and gets a fresher and better assortment of goods.

Who, then, pays the merchant's advertising bills?

Why, the merchant who does not seek newspaper publicity. The man who draws himself into his shell, like the snail, and declines all inducements to advertise. The non-advertiser foots the advertiser's bills, as a large proportion of the money he loses through his lack of nerve and enterprise finds its way, directly or indirectly, into the pockets of his more business-like competitor.

The snail-like merchant "pays the freight" in another way, for his stock depreciates and eventually hangs like lead on his hands until disaster stares him in the face.

These are days when all men who would succeed must advertise, and those who do not are almost certain to fall by the wayside.—Fourth Estate.
